Realising Democracy Legitimacy In Sout:

Understanding Ubuntu for Enhancing Intercultural Communications Mukuni, Joseph, Tlou, Josiah, 2021-05-28

Given the importance of cross cultural competence it is important that scholars from different parts of the world describe the conceptual frameworks underlying their cultures to provide people with knowledge helpful for understanding and navigating cultural barriers and promoting harmony and productivity in places of work. The literature is replete with reference points for understanding Eurocentric worldviews. Little has been written about non Eurocentric worldviews with respect to the subject of socio cultural harmony and interpersonal relations such as Ubuntu. Africa's indigenous philosophy and its relevancy. This philosophy teaches the importance of maintaining good human relations and sensitivity to the wellbeing of other people both as individuals and collectively. In the teachings of this African conceptual framework the wellbeing of others is more important than that of self. Another important distinguishing feature of Ubuntu is that it places great value on communalism as opposed to individualism. The tenets of Ubuntu include human centeredness, teamwork, collaboration, cooperation, respect for diversity of opinion and joint consideration of problems. These tenets can be applied for intercultural competence and communications. Understanding Ubuntu for Enhancing Intercultural Communications sheds some light on Ubuntu. Africa's unique philosophy and explores how the knowledge of Ubuntu can help minimize cross cultural communication barriers. Within this context the chapters work to make readers aware of the existence of an African worldview specifically Ubuntu and its possible contribution to interpersonal communication. This book also shares the lived experiences of being born and raised in sub Saharan Africa where Ubuntu is a way of life. This book is essential for businesses seeking to expand internationally and managers overseeing diverse workforces as well as business executives, government officials, public relations officers, academicians, researchers and students including those studying African studies, world religions, international business, international relations, management, communication and more.

The Botswana Defense Force in the Struggle for an African Environment D. Henk, 2007-12-25. The book describes how Botswana's leaders effectively employed the instruments of power at their disposal, portraying a state that works. It argues that Africans are contributing meaningfully to emerging global thinking on security and urges Africa's friends to take advantage of opportunities for productive partnerships over environmental issues.

Fault-lines in South African Democracy Fred Hendricks, 2003. The transition from apartheid to democracy in South Africa has raised questions on the one hand about the tension between the imperatives of justice and equality and on the other reconciliation. Transforming the decades old apartheid system under conditions of a political compromise has turned out to be a formidable challenge. This paper is about the complexity of the transformation process going on in South Africa. Although too early for a real assessment of the experiment, the tensions, dilemmas, contradictions, paradoxes and some of the changes have already begun to manifest themselves. The paper shows how political deals affect the administration of justice and how they impinge upon the nature of democracy often by frustrating efforts to realise social goals in the post authoritarian phase It also raises the fundamental question of the broader necessities for the long term survival of democracy in South Africa

Political Cultures in Democratic South Africa M. Neocosmos, Raymond Suttner, Ian Taylor, 2002 The contributions to this Discussion Paper reflect upon different but related aspects of South African democracy after Apartheid as represented in a variety of social forces institutions and individuals They illustrate that societies in transition have to make sustained efforts to overcome the legacies of the past and that the present reproduces some of the past structural constraints and patterns of power and control in the new framework The contributions were originally presented to a workshop organized in Cape Town in December 2001

Realising Democracy and Legitimacy in Southern Africa Kenneth Good, 2004 This new volume focuses on changing social structure and forces such as new working classes civil societies and ruling and competing elites in the three liberal democracies of Botswana Namibia and South Africa It concentrates in particular on those institutions which favour or oppose the achievement of accountable open and ethical government The book seeks to interpret the important distinctions that exist between Botswana and its neighbours The author argues that even though the south is the most democratic region in Africa this does not obscure the severe limitations of the liberal model and the need to establish other and broader definitions of democracy Book Jacket

Realizing Democracy in Botswana, Namibia and South Africa Kenneth Good, 1997 Analyses political development in three democracies in Africa and relates it to economic growth and economic liberalism

Development in Post-Apartheid South Africa Hlengiwe Mabizela, Nirmala Dorasamy, 2025-09-30 This book seeks to provide an in depth analysis of the political governance and socio economic landscape of South Africa in the aftermath of apartheid It examines the complexities and dynamics that have influenced and shaped the development of the country since 1994 identifying the enduring issues and challenges along with the opportunities present for building a sustainable and inclusive South Africa in the future The book aims to enhance comprehension of how South Africa can traverse its distinctive development trajectory by examining the wider political context governance structures and policy measures The objective is to analyse the impact of the political and governance structures instituted in the post apartheid era on the country s developmental path This encompasses the transformation of public administration and the influence of political dynamics and governance in determining the trajectory of the country s future In this effort the book not only explores significant accomplishments since 1994 but also engages in a critical examination of the limitations governmental shortcomings and challenges that persistently obstruct the progress of the country Furthermore it presents insights and recommendations aimed at enhancing governance enacting policy reforms and devising strategies to foster sustainable development

Conflictual Democracy and the South African Constitution Henk Botha, 2025-04-02 Human dignity equality and freedom are central to the South African Constitution This book examines these values through a conflictual democratic lens which views conflict power and disagreement as constitutive of democracy The book explores the capacity of value based constitutional interpretation to create openings for democratic dialogue and emancipatory social struggles Conversely it also assesses the ability of constitutional interpretation to normalise and depoliticise domination inequality and exclusion The book uses a conflictual frame to shed light on the interplay between the universality of dignity equality and freedom and the particularity of the discourses and conventions that mediate their interpretation and enforcement It argues that such a frame could enable realistic assessments of the ability of the constitutional order to safeguard spaces for emancipatory struggles and respond to radical demands for the reconstitution of society Drawing on the text of the Constitution case law academic commentary and constitutional political and critical legal theory this book will be an important read for researchers of constitutional law and critical legal theory both within South Africa and beyond Henk Botha is a Professor in the Faculty of Law Stellenbosch University South Africa

Growing up Indigenous: Developing Effective Pedagogy for Education and Development R.M. Nichol, 2011-07-23 This is a fascinating account of traditional socialisation and Indigenous forms of learning in Australia and Melanesia It draws from rich ethnographic historical and educational material There has never been a greater need for a socially and historically informed yet critical account of the mismatch between traditional ways realities of life in Indigenous communities villages and enclaves and the forms of education provided in schools Raymond Nichol a specialist in Indigenous education and pedagogy surveys the links too often disparities between ethnographic detail of life on the ground and the schooling provided by nation states in this vast region Most importantly he explores and suggests ways community developers and educators Indigenous and non Indigenous may work to bridge the gaps in social rights educational and economic development This is relevant for all Indigenous communities their survival and development Many vexed issues are discussed such as race ethnicity identity discrimination self determination development and relevant effective pedagogical learning and schooling strategies

South African Foreign Policy Review: Volume 2 Masters, Lesley, Zondi, Siphamandla, 2015-07-13 The first two decades of South Africa's democracy have seen a growing breadth and depth in the analysis of South Africa's foreign policy This second volume of the South African Foreign Policy Review considers the continuity and change in South Africa's foreign policy over the course of two decades with a particular focus on the more recent approach under the Zuma administration This includes a closer look at the principles practices and partnerships that shape South Africa's international relations and is aimed at supporting knowledge for reflection on South Africa's conduct internationally and for anticipating ways in which the country may approach international relations and foreign policy going forward It discusses the foreign policy making and the nature of South Africa's diplomatic relations with Africa Asia the Middle East and North Africa Latin America Europe and North America as well as the country's participation in multilateral diplomacy in Africa the global South and at the United Nations UN to expand the discussion and deepen the debate on the future shape and direction of South Africa's foreign policy

Immediate and Progressive Realisation in International Human Rights Law Tobias Wirthle, 2025-02-20 This book makes a new and original contribution to the old debate about differences between socio economic and civil and political rights which has engaged human rights discourse over several decades Although scholars and practitioners now agree that these categories are more alike than originally assumed they continue to delineate them based on the alleged difference between immediate and progressive realisation The book asks whether this differentiation is still valid by exploring the historical and theoretical background the text of relevant UN human rights treaties and the practice of the UN human rights committees By so doing it shows that the standards of realisation converge more than diverge and that this last remaining distinction should be abandoned Human rights lawyers advocates practitioners and policy makers will find this book invaluable as it brings much needed clarification to this key question Regime Change and Succession Politics in Africa Maurice Nyamanga Amutabi, Shadrack Wanjala Nasong'o, 2013 Bringing together scholars from a wide array of disciplines including anthropology economics history sociology and political science this volume addresses the problems of the regime change and state failure in Africa in the context of the global economy but from a specifically African perspective arguing that the underdevelopment of the African economy is linked to the underdevelopment of the continents nation states Destroying Democracy Jane Duncan, Linda Gordon, Gunnett Kaaf, Dale T McKinley, Alf Gunvald Nilsen, Devan Pillay, Mandla J Radebe, Alfredo Saad-Filho, Ingar Solty, 2021-08-01 A history of the erosion of democracy across the globe Democracy is being destroyed This is a crisis that expresses itself in the rising authoritarianism visible in divisive and exclusionary politics populist political parties and movements increased distrust in fact based information and news and the withering accountability of state institutions Over the last four decades democracy has radically shifted to a market democracy in which all aspects of human non human and planetary life are commodified with corporations becoming more powerful than states and their citizens This is how neoliberal capitalism functions at a systemic level and if left unchecked is the greatest threat to democracy and a sustainable planet Volume six of the Democratic Marxism series focuses on how decades of neoliberal capitalism have eroded the global democratic project and how in the process authoritarian politics are gaining ground Scholars and activists from the political left focus on four country cases India Brazil South Africa and the United States of America in which the COVID 19 pandemic has fuelled and highlighted the pre existing crisis They interrogate issues of politics ecology state security media access to information and political parties and affirm the need to reclaim and re build an expansive and inclusive democracy Destroying Democracy is an invaluable resource for the general public activists scholars and students who are interested in understanding the threats to democracy and the rising tide of authoritarianism in the global south and the global north The Political Economy of Economic Growth in Africa, 1960-2000 B. J. Ndulu, 2008 Volume 2 of an analysis of the economic development of Sub Saharan Africa 1960 2000 South Africa Yearbook , 2006 Contemporary South Africa Anthony Butler, 2017-09-09 This highly regarded text provides a wide ranging introduction to the social political cultural and economic life of South Africa Thoroughly revised and updated the third edition takes account of recent key developments including the impact of the economic crisis the ongoing HIV AIDS epidemic and increasing tensions within South Africa's politics and government

The Future of Economic and Social Rights Katharine G. Young, 2019-04-11 Captures significant transformations in the theory and practice of economic and social rights in constitutional and human rights law The Road to Democracy in South Africa South African Democracy Education Trust, 2024-12-02 This book examines the contributions made by the governments, organisations and African people on the ground throughout the continent towards the realisation of the South African dream in 1994. The chapters provide detailed insight into the roots of the continent's liberation from colonialism. The subject matter in this book also discusses the anti-apartheid struggle, Caribbean solidarity with the South African struggle, Botswana's role in South African liberation, Black internationalism, the involvement of the ANC. Print editions not for sale in Sub-Saharan Africa. This book is part of Routledge's co-published series 30 Years of Democracy in South Africa in collaboration with UNISA Press, which reflects on the past years of a democratic South Africa and assesses the future opportunities and challenges.

Foreign Policy Posture in Post-Apartheid South Africa Bhikithemba R. Mngomezulu, 2019-11-11 Foreign policy and domestic policy feed into each other. To a large degree, the latter informs the former. This book demonstrates the relationship between the two, paying particularly close attention to how South Africa envisioned its foreign policy during the negotiation process. Importantly, it spells out how South Africa's foreign policy has evolved since the early 1990s. The critics of South Africa's foreign policy often question the motives behind the country's involvement in African and global affairs. The contributions here demonstrate the complex nature of foreign policy, making approaching the subject both from a broad theoretical perspective and specifically through empirical case studies. The book will appeal to political scientists, historians, policy practitioners, international relations specialists and government officials and their advisors, as well as international relations theorists.

Elections in Africa Dieter Nohlen, Michael Krennerich, Bernard Thibaut, 1999-07-22 Elections have always been an integral part of post-independence African politics and have assumed utmost importance in the course of recent democratisation processes. However, comparative research on the political development in Africa lacks reliable electoral data. Elections in Africa fills this gap. The handbook is the only reliable source for African elections from independence to the present. In the first volume of this series, Elections in Africa presents a country-by-country study of African nations that provides a comparative introduction on elections and electoral systems. Each country chapter examines the history of the institutional and electoral arrangements, the evolution of suffrage and current electoral provisions. Precise and exhaustive data on national elections and referendums are presented comparatively. The book provides a definitive and comprehensive set of data on elections and electoral systems in order to facilitate comparative research. Data is presented in a systematic manner, allowing for both historical and cross-national comparisons.
