Aging, Society and the Life Course Leslie A. Morgan,2007 As our aging population grows ever larger it is increasingly important to understand how adults age and what we can do to provide up to date care to ensure their well being as an integral part of society Leslie Morgan and Suzanne Kunkel understand that this phenomenon is about much more than just the physical or biological aspects of growing older and have put together a comprehensive text on the impact of society and sociology on the aging process Use this text to explore the diversity of the aging population and dispel the major stereotypes surrounding the elderly Learn about aging through all the layers of social context from family life to politics and economics And through this approach come to see how aging is more than just an individual process it is a process that effects the direction of our society as a whole For the Student Web sites of interest and key terms defined at the end of each chapter Real life stories and essays on love sex music medicine and crime For the Professor Assignment ready reading in a One Chapter a Week format Questions for discussion and review at each chapter end Applying Theory sections place the lesson of each chapter in a clear real world setting Instructor s Guide Now Available An Instructor s Manual for this textbook is available for those professors who have adopted Aging Society and the Life Course Third Edition and can verify a bookstore order of 7 or more copies Please email our Marketing Department at marketing.springerpub.com if you have adopted this

Sullivan, 2009-08-31 Highly accessible A Z of the major terms in the social and behavioural sciences spanning anthropology communication and media studies criminal justice economics education geography human services management political science psychology and sociology Comparative Methods in Sociology Ivan Vallier, 2023-11-10 The essays in this volume are intended to help social scientists do better comparative research and thereby to improve our possibilities for creating more satisfactory explanations or theories These broad aims are advanced throughout the book in several ways 1 by an identification and assessment of the methodological strategies of exceptionally important comparativists past and present 2 by an explication and refinement of logics of procedure that are central to many types of comparative research 3 by a presentation of new research models that link or bridge heretofore separate lines of comparative inquiry and 4 by the definition of methodological criteria by which theories and conceptual frameworks can be more fruitfully related to and qualified by comparative studies Specific problems such as comparability causal inference conceptualization measurement and sampling are addressed in various sections of particular essays From the Preface This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1971 Emotions, Decision-Making and Mass Atrocities Olaoluwa Olusanya, 2016-05-06 This book rehumanizes perpetrators of mass atrocities At present a victim perpetrator dichotomy appears to be the dominant paradigm perpetrators have either been mechanistically dehumanized that is perceived as unemotional hard hearted and conforming and thereby lacking the core features of human nature or alternatively they have been animalistically dehumanized In other words they are seen as immoral unintelligent lacking self control and likened to animals Within sociology and criminology the dominant view is that genocide and other mass atrocities are committed by technologically lobotomized perpetrators Somehow the process of rationalization is believed to have transformed these people from emotionally healthy people into hollow soulless shells of human beings or zombies devoid of a full range of normal emotions These people are considered bereft of any ability to reason think or feel yet ambulant and able to respond to surrounding stimuli However it is difficult to imagine crime especially those involving a group of people working together for the duration of a particular criminal activity without emotions For instance there is ample evidence suggesting that both crimes of passion and pre meditated crimes involve emotional arousal Furthermore research in fields such as evolutionary biology psychology and sociology of work and organizations suggest that emotions are essential for human progress and survival In addition emotions help us make the right call in risky and uncertain situations in other words the majority of real life situations There is therefore a need to revisit existing assumptions around the role of emotions in mass atrocities

Organizational Behavior John B. Miner, 2002 The book begins with a treatment of the role of science and the nature of theory and research A discussion of the early origins and history of organizational behavior follows This is the most comprehensive coverage of how organizational behavior emerged and grew It presents and evaluates the first generation theorists whose work began during the first 20 years The subject matter covered is motivation leadership and organizational decision making The institutional culture of organizational behavior is discussed and a vision for the future of the field is stated Here the early history and the evidence from the theories are brought together in an effort to assess the identity of organizational behavior and where it might be headed
