 Kathy Jones, 1991 Deceptive Seduction Vel Hobbs, 2003-10 Desire's Bride Teresa Howard, 1992-11-01 SHE VOWED TO RESIST HIS CHARM When Kathlyn McKinney saw Brad Hampton her heart immediately began to race Eleven years after that fateful summer he was as dashing and handsome as ever but this time she wouldn't be taken in by him Desire had made her reckless once long ago but she was no longer an innocent girl who could be fooled by a Southern gentleman's easy charm Still not even the bitterness of his betrayal could extinguish Kathlyn's memory of the sweet rapture she'd known with Brad
 And she couldn't ignore her own treacherous yearning for the warmth of his strong embrace and the tender magic of his kiss HE VOWED TO CLAIM HER LOVE When Brad saw Kathlyn again he found that the years had erased neither his pain at her faithlessness nor his need to make her his own Honor required that he now help the violet-eyed beauty who had been left alone and defenseless by the war Yet how could he protect her if she refused to trust him With the urgency of long simmering passion Brad swore no one would harm his lovely Southern belle He had to keep her safe at least until he could tempt her into offering him the fiery kisses and caresses he well remembered and surrendering with him to the ecstasy of desires too long denied Dark Airs Brendan Cooper, 2009 In discussions of American poetry since World War II the work of John Berryman has become increasingly neglected and marginalized Critics have overwhelmingly chosen to favour the notion that he is an academic establishment poet whose career can comfortably be described as a move from New Critical traditionalism towards self-absorbed confessionalism This study shows how such a narrow understanding of Berryman's work is reflective of a broader critical inclination towards a codification of the literary canon as a duel between competing factions of a formalist establishment mainstream and an experimentalist countercultural avant-garde By examining the extent to which Berryman's poetry engages with the complex religiopolitical climate of Cold War American culture this study exposes the inadequacy of the paradigm of mainstream traditionalism in relation to his work In doing so it opens up threads of comparative possibility between his work and that of poets ordinarily segregated from him by divisive conceptions of the literary canon As such this volume provides a reconsideration of Berryman's work that simultaneously asks broader questions about the nature of the American poetic canon and established definitions of postmodern poetry The Rise and Fall of

Otherness in Hispanic Culture Teresa Fernandez Ulloa, 2014-06-26 This book addresses contemporary discourses on a wide variety of topics related to the ideological and epistemological changes of the 19th 20th and 21st centuries and the ways in which they have shaped the Spanish language and cultural manifestations in both Spain and Hispanic America The majority of the chapters are concerned with otherness in its various dimensions the alien Other foreign immigrant ethnically different disempowered female or minor as well as the Other of different sexual orientation and or ideology Following Octavio Paz otherness is expressed as the attempt to find the lost object of desire the frustrating endeavour of the androgynous Plato wishing to embrace the other half of Zeus who in his wrath tore off from him Otherness compels human beings to search for the complement from which they were severed Thus a male joins a female his other half the only half that not only fills him but which allows him to return to the unity and reconciliation which is restored in its own perfection formerly altered by divine will As a result of this transformation one can annul the distance that keeps us away from that which not being our own turns into a source of anguish The clashing diversity of all things requires the human predisposition to accept that which is different Such a predisposition is an expression of epistemological ethical and political aperture The disposition to co exist with the different is imagined in the de anthropocentricization of the bonds with all living realms And otherness is in some way the reflection of sameness mismidad The other is closely related to the self because the vision of the other implies a reflection about the self it implies consciously or not a relationship with the self These topics are addressed in this book from an interdisciplinary perspective encompassing arts humanities and social sciences
