Realism In The Novels Of The Harlem Renaissance:

Realism in the Novels of the Harlem Renaissance Theodore O. Francis, 2002 The novelists of the Harlem Renaissance began writing at a point in America's literary history when the romantic tradition was being set aside for the gutsy truth telling of realist literature Modern criticism seems to take the flowery nineteenth century prose found in the works of Chesnutt Dunbar Du Bois and others as an indication that they were writing in the romantic style This is understandable but flawed Almost all of the stories written during the Renaissance contained references to slavery or to Post Reconstructionist violence For that reason few stories stemming from this period and written by African Americans can be said to be romantic

A History of the Modernist Novel Gregory Castle, 2015-06-25 A History of the Modernist Novel reassesses the modernist canon and produces a wealth of new comparative analyses that radically revise the novel's history It also considers the novel's global reach while suggesting that the epoch of modernism is not yet finished Rethinking Social Realism Stacy I.

Morgan, 2004 The social realist movement with its focus on proletarian themes and its strong ties to New Deal programs and leftist politics has long been considered a depression era phenomenon that ended with the start of World War II This study explores how and why African American writers and visual artists sustained an engagement with the themes and aesthetics of social realism into the early cold war era far longer than a majority of their white counterparts Stacy I Morgan recalls the social realist atmosphere in which certain African American artists and writers were immersed and shows how black social realism served alternately to question the existing order instill race pride and build interracial working class coalitions

Morgan discusses among others such figures as Charles White John Wilson Frank Marshall Davis Willard Motley Langston Hughes Sterling Brown Elizabeth Catlett and Hale Woodruff Key Concepts in Modernist Literature Julian Hanna, Martin Coyle, 2008-11-24 Introducing the dynamic study of a literary period stretching from 1900 to the Second World War the book reflects the exciting mix of European avant garde writers of the Harlem Renaissance and regional voices within Britain Three distinct sections explore the major concepts themes and issues that characterise the literature Realism and the

American Dramatic Tradition William W. Demastes, 1996-08-30 This book reconsiders realism on the American stage by addressing the great variety and richness of the plays that form the American theatre canon Romance, Diaspora, and

Black Atlantic Literature Yogita Goyal, 2010-04-22 Romance Diaspora and Black Atlantic Literature offers a rich interdisciplinary treatment of modern black literature and cultural history showing how debates over Africa in the works of major black writers generated productive models for imagining political agency Yogita Goyal analyzes the tensions between romance and realism in the literature of the African diaspora examining a remarkably diverse group of twentieth century authors including W E B Du Bois Chinua Achebe Richard Wright Ama Ata Aidoo and Caryl Phillips Shifting the center of black diaspora studies by considering Africa as constitutive of black modernity rather than its forgotten past Goyal argues that it is through the figure of romance that the possibility of diaspora is imagined across time and space Drawing on literature political history and postcolonial theory this significant addition to the cross cultural study of literatures will be of interest to scholars of African American studies African studies and American literary studies

Maria Lauret, 2002-09-11 Liberating Literature is primarily a bold and revealing book about feminist writers readers and texts But it is also much more than that Within this volume Maria Lauret manages to look with fresh vision at the American Civil Rights movement of the 1960s socialist women's writing of the 1930s the emergence of the New Left and the second wave women's movement and its cultural practices Lauret's historicisation of feminist political writing allows for a new definition of the genre and enables her to illuminate the profound influence and importance of African American women's writing. Well grounded historically and theoretically, Liberating Literature speaks about and to a political and cultural tradition and offers stunning new readings of both familiar and neglected novels within the feminist canon. Reader and students of feminist fiction cannot afford to be without this major new work.

Encyclopedia of the American Novel Abby H. P. Werlock, 2015-04-22. Praise for the print edition: no other reference work on American fiction brings together such an array of authors and texts as this.

Literary Ambition and the African American Novel Michael Nowlin, 2019-11-07. This book shows how African American literature emerged as a world recognized literature less as the product of a seamless tradition of writers signifying upon their ancestors and more the product of three generations of ambitious, competitive individuals aiming to be the first great African American writer. It charts a canon of fictional landmarks beginning with The House Behind the Cedars and culminating in the National Book Award Winner Invisible Man and tells the compelling stories of the careers of key African American writers including Charles Chesnutt, James Weldon Johnson, Jean Toomer, Zora Neale Hurston, Richard Wright, and Ralph Ellison. These writers worked within the white dominated, commercial, Eurocentric literary field to put African American literature on the world literary map while struggling to transcend the cultural expectations attached to their position as Negro authors. Literary Ambition and the African American Novel tells as much about the novels that these writers could not publish as it does about their major achievements      Encyclopedia of American Literature
