Grundy, 1992-08-24 The urban poor suffer many problems beyond pressing financial concerns including those involving housing health and family relationships Social welfare agencies struggle to cope with the enormity of need presented by individuals and families The providers frequently lack a framework to guide their priorities and the delivery of services This volume based on the authors close and extensive collaboration with New York s Lower East Family Union affords a substantive insightful and effective approach not only to defining the services needed but also to the delivery thereof It also examines the cognitive and emotional states which the clients bring as they seek help Means are provided for establishing priority of needs assessing the value of preventive services and formulating family specific service responses Potential family dissolution and implicit child welfare concerns are viewed as especially critical and receives extensive constructive discussion Stressed poverty level families often approach helping agencies in a nearly exhausted condition The needs of such clients can only be answered and the last straw avoided if the agencies are structured to identify the most immediate needs and to supply the understanding supportive relationship and the requisite practical assistance This book with its extensive base of experience guides the process wisely It offers informed hope that the awful conditions of the urban poor can be ameliorated through better planned and effective service delivery and caring interventions Serving with the Urban Poor, 1998 Guidelines for Formulating Projects to Benefit the Urban Poor in the Developing Countries PADCO., 1976 Urban Waste and Sanitation Services for Sustainable Development Bas van Vliet, Joost van Buuren, Shaaban Mgana, 2013-11-12 Urban sanitation and solid waste sectors are under significant pressure in East Africa due to the lack of competent institutional capacity and the growth of the region s urban population This book presents and applies an original analytical approach to assess the existing socio technical mixtures of waste and sanitation systems and to ensure wider access increase flexibility and ecological sustainability It shows how the problem is not the current diversity in waste and sanitation infrastructures and services and variety of types and scales of technology of formal and informal sector involvement and of management and ownership modes The book focuses instead on the lack of an integrative approach to managing and upgrading of the various waste and sanitation configurations and services so as to ensure wider access flexibility and sustainability for the low income populations who happen to be the main stakeholders This approach coined Modernized Mixtures serves as a nexus throughout the book The empirical core addresses the waste and sanitation challenges and debates at each scale from the micro level households to the macro level international support and is based on the results of a five year long interdisciplinary empirical research program It assesses the socio technical diversity in waste and sanitation and provides viable solutions to sanitation and waste management in East Africa This book provides students researchers and professional in environmental technology sociology management and urban planning with

Lawrence Aber, 1997-11-13 Perhaps the most alarming phenomenon in American cities has been the transformation of many neighborhoods into isolated ghettos where poverty is the norm and violent crime drug use out of wedlock births and soaring school dropout rates are rampant Public concern over these destitute areas has focused on their most vulnerable inhabitants children and adolescents How profoundly does neighborhood poverty endanger their well being and development Is the influence of neighborhood more powerful than that of the family Neighborhood Poverty approaches these questions with an insightful and wide ranging investigation into the effect of community poverty on children s physical health cognitive and verbal abilities educational attainment and social adjustment This two volume set offers the most current research and analysis from experts in the fields of child development social psychology sociology and economics Drawing from national and city based sources Volume I reports the empirical evidence concerning the relationship between children and community As the essays demonstrate poverty entails a host of problems that affects the quality of educational recreational and child care services Poor neighborhoods usually share other negative features particularly racial segregation and a preponderance of single mother families that may adversely affect children Yet children are not equally susceptible to the pitfalls of deprived communities Neighborhood has different effects depending on a child's age race and gender while parenting techniques and a family's degree of community involvement also serve as mitigating factors Volume II incorporates empirical data on neighborhood poverty into discussions of policy and program development The contributors point to promising community initiatives and suggest methods to strengthen neighborhood based service programs for children Several essays analyze the conceptual and methodological issues surrounding the measurement of neighborhood characteristics These essays focus on the need to expand scientific insight into urban poverty by drawing on broader pools of ethnographic epidemiological and quantitative data Volume II explores the possibilities for a richer and more well rounded understanding of neighborhood and poverty issues To grasp the human cost of poverty we must clearly understand how living in distressed neighborhoods impairs children's ability to function at every level Neighborhood Poverty explores the multiple and complex paths between community family and childhood development These two volumes provide an indispensable guide for social policy and demonstrate the power of interdisciplinary social science to probe complex social issues

Place Matters Peter Dreier,John H. Mollenkopf,Todd Swanstrom,2004 Analyzes the problematic trends facing America s cities and older suburbs and challenges us to put America s urban crisis back on the national agenda Urban Ecclesiology Pascal D. Bazzell,2015-05-21 Pascal D Bazzell brings the marginal ecclesiology of a Filipino ecclesial community facing homelessness FECH into contemporary ecclesiological conversation in order to deepen the ecumenical understanding of today s ecclesial reality He contributes relevant data to support a theory of an ecclesial oriented paradigm that fosters ecclesial communities within homeless populations There is an extensive dialogue occurring between ecclesiologies church planting theories or urban missions and the urban poor Yet the situation with the homeless population is almost entirely overlooked The majority of urban mission textbooks do not acknowledge an ecclesial oriented state of being and suggest that the street level environment is a place where no discipleship can occur and no church should exist By presenting the FECH s case study Bazzell emphasizes that it is possible to live on the streets and to grow in the faith of God as an ecclesial community To be able to describe the FECH s ecclesial narrative Bazzell develops a local ecclesiological methodology that aims to bridge the gap between more traditional systematic and theoretical ideal ecclesiology and practical oriented ecclesiology e g congregational studies in order to hold together theological and social understandings of the church in its local reality He articulates a theological framework for the FECH to reflect on who they are the essence of identity studies who they are in relationship to God the essence of theological studies and what that means for believers in that community as they relate to God and to each other in ways that are true to who they are and to who God intends them to be the essence of ecclesial studies The research provides a seldom heard empirical tour into the FECH s social world and communal identity The theological findings from the FECH s hermeneutical work on the Gospel of Mark reveal an understanding of church being developed as gathering around Jesus that creates a space for God s presence to be embodied in their ordinary relationships and activities and to invite others to participate in that gathering Moreover it addresses ecclesial issues of the supernatural world honor shame values and further develop the neglected image of the familia Dei in classical ecclesiology that encapsulates well the FECH s nature mission and place The City-Makers Renana
