H. Facing Global Environmental Change Hans Günter Brauch, Navnita Chadha Behera, Patricia Kameri-Mbote, John Grin, Úrsula Oswald Spring, Béchir Chourou, Czeslaw Mesjasz, Heinz Krummenacher, 2009-06-04 The year 2007 could perhaps accurately be described as the year when climate change finally received the attention that this challenge deserves globally

Much of the information and knowledge that was created in this field during the year was the result of the findings of the Fourth sessment Report AR4 of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC which were disseminated on a large scale and reported extensively by the media This was the result not only of a heightened interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large The interest generated on the scientific realities of climate change was further enhanced by the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the IPCC and former Vice President of the US Al Gore By taking this decision in favour of a leader who has done a great deal to create awareness on c mate change and a body that assesses all scientific aspects of climate change and disseminates the result of its findings the Norwegian Nobel Committee has clearly drawn the link between climate change and peace in the world

Africa: Facing Human Security Challenges in the 21st Century Tatah Mentan,2014-05-12 Africas dynamic security environment is characterized by great diversityfrom conventional challenges such as insurgencies resource and identity conflicts and post conflict stabilization to growing threats from piracy narcotics trafficking violent extremism and organized crime taking root in urban slums among others This precarious environment jeopardizes security at the societal community and individual levels In a globalized and interconnected world millions of people worldwide are affected by some form of human insecurity Infectious and parasitic diseases annually kill millions Internally displaced persons number millions including 5 million in Sudan alone In Zambia 1 million people in a population of 11 million are reported to be HIV positive a situation much worse in other countries Potable water crisis looms almost everywhere In this book Tatah Mentan points out the need to shift the focus away from a state centric and military strategic emphasis on security to an interdisciplinary and people centric approach that embraces notions like global citizenship empowerment and participation The primary elements of economic food health environment personal community and political security all comprise the broader understanding of human security in an intricately interconnected world

Water Scarcity and Conflict in African River Basins Mahlakeng Khosi Mahlakeng,2023-03-31 The book presents a critical and comparative analysis of the hydropolitical landscape of African transboundary river basins which for much of the past century have been affected by water scarcity River and lake basins can become a source of tension and conflict due to a complicated mix of environmental demographic diplomatic historical and geopolitical factors This book however specifically focuses on the important and often under looked role played by scarcity in generating or exacerbating conflicts in shared river basins Asserting that transboundary river basins tie states into a web of interdependence this book raises awareness of how water scarcity or the depletion of water resources complicates this relationship as nations are forced to look beyond their own borders to meet the demand for water to satisfy multiple needs Taking a comparative approach it examines three shared basins the Orange Senqu the Nile and the Niger River basins While situated in different regions all three basins are marked by serious environmental challenges that are detrimental to combustible hydropolitics over such shared water resources and they provide fascinating insights into the links between climate variability and change water resources human security conflict adaptation and regime capacity Overall this book argues that conflict over transboundary resources can be prevented given the establishment of norms rules and the role of external actors that help regulate state behaviour and control their impacts This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of water resource management hydropolitics environmental conflict resource scarcity and international relations It will also be of interest to policymakers involved in transboundary water resource governance

Banditry and Security Crisis in Nigeria Al Chukwuma Okoli, Saliou Ngom, 2023-08-10 This book examines the growing phenomenon of armed banditry in Nigeria and its implication for national security Nigeria's banditry crisis and deepening security challenges are fuelled by the existence of vast under governed hinterland and trans border spaces where various non state armed groups operate unhindered and outside of the law engaging in various forms of transnational crime This book explores the activities of these groups to assess the nature and significance of banditry as a complex threat to security It does so against the backdrop of reports of increased bandit attacks on farms markets mining sites villages and rural communities and the rising tide of violent crimes in Nigeria especially the northern region This book analyses the factors that are responsible for the emergence of banditry as a recent national and transnational security threat and outlines the contemporary dynamics of Nigeria's banditry crisis and how it can be mitigated. This book will be of interest to researchers and students in the field of African Studies, International Relations, Security and Strategic Studies, Political Studies, Peace and Conflict Studies, as well as policymakers and practitioners interested in complex security threats and their implications in Nigeria and beyond.

International Water Law and the Human Right to Water Imad Antoine Ibrahim, 2024-11-19. This book examines the development of international law applicable to Transboundary Aquifers (TBAs) considering the Human Right to Water and Sanitation (HRWS). The purpose is to determine how International Water Law (IWL) and the HRWS can be harmonized in the context of TBAs. This is important given that rules and instruments adopted to address this topic are relatively nascent and the field itself is still in the process of developing regulatory frameworks. Taking the application of the HRWS to shared aquifers as a case study, the work discusses whether IWL and International Human Rights Law complement each other. The response to this question requires an analysis of the development of International Groundwater Law and its challenges, the evolution of the HRWS, the nature of transboundary groundwaters, and the interplay between these two fields. The author argues that IWL agreements should contain a provision related to the HRWS to ensure the protection of this right, with a stipulation included in the nonbinding instrument that tackles shared groundwaters. The Draft Articles on the Law of Transboundary Aquifers adopted in 2008 through the United Nations General Assembly Resolution. The book will be of interest to international lawyers, water and human right experts, geologists, and anyone interested in water and human rights issues.

Impacts of Climate Change and Variability on Pastoralist Women in Sub-Saharan Africa Melese Getu, Munyae M. Mulinge, 2013. The term climate change is used to denote any significant but extended change in the measures of climate. The changes could be due to natural variability or as a result of human activities such as the burning of fossil fuels to produce energy, deforestation, industrial processes, and some agricultural practices. Such activities release large amounts of carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases into the atmosphere that hang like a blanket around the earth, thus trapping energy in the atmosphere and causing it to warm up. This results increasingly in climate variability, which is characterised by extreme seasonal, annual, temporal, and non-spatial variability in temperature, vagaries of precipitation, rainfall patterns and amounts, and/or wind patterns occurring over a prolonged period of time. The last decade (2001-2010) has been the warmest on record, with the average temperatures reaching 0.46°C above the 1961-1990 mean and 0.21°C warmer than the 1991-2000 period. It has been proved that the African continent is warming up faster all year round than the global average, a trend that is likely to continue. By the year 2100, it is predicted that temperature changes will fall into ranges of about 1.4°C to nearly 5.8°C increase in mean surface temperature compared to 1990, and the mean sea level will rise between 10cm to 90 cm. AMCEN 2011. The interior of semiarid margins of the Sahara and central southern Africa will be the most affected by such warming. AMCEN 2011. To tackle the phenomenon of climate change effectively, human societies have put in place a combination of mitigation and adaptation mechanisms and strategies Whereas mitigation aims at avoiding or lessening the impacts of the unmanageable the goal of adaptation is to manage the unavoidable That men and women are affected differently by climate change suggests that they also differ in terms of the adaptation mechanisms they employ Despite the existence of gender based differences in the effects of climate change and in adaptation and coping strategies studies on the gender differential impacts of climate change and variability on women in general and pastoralist women in particular in sub Saharan Africa are limited This volume offers insights and knowledge that pastoralist women developed on climate change adaptation through their experiences in their households and communities and thereby tries to narrow this gap Governance, Natural Resources and Post-Conflict Peacebuilding Carl Bruch,Carroll Muffett,Sandra

Nichols,2016-04-07 When the guns are silenced those who have survived armed conflict need food water shelter the means to earn a living and the promise of safety and a return to civil order Meeting these needs while sustaining peace requires more than simply having governmental structures in place it requires good governance Natural resources are essential to sustaining people and peace in post conflict countries but governance failures often jeopardize such efforts This book examines the theory practice and often surprising realities of post conflict governance natural resource management and peacebuilding in fifty conflict affected countries and territories It includes thirty nine chapters written by more than seventy researchers diplomats military personnel and practitioners from governmental intergovernmental and nongovernmental organizations The book highlights the mutually reinforcing relationship between natural resource management and good governance Natural resource management is crucial to rebuilding governance and the rule of law combating corruption improving transparency and accountability engaging disenfranchised populations and building confidence after conflict At the same time good governance is essential for ensuring that natural resource management can meet immediate needs for post conflict stability and development while simultaneously laying the foundation for a sustainable peace Drawing on analyses of the close relationship between governance and natural resource management the book explores lessons from past conflicts and ongoing reconstruction efforts illustrates how those lessons may be applied to the formulation and implementation of more effective governance initiatives and presents an emerging theoretical and practical framework for policy makers researchers practitioners and students Governance Natural Resources and Post Conflict Peacebuilding is part of a global initiative to identify and analyze lessons in post conflict peacebuilding and natural resource management The project has generated six books of case studies and analyses with contributions from practitioners policy makers and researchers Other books in this series address high value resources land water livelihoods and assessing and restoring natural resources Globalization and Security G.
