Creative Thinking C J Hollins, 2012-01-28 What would Cézanne Monet Picasso Kandinsky and the other founders of modern art think of Damien Hirst's shark in formaldehyde or Tracey Emin's unmade bed Has modern art moved on since the breakthroughs of these early pioneers or are we going round in circles Has modern art merely become a carnival of the shocking grotesque and ridiculous because modern artists have failed to comprehend what Modernism emerged to explore Have modern artists become so intoxicated by the need for notoriety and celebrity status that they are no longer interested in the quest for a genuine art experience In this collection of essays written between 1968 and 2010 C J Hollins reveals his thoughts on these questions in an unflinching attempt to open our eyes to the enigma of modern art From early cave paintings and traditional masterpieces Hollins explores the development of art ending at the current crisis point of our times More importantly he offers concrete theories of what the modern artist should be striving to achieve to move us closer to a new way of perceiving the world

Framing Consciousness in Art Gregory Minissale, 2009

Framing Consciousness in Art examines how the conscious mind enacts and processes the frame that both surrounds the work of art yet is also shown as an element inside its space These frames in frames may be seen in works by Teniers Velázquez Vermeer Degas Rodin and Cartier Bresson and in the films of Alfred Hitchcock and Buñuel The book also deals with framing in a variety of cultural contexts Indian Chinese and African going beyond Euro American formalist and aesthetic concerns which dominate critical theories of the frame The Art of Understanding Art Irina D. Costache,2012-04-24

Perspective Transformation Alexis Kokkos,2021-05-12 We live in a socio cultural reality which is dominated by an entrepreneurial and instrumental rationality as well as by a discriminative and populist mentality Questioning the validity of taken for granted sovereign perspectives is thus of vital importance Our contact with art can serve as a pathway through which we might be empowered to identify false life values and develop the disposition and ability to challenge them The learning potential of aesthetic experience is however barely exploited within educational systems In addition although major scholars have contributed to a deeper understanding of the liberating dimension of processing important artworks there has been surprisingly little discussion in the relevant literature focusing on educational practice Exploring Art for Perspective Transformation provides a comprehensive analysis and synthesis of theoretical views pertaining to the emancipatory process of exploring art Moreover it presents the educational method Transformative Learning through Aesthetic Experience TLAE with reference to particular examples of implementation TLAE is addressed to adult educators and school teachers regardless of the subject they teach and their theoretical background on aesthetics It involves engaging learners in exploring works from fine arts literature theatre cinema and music with a view to promoting critical reflection on one's potentially problematic perspectives The Double Content Of Art John Dilworth,2004-12 In this original work on aesthetics philosopher John Dilworth offers an unusual theory of the nature of artworks The Double Content DC view is the first comprehensive theory of art that is able to satisfactorily explain the nature of all kinds of artworks in a unified way whether paintings novels or musical and theatrical performances Dilworth's basic thesis is that all such representational artworks involve two levels or kinds of representation a first stage in which a concrete artifact represents an artwork and a second stage in which that artwork in turn represents its subject matter Thus Dilworth describes his approach as a double content DC theory since arguably all content is the content of some representation or other This fresh even revolutionary approach to art meets strong initial opposition from other current theories of art for example those that treat paintings as physical objects or novels and other works of fiction as types that have copies or performances as instances Performance and Spectatorship in Edwardian Art Writing Sophie Hatchwell, 2019-05-16 This book explores how Edwardian art writing shaped and narrated embodied performative forms of aesthetic spectatorship It argues that we need to expand the range of texts we think of as art writing and features a diverse array of critical and fictional works often including texts that are otherwise absent from art historical study Multi disciplinary in scope this book proposes a methodology for analyzing the aesthetic encounter within and through art writing adapting and reworking a form of phenomenological semiotic analysis found conventionally in performance studies It focuses on moments where theories of spectatorship meet practice moving between the varied spaces of Edwardian art viewing from the critical text to the lecture hall the West End theatre and gallery middle class home and fictional novel It contributes to a rethinking of Edwardian culture by exploring the intriguing heterogeneity and self consciousness of viewing practices in a period more commonly associated with the emergence of formalism

Spirited Encounters Karen Coody Cooper, 2008 During the twentieth century American Indians across North America organized protests against traditional museum treatment of Native materials and the Native community In response museums began to change their methods Spirited Encounters provides a foundation for understanding museums examines how museums collect Native materials and explores protest as a fully American process of addressing grievances Now that museums and American Indians are working together in the processes of repatriation this book can help each side understand the other more fully
