Freedom David Neville, Philip Matthews, 2003 Australian Christians like Christians in many societies live in a pluralistic culture. This makes the issues of faith, freedom, and their interrelationship all the more critical. In a pluralist context, Christian faith and freedom must be expressed and embodied in a coherent rather than discordant way. The authors of these reflections on key ethical concerns represent the Anabaptist, Anglican, Baptist, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic, and Uniting Church traditions, yet there is a harmony within this plurality of theological and ecclesiological voices. Contributors include John Howard Yoder, Charles Birch, Stanley Hauerwas, and Thorwald Lorenzen. Routledge Revivals: The Challenge of Islam (2005) Douglas Pratt, 2016-10-04. First published in 2005, this book addresses the challenges arising from Christian-Muslim encounter and attempts to enable outsiders to understand the religion of Islam. The author offers distinctive perspectives that compliment much other literature in the study of Islam and in particular Christian-Muslim relations and the relation of Islam and the West. The book is divided into three parts. Part I constitutes an introduction to Islam. Part II delves into aspects of the wider encounter with Islam, and Part III explores issues in regard to the prospect of engaging in dialogue with Islam. The author argues that in the post 9/11 world, the imperative to understand and engage with Islam is urgent and intends this work to assist the reader in doing so. Christianity, Modernity and Culture John Stenhouse, G. A.

Wood, 2005. For much of the twentieth century, New Zealand historians like most Western scholars largely took it for granted that as modernity waxed, religion would wane. Secularization, the fading into insignificance of religion, would distinguish the modern era from previous ages. Until the 1980s, only a handful of scholars around the world raised serious empirical and theoretical questions about a Grand Theory that had become central to the self-understanding of the social sciences and of the modern world. Heated debates since then, and the unmistakable resurgence of world religions, have raised fundamental questions about the empirical and theoretical adequacy of secularization theory and especially about how far it applies outside Europe. This volume revisits New Zealand history when secularization is no longer taken for granted as the Only Big Story that illuminates the country's social and cultural history. Contributors explore how New Zealanders' diverse religious and spiritual traditions have shaped practical everyday concerns in politics, racial and ethnic relations, science, the environment, family life, gender relations, and other domains. Church and Civil Society Sue Leppert, Francis Sullivan, 2004. This collection of essays examines the relationship between theology, church, state, politics, and civil society.

The Relationship of Philosophy to Religion Today Paolo Diego Bubbio, Philip Andrew Quadrio, 2011-01-18. The Relationship of Philosophy to Religion Today is a collection of texts authored by philosophers with an interest in contemporary philosophy of religion, its merits, and its limitations. The collection has been stimulated by such questions as: What ought philosophy of religion be, and how ought philosophy relate to religion today? In pursuing such questions, the editors have asked the contributors to offer their insights and reflections on issues that they see as important to contemporary philosophy of religion, with the goal of producing a collection of texts offering the reader a variety of perspectives without privileging any particular philosophical religious or irreligious orientation The book covers such themes as the relationship between religion and modernity faith in keeping with reason contemplation the merits and limitations of the atheism and the relationship between philosophy religion and politics Hope Christiaan Mostert,2004 Our age is not one of great hope war and terror continue unabated Despair lies hidden just below the preoccupations of daily life and is starkly visible at many points in today s world Directly or indirectly the contributors to this volume seek to challenge the culture of despair These authors theologians and leaders write about hope its ground its shape in the Bible and its expression in Christian life and worship mission and ministry The book challenges the church as much as the culture Do Christians know the ground of their hope Is the church the bearer of hope Does its worship sustain hope The contributors include biblical scholars historians systematic and pastoral theologians The Bible and the Business of Life Simon Carey Holt,Gordon R.
