The Span of Mainstream and Science Fiction Peter Brigg, 2015-09-16 From the 1960s when the advent of what many call the postmodern style made establishing genres more difficult to the present day writers have been incorporating science not only the commonly thought of science and technology but also the soft sciences such as psychology and sociology into what was previously considered mainstream fiction This book examines works by Thomas Pynchon Doris Lessing and others who incorporate science in fiction and exemplify the movement of mainstream fiction writers toward a new genre termed span It also examines works by some science fiction writers who are edging closer to the border of science fiction and slowly over into span This book maps the boundaries of the new span genre of fiction and thus helps define texts that fall outside the realms of mainstream and science fiction Diagrams are included and a bibliography and index Identity in Doris Lessing's Space Fiction David F. Waterman, 2006 In this study of identity in Doris Lessing's space fiction David Waterman devotes a chapter to each of the five novels in the Canopus in Argos Archives series as well as Briefing for a Descent into Hell Memoirs of a Survivor and finally The Reason for It This is an important addition to understanding the works of this prolific author His major argument is that Lessing's space fiction identifies the universal problem society's division into competitive and predatory groups and places it outside the bounds of time and space encouraging a social critique which takes into account our inherited blindness our degenerative disease which must be addressed before genuine progress can be made Lessing's examination of the relationship between individual identity and group identity produces a productive tension that accounts for so much of interest in her work over many years Nowhere is that tension more obvious or more interesting than in the space fiction that David Waterman so ably explores Waterman writes convincingly of Lessing's desire to cut through the performance the received ideas the habits and customs of our daily lives Drawing on a wide range of sources he provides an interdisciplinary reading of the space fiction and maps Lessing's brave exploration of the hierarchical landscapes that so often imprison us Waterman offers a timely reading of Lessing for contemporary readers living in the landscape of globalization Professor Margaret Moan Rowe Purdue University The Rose and the Lotus Yousef Daoud, 2009-10-31 The Rose and the Lotus is a compendium of explorations of two of the world's largest wisdom traditions Sufism and Buddhism and what the practitioners of these two approaches have in common and may have to learn from each other It includes chapters on important teaching texts ancient and modern and the clues they give for practice interviews with esteemed teachers such as Shaikh Kabir Helminski Roshi Bernie Glassman Tibetan philosopher Geshe Sonam Rinchen as well as memories and reflections on teachers such as Javad Nurbakhsh Idries Shah and Inayat Khan It includes a new look at the mystic works of Nobel Prize winner Doris Lessing and their usefulness in contemplation practice Yousef Daoud PhD also published as Joe Martin has been a practitioner of both Sufism and Buddhism The author of eight books he teaches meditation as well as spiritual performance practice Though Sufism and Buddhism have long been treated as religious manifestations in this fascinating book Yousef Daoud Joe Martin places them squarely among the great wisdom traditions and explores a wide variety of topics relating to both Sufism and Buddhism One of the most prolific authors for the journal SUFI he has done a real service for anyone concerned with spirituality and gnosis Professor Jeffrey Rothschild C U N Y Editor SUFI On Rumi's MATHNAVI A Stage Adaptation Absolutely remarkable and memorable It was as if I had gone to a party and had been offered an entire pot of gourmet food but with every new bite I felt even hungrier It was endowed with a complex simplicity or a simple complexity It was all very inspiring and enlightening It felt as if the actors analyzed Rumi's stories lifting the veils one after another Lida Saeedian Author and co translator of The Pocket Rumi On Parabola Shorter Fictions through the tightly structured geometry of this metaphorically rich work is recognition of the search we undertake to fix a place for ourselves and try to make sense of a confusing alienating and often combative world Cheryl Pallant High Performance

C.G.Jung and Literary Theory S. Rowland, 1999-04-26 C G Jung and Literary Theory remedies a significant omission in literary studies by doing for Jung and poststructuralist literary theories what has been achieved for Freud and Lacan Offering radically new Jungian theories of deconstruction feminism the body sexuality spirituality postcolonialism reader response the book also investigates the controversial occult and fascist heritage of Jung By using the work of Derrida Kristeva and Irigaray and examining Jungian fiction this book transforms modern literary theory in ways which simultaneously critique Jung s work

Politics, Persuasion, and Pragmatism Ellen Susan Peel, 2002 An addition to the Theory and Interpretation of Narrative series Peel s book addresses how feminist utopian narratives attempt to persuade readers to adopt certain beliefs Using three feminist utopian novels as her main examples The Marriages between Zones Three Four and Five by Doris Lessing The Left Hand of Darkness by Ursula K Le Guin and Les Gu rill res by Monique Wittig Peel examines how belief bridging and protean metaphor in these works persuade readers Literary persuasion often dismissed as propaganda in fact works in subtle and profound ways The book presents major techniques by which narrative literature exercises this sophisticated influence on beliefs Ultimately concluding that the pragmatic works better than the static in utopian feminism Peel shows how in novels such as those under discussion the narrative techniques support pragmatism Inquiring how narrative form can shape political belief by affecting readers responses the author integrates topics that are rarely combined The book investigates three theoretical issues utopian belief distinguishing the perfectionism of the static from the vitality of the pragmatic and showing how the latter creates narrative energy the persuasive process tracing narrative form and asking how implied readers match real ones and how readers are swayed by belief bridging and protean metaphor and feminist belief a nuanced definition that accounts both for what links feminists and what makes them diverse Politics Persuasion and Pragmatism explores the rhetorical and ethical power of narrative literature
