Art Practice as Research Graeme Sullivan, 2010 Art Practice as Research Second Edition continues to present a compelling argument that the creative and cultural inquiry undertaken by artists is a form of research The text explores themes practices and contexts of artistic inquiry and positions them within the discourse of research Sullivan argues that legitimate research goals can be achieved by choosing different methods than those offered by the social sciences The common denominator in both approaches is the attention given to rigor and systematic inquiry Artists emphasize the role of the imaginative intellect in creating criticizing and constructing knowledge that is not only new but also has the capacity to transform human understanding The Trouble With Art Roger Sansi, Jonas Tinius, 2024-10-31 Art troubles anthropology Anthropologists have often taken a philistine sceptical position of distance towards art and aesthetics as a predominantly Western bourgeois institution But art not only as a Western institution generated its own philistine and iconoclastic revisions and undosings its anti art that have engaged anthropology into its theory and practice Anthropology is thus part of the trouble with art But trouble doesn't necessarily obfuscate it can also reveal and render visible fault lines and problems troubles can be assemblages of disparate and even contradictory parts that paradoxically do work together This volume proposes an anthropology that moves beyond philistinism and the contradictions between critical anthropologies of art and collaborative and experimental anthropologies with art American Artist ,2008 Sensations of Art-making: Triumphs, Torments and Risk-taking Purnima Ruanglertbutr, 2013-10-01 Sensations of Art making Triumphs Torments and Risk taking is an exhibition curated by Purnima Ruanglertbutr that documents the collection of works by professional artist teachers who are graduates of Melbourne University's Master of Teaching Secondary Art program The works in this show demand attention by illustrating with sensitivity the triumphs torments and risk taking inherent to professional artistic practice Each of these artists is treading the difficult pathway of moving into the world of teaching while retaining their artist identity For some this transition into the classroom is still to come For others they are one two or even three years into lesson planning staff meetings sports days and report writing Theirs is the reality of conflict between their art production and being a teacher two seemingly incompatible worlds Through participation in this exhibition they are beginning to fashion a mechanism for keeping alive their passion for art while also nurturing a career teaching art to the next generation This exhibition catalogue documents the work of early career visual art educators and insightful commentaries by the artist teachers themselves these are artworks produced during those critical first years after teacher training Some exhibits explicitly address the role of art making within the teaching process Others purposefully avoid issues to do with the classroom by illustrating the artists ongoing development of a private professional practice Either way these are critical pieces of information in the elusive phenomenon of the artist teacher Scottish Artists in an Age of Radical Change Bill Hare, 2019-08-15 The visual arts throughout the post war era have made an invaluable contribution to the cultural development of modern and contemporary Scotland Joan Eardley Alan Davie Eduardo Paolozzi Ian Hamilton Finlay Boyle Family Craigie Aitchison Barbara Rae John Bellany Alexander Moffat John McLean Bill Scott Joyce Cairns Steven Campbell Ken Currie Lys Hansen Alison Watt Douglas Gordon and Kevin Harman these are some of the artists whose work reflects the radical and complex transformations of the post war period These Scottish artists not only observed and absorbed the socio economic and technological changes taking place during this era but also devised a wide range of innovative ways to represent and creatively re present those changes and their powerful impact on our times Through a compilation of in depth interviews with the artists themselves and accompanying critical essays Bill Hare here examines the richly diverse work of these important figures in modern and contemporary visual culture revealing the intellectual power and artistic imagination of those who have created one of the greatest eras in the history of Scottish art
