Rwanda Margee M. Ensign, William E. Bertrand, 2009-11-02 Imagine a nation with the highest proportion of women legislators in the world Imagine a country where a democratically elected president is committed to gender equality and poverty reduction where urban and rural schools are being wired to the Internet and where the government is committed to becoming a middle income country by 2020 Imagine that this country is located in the heart of sub Saharan Africa and that this progress comes in the wake of one of the 20th century s worst genocides Fifteen years removed from a mass genocide that resulted in the deaths of nearly one million people Rwanda today presents a model for hope justice innovation and human development In fact Rwanda is now a leader in achieving economic political and social progress in this beleaguered continent A new model of governance has emerged in this poor African country This model which draws on century s old Rwandan customs called Ubudehe and IMIHIGO is inclusive transparent empowers the poor and holds leaders accountable for improving the well being of people in their districts Rwanda History and Hope focuses on the innovative path Rwanda has taken in governance and reconciliation gender equity education health and economic growth The authors spent a decade working and researching in the country to prepare this path breaking book Mapping research and innovation in the Republic of Rwanda Lemarchand, Guillermo A.,Tash, April,2015-10-05 Insights Into Gender Equity, Equality and Power Relations in Sub-saharan Africa Mansah Prah,2013 Since gender entered the development discourse in the Seventies African countries have increasingly taken the concept on board in policy and practice This concern may be due to either one or a combination of the following factors the ideological positioning of African countries demands by their donors and development partners and demands by organised local groups and NGOs Gender in the development discourse ought to transform power relations between men and women and shift them to social relations that reflect their equal access to productive resources opportunities and social and material benefits The result of such actions should be an achievement of comparable status of women and men This volume initiated by OSSREA seeks to examine in more depth issues regarding the gender power imbalance in sub Saharan African countries with a specific focus on the eastern and southern African regions The chapters in this book present research that examines and analyses the effectiveness and efficiency of gender mainstreaming policies strategies and projects developed and implemented by national and international actors The themes inter weave with each other although they address gender issues in specific countries and specific contexts This can be explained by the shared colonial and post colonial heritage of African countries It is useful therefore to view the structure of the book as a spiral of inter connected issues that address similar themes approaching them from different levels Purely for ease of reading the contributions have been organised into three parts with over arching themes that at first glance may seem not to fit well together A theme that runs through all the chapters is the persistence of patriarchal values and attitudes in Africa and its constraining effect on the achievement of gender equity and equality Yes, Africa Can Punam Chuhan-Pole,Manka Angwafo,2011-06-24 Takes an in depth look at twenty six economic and social development successes in Sub Saharan African countries and addresses how these countries have overcome major developmental challenges
