Decision Analysis Howard Raiffa, 1970 Readings in Decision Analysis S. French, 2020-11-25 Provides an introduction to decision analysis This book is based upon a number of papers and articles taken from the Operational Research Society's journal and other publications However the book is not simply a collection of reprints Professor French has provided extensive notes and commentary to weave the extracts into a coherent whole Although techniques are presented the main thrust is to convey the purpose of decision analysis and the interpretation that should be placed upon its output vital topics but ones seldom discussed in introductory texts The writing is aimed at the non technical reader

Multiple Criteria Decision Analysis Valerie Belton, Theodor Stewart, 2002 The field of multiple criteria decision analysis MCDA also sometimes termed multiple criteria decision aid or multiple criteria decision making MCDM has developed rapidly over the past quarter century and in the process a number of divergent schools of thought have emerged Multiple Criteria Decision Analysis An Integrated Approach provides a comprehensive yet widely accessible overview of the main streams of thought within MCDA Two principal aims are To provide sufficient awareness of the underlying philosophies and theories understanding of the practical detail of the methods and insight into practice to enable researchers students and industry practitioners to implement MCDA methods in an informed manner To develop an integrated view of MCDA incorporating both integration of different schools of thought within MCDA and integration of MCDA with broader management theory science and practice thereby informing the development of theory and practice across these areas It is felt that this two fold emphasis gives a book which will be of value to the following three groups Practicing decision analysts or graduate students in MCDA for whom this book should serve as a state of the art review especially as regards techniques outside of their own specialization Operational researchers or graduate students in OR MS who wish to extend their knowledge into the tools of MCDA Managers or management students who need to understand what MCDA can offer them Utility, Probability, and Human Decision Making Dirk Wendt, C.A. Vlek, 1975-12-31 Human decision making involves problems which are being studied with increasing interest and sophistication They range from controversial political decisions via individual consumer decisions to such simple tasks as signal discriminations Although it would seem that decisions have to do with choices among available actions of any kind there is general agreement that decision making research should pertain to choice problems which cannot be solved without a predecisional stage of finding choice alternatives weighing evidence and judging values The ultimate objective of scientific research on decision making is two fold a to develop a theoretically sound technology for the optimal solution of decision problems and b to formulate a descriptive theory of human decision making The latter may in turn protect decision makers from being caught in the traps of their own limitations and biases Recently in decision making research the strong emphasis on well defined laboratory tasks is decreasing in favour of more realistic studies in various practical settings This may well have been caused by a growing awareness of the fact that decision behaviour is strongly determined by situational factors which makes it necessary to look into processes of interaction between the decision maker and the relevant task environment Almost inevitably there is a parallel shift of interest towards problems of utility measurement and the evaluation of consequences Theory and Practice in Policy Analysis M. Granger

Morgan, 2017-10-12 Practitioners of policy analysis will better understand the tools of their trade and the broader contexts in which analysis contributes Group Verbal Decision Analysis Alexey B. Organization and Decision Theory Ira Horowitz, 2012-12-06 Ira Horowitz Depending upon one's perspective the need to choose among alternatives can be an unwelcome but unavoidable responsibility an exciting and challenging opportunity a run of the mill activity that one performs seemingly without thinking very much about it or perhaps something in between Your most recent selections from a restaurant menu from a set of jobs or job candidates or from a rent or buy or sell or lease option are cases in point Oftentimes we are involved in group decision processes such as the choice of a president wherein one group member's unwelcome responsibility is another's exciting opportunity Many of us that voted in the presidential elections of both 1956 and 1984 irrespective of political affiliation experienced both emotions others just pulled the lever or punched the card without thinking very much about it Arriving at either an individual or a group decision can sometimes be a time consuming torturous and traumatic process that results in a long regretted choice that could have been reached right off the bat On other occasions the just let's get it over with and get out of here solution to a long festering problem can yield rewards that are reaped for many 1 ORGANIZATION AND DECISION THEORY 2 years to come One way or another however individuals and organizations somehow manage to get the decision making job done even if they don't quite understand and often question just how this was accomplished
