Reality And Research Social Science And U S Urban Policy Since 196:

Resources in Education ,1995-12      The Social Impacts of Urban Containment Arthur C. Nelson,Casey J.

Dawkins,2016-02-24 One of the policies that has been most widely used to try to limit urban sprawl has been that of urban containment These policies are planning controls limiting the growth of cities in an attempt to preserve open rural uses such as habitat agriculture and forestry in urban regions While there has been a substantial amount of research into these urban containment policies most have focused on issues of land use consumption transportation impacts or economic development issues This book examines the effects of urban containment policies on key social issues such as housing wealth building and creation racial segregation and gentrification It argues that while the policies make important contributions to environmental sustainability they also affect affordability for all the economic groups of citizens aside from the most wealthy However it also puts forward suggestions for revising such policies to counter these possible negative social impacts As such it will be valuable reading for scholars of environmental planning social policy and regional development as well as for policy makers

Reality and Research George C. Galster, 1996 Confidence was at its highest in the 1960s that governments could solve many of the country's urban problems by commissioning social science studies and being guided by their findings Here 11 studies critically evaluate the three decades of such policy analysis in a wide range of urban policy arenas including community development transportation and land use education housing family support and social welfare drugs and racial discrimination They find mixed results in different areas sometimes the system worked wonderfully sometimes the studies were excellent but ignored and sometimes the studies were conducted merely to support policy adopted for other reasons No index Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR
