Restructuring Arms Production In Western Europe:

Restructuring of Arms Production in Western Europe Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 1992 Profound changes are occurring in the structure of arms production in Western Europe Concentration is increasing at a fast pace Small producers are disappearing and even large ones are opting out of the market The various national arms industries long operating in protective environments are rapidly internationalizing Three factors combine to bring about this change East West detente the creation of the Single European Market and the constant pressure of increasingly complex technology In this book experts describe how the framework for producing arms in Western Europe is altered and how various actors firms governments and trade unions are adapting to the new situation The book presents detailed analyses of all the arms producing countries in Western Europe In addition to describing recent changes the authors speculate on the implications of these for the balance of power in Western Europe the relations between Western Europe and the United States arms exports to the Third World and problems of converting from military to civilian production The appendices include the SIPRI list of the 50 largest arms producing companies in Western Europe data on mergers and acquisitions procurement expenditure and exports of major weapons selections from treaties and other official documents relevant to current and future regulation of West European arms production and a select bibliography The Economics of Defense Industry Thomas-Durell

Young, 2023-10-17 This book on the economics of defence industry assesses a series of historical and contemporary case studies that consistently demonstrate the need for governments to recognise and thereafter factor the financial needs of a narrow industrial sector that is capital intensive technologically advanced and that requires a highly skilled labour force Since the end of the cold war Western governments have systematically reduced financial support to their domestic defence industry and have seemingly ignored planning and funding industrial mobilisation In all cases government policy has been to encourage industries to consolidate capacity to become financially viable in a sector that has seen diminished demand The 2022 Russian invasion of Ukraine has caused Western governments to reassess their previous assumptions Efforts to increase industrial capacity have been met with the iron laws of economics whereby businesses need to show return on investments The chapters in this volume posit that efforts to rationalise industrial capacity and innovation to meet short term financial efficiencies inevitably results in limited expensive and long delays in increased production in times of international crisis This book serves as an essential guide for academics researchers and students interested in defence economics industrial economics international relations and industrial policy The chapters in this book were originally published in various issues of Defense Security Analysis Defence Industries in the 21st Century Çağlar Kurç, Richard A.

Bitzinger, Stephanie G. Neuman, 2021-05-13 Defence Industries in the 21st Century explores the transformation in the global defence industrial production through examining the interaction between international and domestic factors With the global defence industry and arms market likely continue to expand and mature the ways in which this progression could influence international politics remain obscure In practice as the contents of this book show the defence industrial bases and arms export policies of emerging states display significant variance This variance is the result of a unique balance between domestic and international factors that has shaped the defence industrialisation behaviour and policies of the less industrialised states One of the most important conclusions of the book is that the interplay between domestic and international factors clearly influences the variation in the emerging states defence industrialisation policies as well as their success or failure While international factors create opportunities they also limit the options available to emerging economies Domestic factors also play an important role by shaping the policy choices of the states decision makers Exploring the balance between international and domestic factors and the ways in which they influence defence industrialisation in emerging states Defence Industries in the 21st Century will be of great interest to scholars of Defence Industries Arms Manufacturing and Defence Strategic and Security Studies more generally The chapters were originally published in Defence Studies Comparative Strategy and All Azimuth The European Union and National Industrial Policy Hussein Kassim, Anand Menon, 2002-09-11 First published in 1996 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

The Global Arms Trade Andrew T. H. Tan, 2014-05-22 The Global Arms Trade is a timely comprehensive and in depth study of this topic a phenomenon which has continued to flourish despite the end of the Cold War and the preoccupation with global terrorism after 11 September 2001 It provides a clear description and analysis of the demand for and supply of modern weapons systems and assess key issues of concern This book will be especially useful to scholars policy analysts those in the arms industry defence professionals students of international relations and security studies media professionals government officials and those generally interested in the arms trade Arms Trade and Europe Paul Cornish, 1995-03-12 Focusing on conventional weapons rather than nuclear biological and chemical ones this book draws attention to important differences within the EU between the trade in finished weapons and the technology used to make them It examines West European efforts since 1945 to manage both sides of conventional defence related trade and the political industrial technological and conceptual obstacles to effective multilateral co ordination and regulation The book argues that in current European and international circumstances recent EU initiatives have limited prospects and may prove to be counterproductive The Politics and Economics of Defence Industries Efraim Inbar, Ben Zion Zilberfarb, 2013-09-13 This volume provides a policy relevant analysis of the complex web of contemporary economic trends political developments and strategic considerations that are shaping the contours of the new post Cold War world market for weaponry The Rise of European Security Cooperation Seth G. Jones, 2007-02 A systematic and comprehensive analysis of the significant increase in security cooperation among European states The Modern Defense Industry Richard A. Bitzinger, 2009-10-15 Whether it s guns and ammunition or multidimensional anti terrorism systems the defense industry is dynamic complex and ubiquitous It is also mysterious powerful and controversial involving thousands of players worldwide from suppliers and producers to government and military procurers to shadowy figures that trade in the black market This comprehensive two volume reference will explore on a global scale the various issues concepts problems and controversies surrounding the rise of the modern defense industry Unparalleled in its scope and insight The Modern Defense Industry will prove invaluable to the industry s critics and champions alike The phenomenon of a more or less permanent defense industry especially one so wide in scale breadth air sea land and space technology and geography is still relatively new Until now its implications for politics economics and technology have not been adequately discussed in an authoritative accessible format for scholars and researchers business people journalists policymakers and interested laymen The Modern Defense Industry addresses the period from 1945 to the present covering the United States Europe Russia China Israel and other important arms producing and arms procuring countries Including essays by experts from around the world a glossary data on firms and governments laws and policies primary documents case studies and a host of other elements this set will be a unique resource for anyone interested in the arms industry It will also offer penetrating insights into topics like international relations and diplomacy arms proliferation and contemporary politics Volume I comprises chapters by experts in the field on topics like the relationship between the industry military and government how new modes of warfare are changing the industry the implications of globalization on the industry the black and gray areas of the arms trade and much more Volume II features an extensive A Z glossary of terms lists of defense firms and government agencies annotated primary documents lists of leading defense contractors and key weapons systems an analysis of key legislation and professional organizations The Modern Defense Industry sets the standard for state of the art overviews of an industry that has for better or worse come to infuse nearly every aspect of world affairs in the early twenty first century Global Engagement Janne Nolan, 2010-12-01

Worldwide political changes have presented a unique opportunity for forging a new basis of international security relations The end of the cold war the dissolution of the Soviet Union and the ascending role of the United Nations in regional security affairs have transformed the driving issues of international security These changes both heighten the demand and offer the potential for global cooperation on an unprecedented scale Traditional security preoccupations and the foundations of past strategy based on preparation for massive military confrontation are no longer appropriate Now world leaders must find alternative strategies to ensure international safety This book brings together a prominent group of experts including several recently appointed government officials to examine an alternative form of security one that emphasizes collaborative rather than confrontational relationships among national military establishment Global Engagement offers a complete analysis of the concept of cooperative security which seeks to establish international agreements to regulate the size technical composition investment patterns and operational practices of all military forces for mutual benefit It explains how cooperative security also aims to create mechanisms to prevent the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and regional conflict The contributors identify the trends motivating the movement toward cooperative security and analyze the implications for practical policy action They examine the problem of controlling advanced conventional munitions analyze an integrated control arraignment discuss international principles of equity and their relationship to problems of security and offer regional political perspectives while considering social regional security problems With the altered security environment cooperation has clearly become the new strategic imperative Policymakers are challenged to dispose of large arsenals of conventional and nuclear weapons and redirect their efforts to support preventative management of security conditions Leading the discussion of the security challenges ahead the authors of this volume debate the utility of cooperative engagement for future strategy

Mitteleuropa Peter J. Katzenstein, 1997 German unification and the political and economic transformations in central Europe signal profound political changes that pose many questions This book offers a cautiously optimistic set of answers to these questions

Military R&D after the Cold War Philip Gummett, Mikhail Boutoussov, Janos Farkas, Arie Rip, 2012-12-06 Countries establish defence industries for various reasons Chief among these are usually a concern with national security and a desire to be as independent as possible in the supply of the armaments which they believe they need But defence industries are different from most other industries Their customer is governments Their product is intended to safeguard the most vital interests of the state The effectiveness of these products in the real rather than the experimental sense is not normally tested at the time of purchase If or when it is tested many other factors such as the quality of political and military leadership enter into the equation so complicating judgments about the quality of the armaments and about the reliability of the promises made by the manufacturers All of these features make the defence sector an unusually political industrial sector This has been true in both the command economies of the former Soviet Union and its satellites and in the market or mixed economies of the west In both cases to speak only a little over generally the defence sector has been particularly privileged and particularly protected from the usual economic vicissitudes In both cases too its centrality to the perceived vital interests of the state has given it an unusual degree of political access and support

Military Production and Innovation in Spain Jordi Molas-Gallart, 1992 Military Production and Innovation in Spain extends the scope beyond the traditional analysis of arms producers to include components and sub systems manufacturers It combines a description of the changes experienced by Spanish military production with an analysis of its deeply rooted structural characteristics The book provides an in depth exploration of the Spanish military related industry its links with the rest of the economy and its potential role as a technological engine for the Spanish economy British Weapons Acquisition Policy and the Futility of Reform Warren A. Chin, 2019-09-17 Originally published in 2004 This incisive work reveals the causes of escalating costs and delays in British defence procurement from 1945 to the present Tackling a complex subject in a straightforward and readable manner it considers how successive British governments reacted to this problem why they adopted the reforms they did and why these reforms failed to have any meaningful effect on the operation of this process The study draws upon a number of disciplines such as economics politics and science and engineering to provide a broad synthesis that allows the reader to understand the technicalities of the process The conclusion reached is that there is no apparent solution to the problem of intergenerational costs of weapons but that a key to controlling the growing cost of projects during their development lies in the construction of a more effective research and development strategy a path followed by Margaret Thatcher's predecessors and one that is also being advocated today The Nordic Countries and the European Security and Defence Policy Alyson J. K. Bailes, Gunilla Herolf, Bengt Sundelius, 2006 In 1999 the EU decided to develop its own military capacities for crisis management This book brings together a group of experts to examine the consequences of this decision on Nordic policy establishments as well as to shed new light on the defence and security issues that matter for Europe as a whole

European Defence Technology in Transition Philip Gummert, Josephine Ann Stein, 2014-01-02 This book draws on the ten nation CREDIT Capacity for Research on European Defence and Industrial Technology network which was set up to tackle issue concerning defence science technology and industrial policy including the implications of the Cold War and a growing pan European emphasis By providing a comparative study of policy and practice in the countries of western Europe the book provides vital insights into how governments and firms can begin to search for European wide solutions to the dilemmas that face them Scandalous Economics Aida A. Hozic, Jacqui True, 2016-03-10 Of all of the lies fragile alliances and predatory financial dealings that have been revealed in the wake of the Global Financial Crisis of 2008 we have yet to come to terms with the ways in which structural inequalities around gender and race factor into and indeed make possible the current economic order Scandalous Economics is about silences the astonishing neglect of gender and race in explanations of the Global Financial Crisis But it is also about noises the sexual scandals and gendered austerity policies that have relegated public debate and the crisis itself into political oblivion While feminist economists and movements such as Occupy Wall Street have pointed to the distributional inequalities that are an effect of financial deregulation scholars haven't really grappled with the representational inequalities inherent in the way we view the politics of the market For example capitalism won't be made more equitable simply by appointing women to leadership positions within financial firms or corporations And the next crisis will not be averted if our understandings of gendered inequalities are framed by sexual scandals in media and popular culture We need to look at the activities and the privileges of the advantaged the TED women of the crisis as much as the victimization of the disadvantaged to fully grasp the interplay between gender and economy in this fragile age of restoration Scandalous Economics breaks new ground by doing precisely this It argues that normalization of the post GFC economic order in the face of its obvious breakdown s has been facilitated by co optation of feminist and queer perspectives into national and international responses to the crisis Scandalous Economics builds upon the Occupy movement and other critical analysis of the GFC to comprehensively examine gendered material ideational and representational dimensions that have served to make the crisis and its effects the new normal in Europe and America as well as Latin America and Asia

Encyclopedia of Violence, Peace, and Conflict ,2008-09-05 The 2nd edition of Encyclopedia of Violence Peace and Conflict provides timely and useful information about antagonism and reconciliation in all contexts of public and personal life Building on the highly regarded 1st edition 1999 and publishing at a time of seemingly inexorably increasing conflict and violent behaviour the world over the Encyclopedia is an essential reference for students and scholars working in the field of peace and conflict resolution studies and for those seeking to explore alternatives to violence and share visions and strategies for social justice and social change Covering topics as diverse as Arms Control Peace Movements Child Abuse Folklore Terrorism and Political Assassinations the Encyclopedia comprehensively addresses an extensive information area in 225 multi disciplinary cross referenced and authoritatively authored articles In his Preface to the 1st edition Editor in Chief Lester Kurtz wrote The problem of violence poses such a monumental challenge at the end of the 20th century that it is surprising we have addressed it so inadequately We have not made much progress in learning how to cooperate with one another more effectively or how to conduct our conflicts more peacefully Instead we have increased the lethality of our combat through revolutions in weapons technology and military training The Encyclopedia of Violence Peace and Conflict is designed to help us to take stock of our knowledge concerning these crucial phenomena Ten years on the need for an authoritative and cross disciplinary approach to the great issues of violence and peace seems greater than ever More than 200 authoritative multidisciplinary articles in a 3 volume set Many brand new articles alongside revised and updated content from the First Edition Article outline and glossary of key terms at the beginning of each article Entries arranged alphabetically for easy access Articles written by more than 200 eminent contributors from around the world The Arms Production Dilemma

Randall Forsberg,1994 The studies show how military strategy planned forces and the age of systems in the current inventory affect the domestic demand for new production how the recent drop in domestic demand affects arms industries and the extent to which governments and firms in the arms producing nations are turning to exports to sustain the industries In the shrinking arms market of the post Cold War era countries with advanced arms industries face difficult choices concerning force size arms production arms export and defense industrial capacity This book explores the links among these issues through a detailed study of the combat aircraft industries in the United States Russia Britain France Germany Italy and Sweden the seven countries that develop produce and export all of the world s technologically advanced weapon systems The studies show how military strategy planned forces and the age of systems in the current inventory affect the domestic demand for new production how the recent drop in domestic demand affects arms industries and the extent to which governments and firms in the arms producing nations are turning to exports to sustain the industries Stunning changes in Russia s combat aircraft forces industry and strategy are detailed here for the first time as are expected future Russian combat aircraft exports to China Newly compiled data also show that in the United States and Russia and globally arms production for export will exceed production for domestic use for the first time in history starting in 1995 Arms production is thus increasingly dominated by commercial rather than security interests Ultimately at issue is whether governments will exploit the opportunity offered by the dramatic post Cold War contraction of the world arms market to reduce their armed forces and constrain international arms trade while shrinking the arms industry or keep pushing arms exports that generate new threats and justify larger armed forces more arms production and bigger arms industries
