Gusty Lovers and Cadavers (A Raina Sun Mystery) Anne R. Tan, 2015-05-11 Gusty winds and a trail of destruction. Graduate student Raina Sun thought she knew what she was getting herself into when she volunteered to take the new foreign exchange student shopping on the last weekend before Christmas. But between a riot for the last hot toy of the season and an abandoned baby, the holiday is a season for mayhem, and sometimes it doesn't pay to be a Good Samaritan. Raina wants to reunite the infant with his family, but calling the mysterious phone number in the diaper bag leads to more questions than answers. A strange man claims to be the child's father, and his alleged mother turns up dead. The local police are more interested in keeping the town's good name out of international news than considering if there's foul play. And to make matters worse, she has less than a week to find his real parents before the FBI takes over the case. Raina summons her sleuthing skills to protect this baby and soon discovers everyone has a few skeletons in their closets. With her pimp cane,

Changing Scenes Pirjo Lyytikäinen, 2003-12-18 Six articles in Changing scenes represent the ongoing reassessment of fin de siècle literature in Finnish research The period was seen in earlier research as something of a national renaissance or golden age and interpreted in the light of its national symbols and meanings Only recently has more attention been paid to its international dimensions and its role in the modernisation of Finnish culture In particular the spotlight has been trained on the reflection in Finnish literature of manifestations of the degeneration thinking so common in Europe at that time Research has also picked out works and writers that featured less in earlier studies One modernist Finnish poet Neustadt Prize winning Paavo Haavikko is also examined in an article representing the latest Finnish research in this field

Once again, Lurlene McDaniel delivers the type of story for which she is famous, and readers everywhere will be reaching for their tissues Gender and Medieval Mysticism from India to Europe Alexandra Verini, Abir Bazaz, 2023-09-29 This book opens up a dialogue between pre-modern women identified as mystics in diverse locations from South Asia to Europe. It considers how women from the disparate religious traditions of Hinduism, Islam, and Christianity expressed devotion in parallel ways. The argument is that women's mysticism demands to be compared not because of any essential female experience of the divine, but because the parallel positions of marginalization that pre-modern women experienced led them to deploy intimate encounters with the divine to speak publicly and claim authority. The topics covered range from the Sufi devotional tradition of Sidis Indians of African ancestry to the Bhakti poet Mirabai and the nuns of Barking Abbey Collectively the chapters show how mysticism allowed premodern women to speak and act by unsettling traditional gender roles and expectations for religious behavior At the same time as uncovering connections the juxtaposition of women from different traditions serves to highlight distinctive features The book draws on a range of disciplinary expertise and will be of particular interest to scholars of medieval religion and theology as well as history and literary studies

The Ebony Exodus Project Candace R. M. Gorham, 2014-07-01 Black women are the single most religious demographic in the United States yet they are among the poorest least educated and least healthy groups in the nation Drawing on the author's own past experience as an evangelical minister and her present work as a secular counselor and researcher The Ebony Exodus Project makes a direct connection between the church and the plight of black women Through interviews with African American women who have left the church the author reveals the shame and suffering often caused by the church and the resulting happiness freedom and sense of purpose these women have felt upon walking away from it This book calls on other black women to honestly reflect on their relationship with religion and challenges them to consider that perhaps the answers to their problems rest not inside a church but in themselves
