

About the master spy whose code name was Cupcake, little is known that can be told. He worked for an altogether inconvenient little republic which ceased to exist a good time ago. The regular, encoded radio transmissions, copies of which were eventually recovered by sources in his native country, have only recently been deciphered, the eleven-phase transposition method he employed for ciphering his messages having been guessed at earlier but rejected as being too archaic. Cupcake must have employed some other form of communication with the many agents he mentions in these dispatches; but only those report to his control, through the control to a director named Lyrebird, briefly to one Grusha, or, strangely enough, to the agent Inge about whom nothing is known, have been preserved. All of these had been intercepted by Lyrebird. They are here reprinted in deciphered, but raw, form.
