Respect In A World Of Inequality:

Respect in a World of Inequality Richard Sennett, 2004-01-17 Presents a case for a society of mutual respect proposing welfare system improvements and citing the consequences of disrespectful behaviors in today's competitive society
Respect Richard Sennett, 2003 This text looks at the pivotal role respect plays in contemporary society Drawing on his own experience as a left wing activist and idealist in the US and the UK Sennett examines what has gone wrong with the modern world and argues that respect is the glue that keeps society together and a serious factor in social change

Respect Richard Sennett, 2003 The Notion of Equality Mane Hajdin, 2018-05-08 This title was first published in 2001 In the articles collected in this anthology contemporary analytic philosophers examine the ways in which the notion of equality functions in moral and political discourse Among the topics discussed are the relationship between the ideal of equality and formal features of moral discourse the conflict between the ideal of equality of welfare and the ideal of equality of resources and the relationship between the equality of opportunity and the equality of results Decomposing World

Income Distribution Branko Milanović, Shlomo Yitzhaki, 2001 In Asia inequality in income between countries is more important than inequality within countries In Africa Latin America and Western Europe and North America by contrast there are only small differences between countries inequality within countries is more important And when countries are divided in three groups by income level there is little overlap very few people in developing countries have incomes in the range of those in the rich countries Inequalities of the World Göran Therborn, 2006 A groundbreaking exploration of contemporary global inequality by leading scholars from across the world

Teaching, Learning, Literacy in Our High-Risk High-Tech World James Paul Gee, 2017 This is a profound look at learning language and literacy It is also about brains and bodies And it is about talk texts media and society These topics though usually studied in different narrow academic silos are all part of one highly interactive process human development Gee argues that children will need to be resilient imaginative hopeful and deliberate learners to survive the deeply complex and unpredictable world in which they live In a world beset by conflicting ideologies that give rise to hatred violence and war Gee urges us to look to a broader set of ideas from seemingly unrelated disciplines for a viable vision of education This book proposes a framework of principles that can be used to reconceptualize education specifically literacy education to better prepare students to be collaborators toward peace and sustainability A highly readable tour de force on development teaching and learning in the digital age I think of Gee as an heir to Dewey David C Berliner Arizona State University This is the boldest and broadest of Gee's already expansive and influential body of work a must read for citizens parents educators and academics Glynda A Hull University of California Berkeley The world would be a better place if all educators took seriously Gee's recommendations to keep the long battle for human dignity going Diana Hess University of Wisconsin Madison Fabian Review, 2006 Facing An Unequal World Raquel Sosa Elizaga, 2018-02-26 Raquel Sosa Elizaga has assembled an incredibly complete set of analyses of inequality written by a range of scholars about a wide range of issues Incomparable essential reading Immanuel Wallerstein Senior Research Scientist Sociology Yale University Over recent decades living conditions in poorer countries have deteriorated leaving us faced with the present phenomenon of global inequality Arguably the biggest challenge of the 21st Century is the confrontation and eventual elimination of the processes of structural inequality that affect these millions of human beings today Facing an Unequal World tackles and critically examines key issues and challenges for global sociology across these interrelated themes The dimensions of inequality and the configurations of structural inequalities and structures of power Conceptions of justice in different historical and cultural traditions Conflicts on environmental justice and sustainable futures The social injuries of inequality and overcoming inequalities Written by a selection of international key sociologists and academics this is a valuable resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students and researchers in sociology alike

Making Feminist Sense of the Global Justice Movement Catherine Eschle, Bice

Maiguashca, 2010-01-16 In recent years the global justice movement has grabbed headlines and reshaped political imaginations worldwide Surprisingly however feminism is largely absent from accounts of the movement despite the fact that feminists are extensively involved on the ground Addressing this significant gap in the literature Eschle and Maiguashca shine a powerful light on what they term feminist antiglobalization activism Drawing on their fieldwork at the World Social Forum and European Social Forum 2003 2005 they begin by outlining the vital role of feminist antiglobalization activism in Forum processes and events while also emphasizing its diversity The authors then trace the origins of this activism the critiques and aspirations of those involved their political practices beyond the Forum and their efforts to forge a sense of solidarity among themselves and with others Taking feminism seriously Eschle and Maiguashca conclude points us toward a richer and more theoretically nuanced understanding of the global justice movement and its struggle to create other possible worlds Their book thus offers vital insights not only for feminists but also for all those interested in contemporary social movements and in global governance and resistance

True World Income Distribution, 1988 and 1993 Branko Milanović, 1999 Inequality in world income is very high according to household surveys more because of differences between mean country incomes than because of inequality within countries World inequality increased between 1988 and 1993 driven by slower growth in rural per capita incomes in populous Asian countries Bangladesh China and India than in large rich OECD countries and by increasing income differences between urban China on the one hand and rural China and rural India on the other

Economic Theory for the Real World Victor A. Beker, 2023-11-03 After the Great Financial Crisis economic theory was fiercely criticized from both outside and inside the discipline for being incapable of explaining a crisis of such magnitude Slowly but persistently new strands of economic thought are developing to replace the old fashioned neoclassical economic theory which have a common characteristic they are better suited to help understand the real world economy This book explores the key tenets and applications of these This book opens with an explanation of the real world approach to economics in which theoretical models resemble real world situations realistic assumptions are made and factors such as uncertainty coordination problems and bounded rationality are incorporated Additionally this book explores the ramifications of considering the economy as both a dynamic system with a past present and future and a complex one These theoretical precepts of the real world economy are then applied to some of the most pressing economic issues facing the world today including ecological sustainability the rise of corporate power the growing dominance of the financial world and rising unemployment poverty and inequality In each case this book reveals the insights of the shortcomings of the neoclassical approach which fails to illuminate the complexities behind each issue It is demonstrated that by contrast adopting an approach grounded in the real world has the power to produce policy proposals to help tackle these problems This book is essential reading for anyone seeking a deeper understanding of the economy including readers from economics and across the social sciences

Cultural Dynamics in a Globalized World Melani Budianta, Manneke Budiman, Abidin Kusno, Mikihiro Moriyama, 2017-12-14 The book contains essays on current issues in arts and humanities in which peoples and cultures compete as well as collaborate in globalizing the world while maintaining their uniqueness as viewed from cross and interdisciplinary perspectives The book covers areas such as literature cultural studies archaeology philosophy history language studies information and literacy studies and area studies Asia and the Pacific are the particular regions that the conference focuses on as they have become new centers of knowledge production in arts and humanities and in the future seem to be able to grow significantly as a major contributor of culture science and arts to the globalized world The book will help shed light on what arts and humanities scholars in Asia and the Pacific have done in terms of research and knowledge development as well as the new frontiers of research that have been explored and opening up which can connect the two regions with the rest of the globe

Climate Justice S. M. Ravi Kanbur, Henry Shue, 2019 Climate justice requires sharing the burdens and benefits of climate change and its resolution equitably and fairly This book brings together economic and philosophical discourse on climate justice in order to support public policy dialogue on the topic

The New Environmental Economics Eloi Laurent, 2020-01-13 Too often economics disassociates humans from nature the economy from the biosphere that contains it and sustainability from fairness When economists do engage with environmental issues they typically reduce their analysis to a science of efficiency that leaves aside issues of distributional analysis and justice The aim of this lucid

textbook is to provide a framework that prioritizes human well being within the limits of the biosphere and to rethink economic analysis and policy in the light of not just efficiency but equity Leading economist loi Laurent systematically ties together sustainability and justice issues in covering a wide range of topics from biodiversity and ecosystems energy and climate change environmental health and environmental justice to new indicators of well being and sustainability beyond GDP and growth social ecological transition and sustainable urban systems This book equips readers with ideas and tools from various disciplines alongside economics such as history political science and philosophy and invites them to apply those insights in order to understand and eventually tackle pressing twenty first century challenges It will be an invaluable resource for students of environmental economics and policy and sustainable development World Crisis and Underdevelopment David Ingram, 2018-01-18 The book examines the impact of poverty and other global crises in generating forms of structural coercion that cause agential and societal underdevelopment It draws from discourse ethics and recognition theory in criticizing injustices and pathologies associated with underdevelopment
