Changes in Paddy Soil Fertility in Tropical Asia under Green Revolution Junta Yanai, Sota Tanaka, Shin Abe, Atsushi Nakao, 2022-06-20 This book investigates the effect of the Green Revolution GR on long term changes in the fertility status of paddy soils in tropical Asia While information on long term changes in soil fertility status are rather limited due to difficulties in obtaining past data or samples for comparison this investigation on temporal changes in soil fertility is possible by comparing fertility status in the 2010s which the authors examined recently with those from the 1960s when GR was initiated which was reported by Kawaguchi Kyuma 1977 More than 220 paddy soils collected from Thailand the Philippines Malaysia Bangladesh and Indonesia were analyzed for their physicochemical properties as well as total and available fractions of plant macro and micro essential elements and their temporal changes were examined in addition to their spatial variation in each country The most significant change was a drastic increase of available phosphorus in soils possibly due to fertilization after the GR Changes in organic matter pH and other nutrients were relatively small A considerable decrease in the content of some micronutrients was also observed Long term studies on soil fertility status in the past and present will be useful to establish soil fertilizer management for sustainable rice production in the future This book is an essential reading for soil scientists agricultural scientists environmental scientists as well as policymakers and nongovernmental officers such as FAO

Proceedings of Symposium on Paddy Soils Institute of Soil Science, Academia Sinica, 2012-12-06 China contributes a large part to rice production one of the most important crops in the world It is estimated that in China rice constitutes about half of the total food production covering an area of about 30 % of 08 hectares of cultivated land of the whole country Owing to the peculiar water regime paddy soils possess quite different properties physically chemically and biologically as compared with those of upland soils Such properties have a conspicuous effect on fertility and management practice of paddy field For the purpose of summing up the past work and opening up new prospects a Symposium on Paddy Soils was organized under the auspices of Academia Sinica held on October 19 24 1980 in Nanjing which was followed by a seven day paddy soil excursion in the lower Changjiang Delta In addition to 120 Chinese soil scientists 56 guests coming from America Asia Europe and Oceania attended the symposium on invitation A total of 110 papers were presented either orally or by poster All these are collected and published in the present proceedings which we hope may be helpful to the scientific exchanges between soil scientists of China and other countries
