

Locke on Reasoning

- In demonstrative reasoning, each link in the inferential chain is “intuitively” certain.
  - “reasoning concerning relations of ideas” [Hume]
- In probable reasoning, some links in the inferential chain are merely probable.
  - “moral reasoning”, “reasoning concerning matter of fact” [Hume]: “factual inference” for short
- For Locke, both types of reasoning involve rational perception of the links (IV xvii 2).

Reasoning In Evaluation Inferential Links And Leaps:

Reasoning in Evaluation Deborah M. Fournier, 1995 Evaluators are in the business of reasoning their way toward legitimate conclusions that clients and other stakeholder groups can use In everyday practice evaluators collect and combine evidence to draw conclusions about something or someone Reasoning is the basis for what evaluators do and what they tell their clients to do But is the reasoning sound Evaluative conclusions are often sources of controversy and the inferences drawn from evidence always have potential loopholes for error In what ways can the conclusions resulting from evaluations be trusted How can evaluators reliably combine evidence from multiple sources into a final judgment about the merit or worth of something How and in what ways can evaluative conclusions be justified in an objective way similar to empirical conclusions Obtaining answers to these perennial questions facing evaluators in every evaluation is the field s greatest unmet challenge To stimulate debate and encourage more scholarship in this area the authors in this volume of New Directions for Evaluation grapple with some of the thorny problems of how to better understand the reasoning process that is used to establish evaluative conclusions The reader will leave this discussion thinking more clearly and critically about logical practice appreciating the central role of reasoning in the successful practice of evaluation and pondering the various avenues by which to contribute to future developments BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

Practice and Research Ian F. Shaw, 2016-12-05. Practice and Research is an overview of Professor Ian Shaw's analysis of the complexity and challenges of the practice research relationship in social work, a theme that has been the focus of much of his writing over his career. Introduced with a new essay that reflects on the serendipity, misfires and occasional patterns in his work, the book is grouped into five sections. It covers the following themes, each of which is fully contextualized: Perspectives on Social Work Research; Evaluation; Qualitative Social Work Research; Practice and Research; The Receiving End: Service Users and Research. This book has much to say about the relationship between social work practice and research and is a must read for any social work student or practitioner.

Encyclopedia of Evaluation Sandra Mathison, 2005. All humans are nascent evaluators. Evaluation has been with us throughout history and in its modern form has moved from the margins to the centers of organizations, agencies, educational institutions and corporate boardrooms. No longer a specialized part time activity, evaluation has become institutionalized, a common practice and indeed an important commodity in political and social life. The Encyclopedia of Evaluation is an authoritative first of its kind, who, what, where, why and how of the field of evaluation. Covering professional practice as well as academia, this volume chronicles the development of the field, its history, key figures, theories, approaches and goals. From the leading publisher in the field of evaluation, this work is a must have for all social science libraries, departments that offer courses in evaluation and students and professional evaluators around the world. The entries in this Encyclopedia capture the essence of evaluation as a practice, methods, techniques, roles, people as a profession, professional obligations, shared knowledge, ethical imperatives, events, places and as a discipline, theories and models of evaluation, ontological and epistemological issues. International Scope. Despite the fact that evaluation practice is not institutionalized in the same way around the world, the encyclopedia recognizes the international growth of the profession, due in large part to organizations such as UNICEF, the World Bank and USAID. Entries cover the following: Afghanistan, Belgium, Cambodia, Ethiopia, Germany, Greece, Guyana, Israel, Netherlands, Niger, Scotland, South Africa, Spain and Uganda. In addition, the international group of authors includes contributions from more than a dozen nations. There are a number of stories about evaluation practice around the world that are set off as sidebars in the text. These stories provide a glimpse into the nature of evaluation practice in a diverse set of circumstances, delineate the common and uncommon issues for evaluators around the world and point to the complexities of importing evaluation from one culture to another Interdisciplinary Methodological Coverage Much of the practice of evaluation has grown out of the social science research tradition While psychological methods and psychometrics continue to be useful evaluation research today draws from a wide range of disciplines including anthropology education political science literary criticism systems theory and others This Encyclopedia covers all of the relevant methodologies including both qualitative and quantitative approaches Evaluators and Theories The Encyclopedia of Evaluation includes significant coverage of the major figures in the field throughout its history Many of these figures are well known for a particular theory or approach and whenever applicable the entries make this connection for the reader as well as provide references for further reading Good examples include Michael Quinn Patton and Utilization Focused Evaluation David Fetterman and Empowerment Evaluation Daniel Stufflebeam's CIPP Model of Evaluation and Huey Chen and Theory driven Evaluations Key Themes Concepts Evaluation Concepts Methodological Concepts Philosophical Concepts Social Science Ethics and Standards Evaluation Approaches and Models Evaluation around the World Stories Evaluation Planning Evaluation Theory Laws and Legislation Organizations People Publications Qualitative Methods Quantitative Methods Representation Reporting Communicating Systems Technology Utilization Key Features More than 100 contributors from around the world Single affordable volume with nearly 600 entries arranged alphabetically Entries written by an international team of experts including narratives that depict evaluation practice around the world Reader's Guide arranges entries into 18 thematic categories to facilitate browsing among core topics Editorial Board Ross Connor University of California Irvine Lois Ellin Datta Consultant Melissa Freeman University at Albany Rodney Hopson Duquesne University Saville Kushner University of the West of England U.K. Yvonna S. Research and the Social Work Picture Shaw, Ian, 2019-09-11 There is a growing pressure for social workers to engage with research and draw on this in practice But why is this research important This first book in the Research in Social Work series published in association with the European Social Work Research Association provides an accessible way to think about this question Drawing on evidence from across Europe Asia and the USA it covers how research is conducted used and perceived It is perfect for social work students researchers and practitioners providing a detailed sketch of how research finds a place in the wider social work picture and offering opportunities and exercises that highlight how social work research is relevant in day to day course programmes and practice The book will embolden a kind of scepticism while at the same time providing the ground work for social workers to become more thoughtfully practical and practically thoughtful

Clinical Data-Mining Irwin Epstein, 2010 Clinical Data Mining CDM involves the conceptualization extraction analysis and interpretation of available clinical data for practice knowledge building clinical decision making and practitioner reflection Depending upon the type of data mined CDM can be qualitative or quantitative it is generally retrospective but may be meaningfully combined with original data collection Any research method that relies on the contents of case records or information systems data inevitably has limitations but with proper safeguards these can be minimized Among CDM s strengths however are that it is unobtrusive inexpensive presents little risk to research subjects and is ethically compatible with practitioner value commitments When conducted by practitioners CDM yields conceptual as well as data driven insight into their own practice and program generated questions This pocket guide from a seasoned practice based researcher covers all the basics of conducting practitioner initiated CDM studies or CDM doctoral dissertations drawing extensively on published CDM studies and completed CDM dissertations from multiple social work settings in the United States Australia Israel Hong Kong and the United Kingdom In addition it describes consulting principles for researchers interested in forging collaborative university agency CDM partnerships making it a practical tool for novice practitioner researchers and veteran academic researchers alike As such this book is an exceptional guide both for professionals conducting practice based research as well as for social work faculty seeking an evidence informed approach to practice research integration Mapping Environmental Sustainability Sue Oreszczyn,Andy

Lane,2017-09-06 While there is growing interest in participatory research to address issues around environmental sustainability the focus of analysis tends to be on the results or products of the research rather than the processes involved Addressing this gap the authors draw on their experience of specific mapping techniques based on different systemic concepts and theories that have helped facilitate explore and capture different understandings of the relationships perspectives and boundaries within situations involving environmental sustainability The development of visual mapping techniques is explained and practical case studies describe their application in environmental sustainability projects from working with farmers and their networks to using visual mapping with indigenous communities and managing coastal environments Each case study provides a real world project example from researchers with extensive experience of using these techniques to research different aspects of environmental sustainability over several decades Perspectives for

Biodiversity and Ecosystems Carsten Hobohm,2021-02-05 The novelty of the book is a strong focus on perception perspectives and prediction by scientists with profound insight into the ecology of ecosystems or into human demands and activity The challenge is to bridge from empirical data and the knowledge of the past to the possibilities of the performance in the future We assume that there is scope for more cooperation between the fields of ecology and practical philosophy or other social sciences in organising ecosystems and shaping the cultural future of humankind and that such collaboration should be accorded considerably more priority This book deals with environmental processes seen within a framework of the nature of ecosystems and human cultures The future of the environment the development of ecosystems and effective nature conservation management are the essentials of this book Human nature and culture and in particular their interactions are interpreted as a set of rules and as given The aim is not only to assess the significance of human influence on species composition and biodiversity but also to weigh up the subsequent potentials for action In this book we will analyze the problems independently of one another even if they are interconnected This book focuses on perspectives and prognoses for the impacts of anthropogenic activity on ecosystems and thus on species conservation Its goal is to improve assessments of the impacts of human activity on the environment We are aware that prognoses have very often proven to be false It is difficult to impossible to be able to predict with precision how evolution and ecosystems will change in future under anthropogenic influence This strengthens our resolve to attempt to retain the highest possible degree of scientific integrity and professionalism and not to shy away from expressing the uncertainty of our own ideas and prognoses We venture prognoses in this book and we will fail However we hope that we will be wrong on the right side
