New Advances in Pediatric Neurologic and Developmental Disorders in the Era of Genomics, An

Issue of Pediatric Clinics of North America Gyula Acsadi, 2015-06-25 Neurodevelopmental diseases affect three percent of children and the specific cause is difficult to determine in many cases. Genetic research uncovered many loss or gain of function mutations in genes that are associated with synaptic development and/or remodeling. However, more and more data are accumulating regarding the importance of gene regulations in neurodevelopmental diseases. This issue addresses many aspects of the genomics of neurodevelopmental diseases, including articles devoted to genomic variations of brain malformations, neuroimaging of brain development, update on autism, evaluation and genetics of Prader-Willi and Angelman syndromes, tuberous sclerosis, complex genetics of pediatric epilepsy, pediatric leukodystrophies, autoimmune encephalopathies, inherited neuropathies and motor neuron diseases, and muscular dystrophies and congenital myopathies.

Communication Difficulties in Childhood James

Law, Alison Parkinson, Rashmin Tamhne, 2017-11-22 For the vast majority of children acquiring speech and language skills is an effortless process. However, there is a sizeable proportion of children for whom this is not true. Difficulties they experience may be associated with other conditions such as cleft palate or hearing loss or they may have no obvious cause. This book provides a comprehensive picture of the difficulties that occur when speech and language does not develop in the young child. Divided into two sections, the first focuses on how such children should be identified and assessed. The second section provides specific insights into communication difficulties in different conditions. Each is written by an expert practitioner and is illustrated with specific examples. Based on best clinical practice and research-based evidence, it is a practical guide fully referenced for those who wish to develop knowledge further. It is essential reading for all professionals who work with children, particularly those who work in community settings.

Index of NLM Serial Titles National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1981. A keyword listing of serial titles currently received by the National Library of Medicine. The Child's World

Janet Anne Basarab-Horwath, 2001-01-01. Written for professionals involved in the assessment of children in need, this book is a comprehensive guide to recent developments in research and practice. It looks at the policy framework for assessment, the actual process of assessment, how to assess the developmental needs of children, and how to assess their parents and family's capacity to meet those needs. The contributors are experts from a range of fields, and the guide, which was developed by the NSPCC and is published in association with them, is designed to facilitate productive joint agency work. Key topics covered include ecological perspectives on the child and the family, attachment theory, and child development, assessing families where the parents have a learning disability, working with children and families from minority ethnic groups, the effect of sexual abuse within the family on the assessment process, assessment prior to birth. Originally commissioned by the Department of Health and outlining the developments and theory underpinning their Framework for the Assessment of Children in Need and their Families, this book will be essential reading for qualified and trainee social workers and those completing the Post Qualifying Award in Child Care. It will also be an indispensable guide for psychologists, teachers, health visitors, and any other professionals and qualifying professionals involved in the assessment of children in need.
