A Marxist Critique of Latin American Colonial Studies Malcolm K. Read, 2019-01-21 During the mid 1980s Latin American colonial studies came to be dominated by the various post movements post structuralism post modernism post Marxism characterized by their promotion of discursivity as the ultimate horizon of sociality This volume confronts discourse theory and examples of its colonial application with an alternative Althusserian problematic that foregrounds modes of production and class struggle to which

end it further promotes a view of colonial societies as split not along a horizontal geographic axis that offsets the New World against Europe but vertically through the opposition between dominant tributary feudal formations and their emergent capitalist equivalent Its fundamental claim is that the radical sounding rhetoric of the various post movements far from energizing the politics of resistance to the forces of imperialism actually greases the mechanisms of finance capital

Reading Orientalism Daniel Martin Varisco, 2011-07-01 The late Edward Said remains one of the most influential critics and public intellectuals of our time with lasting contributions to many disciplines Much of his reputation derives from the phenomenal multidisciplinary influence of his 1978 book Orientalism Said's seminal polemic analyzes novels travelogues and academic texts to argue that a dominant discourse of West over East has warped virtually all past European and American representation of the Near East But despite the book's wide acclaim no systematic critical survey of the rhetoric in Said's representation of Orientalism and the resulting impact on intellectual culture has appeared until today Drawing on the extensive discussion of Said's work in more than 600 bibliographic entries Daniel Martin Varisco has written an ambitious intellectual history of the debates that Said's work has sparked in several disciplines highlighting in particular its reception among Arab and European scholars While pointing out Said's tendency to essentialize and privilege certain texts at the expense of those that do not comfortably fit his theoretical framework Varisco analyzes the extensive commentary the book has engendered in Oriental studies literary and cultural studies feminist scholarship history political science and anthropology He employs critical satire to parody the exaggerated and pedantic aspects of post colonial discourse including Said's profound underappreciation of the role of irony and reform in many of the texts he cites The end result is a companion volume to Orientalism and the vast research it inspired Rather than contribute to dueling essentialisms Varisco provides a path to move beyond the binary of East versus West and the polemics of blame Reading Orientalism is the most comprehensive survey of Said's writing and thinking to date It will be of strong interest to scholars of Middle East studies anthropology history cultural studies post colonial studies and literary studies

From Marx to Global Marxism Kerstin Knopf, Detlev Quintern, 2021-10-20 In our 21st century the works of Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels are still widely taught hotly debated and adapted to different political and sociological contexts and theories Today the spectre of communism haunts not only Europe as assumed by the authors of the Manifesto of the Communist Party in 1848 but the world as a whole After Marxism achieved statehood on the ruins of the Tsarist Empire as the consequence of the Russian Revolution in October 1917 revolutionary independence movements in Asia Africa and the Americas introduced new and varied readings of the socialist classics in the 20th century This collection of articles by contributors from across the globe discusses Marxism based on Marx's and Engels's ideas and uvre from transnational perspectives that connect Germany and Europe for example with Brazil Canada Egypt Ghana India Iran Israel Palestine Russia and Turkey With a critical postcolonial approach the pluriversal debates look at the heritage of Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels in the context of histories of resistance analytical thought theory building a latent Eurocentric outlook and the discursive monument Marxism      Edward Said's Rhetoric of the Secular Mathieu E. Courville, 2011-10-20 Edward Said's Rhetoric of the Secular provides an important new reading of Edward W. Said's work emphasizing not only the distinction but also the fuzzy borders between representations of the religious and the secular found within and throughout his oeuvre and at the core of some of his most customary rhetorical strategies. Mathieu Courville begins by examining Said's own reflections on his life before moving on to key debates about Said's work within Religious Studies and Middle Eastern Studies and his relationship to French critical theorists. Through close attention to Said's use of the literal and the figurative when dealing with religious, national, and cultural matters, Courville discerns a pattern that illuminates what Said means by secular. Said's work shows that the secular is not the utter opposite of religion in the modern globalized world but may exist in a productive tension with it.      Edward Said and the Question of Subjectivity Pannian Prasad, 2016-04-08 Edward Said and the Question of Subjectivity explores the notion of subjectivity implicated in and articulated by Said in his writings. Analyzing several of his major works, Pannian argues that there is a shift in Said's intellectual trajectory that takes place after the composition of Orientalism. In so doing, Said forthrightly attempts to retrieve a theoretical and political humanism as Pannian identifies, despite the difficult and sanguinary aspects of its past. He elaborates upon Said's understanding that only after recognising the structures of violence and coming to discern strategies of interpellation may the individual subject effectively resist them. Pannian also explores Said's ideas on exilic subjectivity, the role of intellectuals, acts of memory, critical secularism, affiliation, and solidarity before dwelling on his interface with Marxist thinkers such as Antonio Gramsci, Theodor Adorno, and Raymond Williams. This engagement marks Said's own subject formation and shapes his self-reflexive mode of knowledge production.      White Mythologies Robert Young, 2004 In 1990 Robert Young's White Mythologies set out to question the very concepts of history and the West. Is it possible, he asked, to write history that avoids the trap of Eurocentrism? Is history simply a Western myth? His reflections on these topics provided some of the most important new directions in postcolonial studies and continue to exert a huge influence on the field. This new edition reprints what has quickly become a classic text along with a substantial new essay reflecting on changes in the field and in the author's own position since publication. An essential read for all those working in postcolonial theory, literature, and history, this book cemented Young's reputation as one of the country's most influential scholars and, as a new preface by Homi Bhabha comments, made an original and invaluable intervention in the field, leading even the most established figures to rethink their own positions. Provoking further re-evaluation with the new introductory essay, this second edition will, like its predecessor, be a key text for every academic and student in the field.

The Search for Arab Democracy Larbi Sadiki, 2004 How to be a democrat and a Muslim at the same time is the subject of ongoing contests. This book maps out the variety of voices contesting Islam and democracy in the Arab world, insisting that neither category can be taken as unitary or fixed. In the Arab Middle East, the contest is over which, whose, and how much democracy takes place within an existing contest over which whose and how much Islam must be given pre eminence in the political and cultural sphere There is a Democracy and there are democracies There is an Islam and there are islams Larbi Sadiki deploys the conceptual tools of contemporary Western political philosophy and theory to articulate and defend some provocative theses The book challenges Eurocentric conceptions of democracy that all too frequently display a lack of concern for specificity and context analyzes and interrogates Orientalist and Occidental discourses on democracy and considers some of the justifications for democracy in the global arena giving space for self representation by women and Islamists among others Using interviews with Muslims from every social and economic stratum the book shows how Arabs themselves understand imagine and view democracy

Organizing Modernity Larry Ray, Michael Reed, 2002-11-01 This book provides a reassessment of the significance of Max Weber's work for the current debates about the institutional and organizational dynamics of modernity It re-evaluates Weber's sociology of bureaucracy and his general account of the trajectory of modernity with reference to the strategic social structures that dominated the emergence and development of modern society Included here are detailed analyses of contemporary issues such as the collapse of communism fordism corporatism and traditionalism in both Western and Eastern societies All of the contributors are scholars of international repute They undertake analyses of Weber's texts and his broader intellectual inheritance to reassert the centrality of Weberian sociology for our understanding of the moral political and organizational dilemmas of late modernity These analyses challenge orthodox readings of Weber as the prophet of the iron cage Instead they offer interpretations of his work which emphasize the reality of modernity as a dual process with the potential for both disarticulation of rational structures and deeper colonization of daily life Not only is this book essential reading for Weber specialists but it also provides compelling analyses of modernity and the inherently contingent nature of global cultural and structural transformation Martin Albrow Roehampton Institute Stewart Clegg University of Western Sydney David Chalcraft Oxford Brookes University John Eldridge Glasgow University Larry J

The Sociology of Islam Bryan S. Turner, Kamaludeen Mohamed Nasir, 2016-03-03 Taking a thematic approach Bryan S Turner draws together his writings which explore the relationship between Islam and the ideas of Western social thinkers Turner engages with the broad categories of capitalism orientalism modernity gender and citizenship among others as he examines how Muslims adapt to changing times and how Islam has come to be managed by those in power

Probings and Re-Probings Sankar Ray, Shaibal Gupta, 2021-11-01 Controversy was the breath of Marx's life and he revelled in it We are therefore not at all apologetic wrote Puran Chand Joshi in the preface to Karl Marx A Symposium published in 1968 commemorating the 150th birth anniversary of Marx adding further It is in the best Indian tradition to operate with belief and hope that it is only through the clash of ideas that truth emerges At a time when a Marxian renaissance has been taking place in academia Joshi's words reverberate with a new vitality an evanescence of official Marxism and official Marxist parties notwithstanding There is no denying that the so called Marxists now pay dearly for wavering between a rather mechanistic interpretation of crisis and its opposite the conviction that capitalism could only be overcome by an act of will This book is the outcome of an international conference on Karl Marx organised by ADRI in Patna between June 16 and 20 2018 keeping the new Marxian reality in mind Over 50 scholars from across the world sent papers to the Conference covering topics such as economics politics society philosophy etc ADRI welcomed them with an open mind in sync with the Marxian reawakening that treats Marx historically and critically Please note Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India Pakistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka Reorientalism Nariman Skakov, 2025-10-28 It is commonly believed that Stalinism ended a vibrant period in Soviet avant garde art and literature The triumph of socialist realism in this view curtailed experimentation with aesthetic form and replaced it with a call for clarity accessibility and ideological conformity But Stalin's formula national in form socialist in content gave artists an opening for officially sanctioned formal innovation as long as it drew on the national cultures of the Soviet Union Nariman Skakov offers a new way to understand Soviet modernism showing how writers and artists looked to the East to renew avant garde experimentalism under Stalin He traces how figures such as Victor Shklovsky Aleksandr Rodchenko Varvara Stepanova Dziga Vertov and Sergei Eisenstein responded to the Soviet state's ideological demands by engaging with the traditions of the new socialist republics in Central Asia The concept of national form gave these artists a sanctuary for aesthetic innovation yet this experimentation relied on exoticization of the strangeness of the Soviet East and a fascination with ethnic others Recasting Soviet aesthetics from the vantage point of Central Asia Skakov rethinks orientalism and its relationship to socialism Challenging conventional narratives of the fate of the Soviet avant garde Reorientalism provides a deeply original decentering of modernism Manufacturing Religion Russell T. McCutcheon, 1997 This book offers a powerful critique of traditional religion scholarship and particularly the oft repeated bromide that religion is a sui generis phenomenon

Frantz Fanon and the Future of Cultural Politics Anthony C. Alessandrini, 2014-07-01 This book focuses on a reading of Frantz Fanon's work and life asking how the work of a revolutionary writer such as Fanon might be best appropriated for contemporary political and cultural issues Separate chapters introduce Fanon's life and examine the question of Fanon as our contemporary review the field of Fanon studies that has grown up around his work bring Fanon into conversation with the critical contemporary figures Edward Said Michel Foucault Jamaica Kincaid and Paul Gilroy and turn to Fanon's work to think through the contemporary popular uprisings that have come to be known as the Arab Spring The book concludes by arguing that a reevaluation of Fanon's life and work can provide us with a particular set of lessons about solidarity lessons that are crucial for the contemporary political struggles that face us today and that will continue to confront us in the future Finding Something Different Frantz Fanon and the Future of Cultural Politics is inspired by Fanon's unsparing struggle against the depredations of racism and colonialism and his lifelong commitment to finding something different

Postcolonialism Robert J. C. Young, 2016-10-12 This seminal work now available in a 15th anniversary edition with a new preface is a thorough introduction to the historical and theoretical origins of postcolonial theory Provides a clearly written and wide ranging account of postcolonialism empire imperialism and colonialism written by one of the leading scholars on the topic Details the history of anti colonial movements and their leaders around the world from Europe and Latin America to Africa and Asia Analyzes the ways in which freedom struggles contributed to postcolonial discourse by producing fundamental ideas about the relationship between non western and western societies and cultures Offers an engaging yet accessible style that will appeal to scholars as well as introductory students

Family, Power, and Politics in Egypt Robert Springborg, 2016-11-11 Focusing on the family and career of the prominent Egyptian politician Sayed Bey Marei Robert Springborg provides in this volume a political ethnography on the changing roles of the family and other social units in Egypt's political economy He traces the rise to power of the rural nobility from the late nineteenth century demonstrating how members of this class used family regional patron client and small group loyalties to maintain and enhance their powers and privileges under the regimes of Nasser and Sadat In this context the author also investigates the complexities between provincial and national politics and between the bureaucratic technocratic elite and the political elite of the country Sayed Marei's career provides the ideal focus for Springborg's ethnography From a wealthy rural family that habitually sent at least one of its members to parliament he began his political career in 1944-45 inheriting his family's seat in the Chamber of Deputies In 1952 he emerged as the new revolutionary government's director of agrarian reform and became thereafter a fixture in the Nasserite political elite Under Sadat to whom he was related by marriage Marei enjoyed even greater prominence He served as cabinet minister head of the Arab Socialist Union speaker of parliament diplomat extraordinaire special adviser to the president and secretary general of the much publicized World Food Conference With a political career spanning five generations and three regimes Sayed Marei built a significant reputation for himself in the Arab World Rather than imposing objective categories upon political behavior Springborg instead delves into the subjective reality of Egyptian political life He explains how politicians pursue their goals and what associations they form and use how they themselves perceive politics to operate and then why they behave as they do This work is the first to explicitly utilize the family as a basic conceptual tool to understand a Middle Eastern political system and thus will be of great value to those interested in the history politics anthropology and sociology of the region and more generally the Third World

Asianism and the Politics of Regional Consciousness in Singapore Leong Yew, 2013-11-20 Over the last two decades Singapore has undergone a substantial degree of Asianization Apart from participating in the Asian values debate of the 1990s re-visioning itself as New Asia and a global Asian hub and establishing Asian identities for the commodities it consumes and produces Singapore has also repurposed its modernity cultures and ethos along similar regionalist precepts However even in recent times Singapore continues to vacillate ambivalently between identifying with and differentiating itself from Asia Responding to the challenges Singapore faces in coming to terms with its Asian identity this book examines the complex cultural social and political underpinnings that have shaped Singapore's mainstream discourse on Asia. Indeed, it argues that its legacy as a colonial port city, the exigencies of managing the post-independence nation state, and the larger forces of imperialism and capitalism all contribute to its politics of Asianism. Taking a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach that spans history, cultural studies, postcolonialism, and cultural geography, Leong Yew reveals how Asia has been used to narrate Singapore's beginnings, revalidate Singaporean ethnic culture, and to consolidate its practices of consumption and commodification. This book will be welcomed by students and scholars working across a range of fields including Asian culture and society, Asian politics, cultural theory, and postcolonial studies.
