Siegfried Siegesmund, Rolf Snethlage

New Stone Architecture In Germany:

New Stone Architecture David Dernie, 2003 A discussion of stone construction and the nature of stone as a material Aimed at practising architects and students this study describes the new technologies that make the new stone forms possible This is followed by 33 case studies from around the world The Arts and Architecture of German Settlements in Missouri Charles Van Ravenswaay, 2006 Many Germans who immigrated to America in the nineteenth century settled in the lower Missouri River valley between St Charles and Boonville Missouri In this magnificent book which includes some six hundred photographs and drawings Charles van Ravenswaay examines that immigration who came how and why and surveys the distinctive Missouri German architecture art and crafts produced in the towns or on the farms of the rural counties of Cooper Cole Osage Gasconade Franklin Montgomery Warren and St Charles from the 1830s until the closing years of the century As the immigrants sought to transplant their native culture to the Missouri backwoods the compromises they were forced to make with conditions in Missouri produced many fascinating and individualistic structures and objects They built half timbered stone and brick houses and barns with designs reflecting the traditions of the many German regions from which the builders emigrated The author's far reaching study of immigrants arts and crafts included furniture in traditional peasant designs as well as the Biedermeier and eclectic styles redware and stoneware pottery textiles wood and stone carving metalwares firearms baskets musical instruments prints and paintings and identifies craftsmen working in all of these fields One chapter is devoted to the objects the immigrants brought with them from the Old World Added to this new printing of The Arts and Architecture of German Settlements in Missouri is a touching and informative introduction by Adolf E Schroeder Schroeder's long friendship with Charles van Ravenswaay allows him to reflect on the vast contributions this author made to our knowledge of Missouri's German culture Everyone interested in architecture crafts or Missouriana will find this book indispensable as they savor van Ravenswaay's excellent presentation of the craftsmen and their products against the background of the aspirations and folkways of a distinctive culture Materials for Architects and Builders Arthur Lyons, 2010-08-31 A necessary purchase for level 1 and 2 undergraduates studying building construction materials modules Materials for Architects and Builders provides an introduction to the broad range of materials used within the construction industry and contains information pertaining to their manufacture key physical properties specification and uses Construction Materials is a core module on all undergraduate and diploma construction related courses and this established textbook is illustrated in colour throughout with many photographs and diagrams to help students understand the key principles This new edition has been completely revised and updated to include the latest developments in materials appropriate technologies and relevant legislation The current concern for the ecological effects of building construction and lifetime use are reflected in the emphasis given to sustainability and recycling An additional chapter on sustainability and governmental carbon targets reinforces this issue Materials for Architects and Builders Arthur R. Lyons, 2007 Materials for Architects and Builders provides an introduction to a wide range of building materials. It explains in detail the manufacture, key physical properties, specification and uses of the standard building products everything a student would need to know. The book also describes many recent technological innovations and rediscovered materials reflecting an increased concern for environmental issues within the industry. This new edition has been completely updated to reflect the amended Building Regulations, the latest British and European Standards as well as incorporating current advice and information from the Building Research Establishment. Dr Arthur Lyons is a teacher fellow and principal lecturer in building materials at the Leicester School of Architecture within the Faculty of Art and Design at De Montfort University UK. He has taught the subject of building materials for thirty five years to a wide range of students within the built environment disciplines. The text covers the widest range of materials from standard products to ecofriendly materials and components. Up to date with respect to the latest Building Regulations and European British Standards. Well illustrated with many colour images showing typical use of the materials in high quality construction.

Stone in Architecture Siegfried Siegesmund, Rolf Snethlage, 2011-01-25. The weathering of historical buildings and indeed of monuments and sculptures of natural stone is a problem that has been encountered for hundreds of years. However, a dramatic increase in deterioration in the structure of our built heritage has been observed during the past century. To understand the complex interaction that the stone in a building suffers with its near environment, the building and the macro environment, the local climate and atmospheric conditions requires an interdisciplinary approach and the application of many disciplines. Climate change over the next 100 years is likely to have a range of direct and indirect impacts on many natural and physical environments including the built environment. The protection of our architectural heritage has both cultural and historical importance as well as substantial economic and ecological value. Large sums of money are being spent world wide on measures for the preservation of monuments and historical buildings. The past few decades have seen an unprecedented level of research activity in this area, the results of which are often difficult to access and are summarized in the new edition of STONE IN ARCHITECTURE.

The Western Architect Robert Craik McLean, 1928

Nazi Buildings, Cold War Traces and Governmentality in Post-Unification Berlin Clare Copley, 2020-05-28. Bringing together approaches from cultural and urban history as well as German studies and political theory, Clare Copley's probing study reflects on post-unification responses to iconic Nazi architecture to reveal insights into power, legitimacy and memory politics in the Berlin Republic. Analysing public debates, physical interventions into the buildings and the structuring of the memory landscapes around them, the book demonstrates that the politics of memory impact not just upon the built environment of the post-dictatorship city but upon the way decisions about it are made. In doing so, Nazi Buildings, Cold War Traces and Governmentality in Post-Unification Berlin makes the case for conceiving of a specifically post-authoritarian governmentality and uses the responses to constructions like Goering's Aviation Ministry Tempelhof Airport and the Olympic complex to explore its features.

Architecture as

Cultural and Political Discourse Daniel Grincer, 2016-02-26 This book is concerned with cultural and political discourses that affect the production of architecture It examines how these discursive mechanisms and technologies combine to normalise and aestheticise everyday practices It queries the means by which buildings are appropriated to give shape and form to political aspirations and values Architecture is not overtly political It does not coerce people to behave in certain ways However architecture is constructed within the same rules and practices whereby people and communities self govern and regulate themselves to think and act in certain ways This book seeks to examine these rules through various case studies including the reconstructed Notre Dame Cathedral the Nazi era Munich Königsplatz Auschwitz concentration camp and the Prora resort Sydney's suburban race riots and the Australian Immigration Detention Centre on Christmas Island Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, 2012 The International Studio Charles Holme, Guy Eglinton, Peyton Boswell, William Bernard McCormick, Henry James Whigham, 1928 The Builder, 1899 American Architect and the Architectural Review, 1902 Hitler's 'National Community' Lisa Pine, 2017-01-12 Lisa Pine's Hitler's National Community explores German culture and society during the Nazi era and analyses how this impacted upon the Germany that followed this fateful regime Drawing on a range of significant scholarly works on the subject Pine informs us as to the major historiographical debates surrounding the subject whilst establishing her own original interpretative arc The book is divided into four parts The first section explores the attempts of the Nazi regime to create a Volksgemeinschaft national community The second part examines men women the family the churches and religion The third section analyses the fate of those groups that were excluded from the Volksgemeinschaft The final section of the book considers the impact of the Nazi government upon German culture in particular focusing on the radio and press cinema and theatre art and architecture music and literature This new edition includes historiographical updates throughout an additional chapter on the early Nazi movement and brand new primary source excerpt boxes and illustrations There is also expanded material on key topics like resistance women and family men and masculinity and religion A crucial text for all students of Nazi Germany this book provides a sophisticated window into the social and cultural aspects of life under Hitler's rule A Handbook for Travellers in Southern Germany John Murray, 1857 Stone, 1901 American Architect and Building News, 1891 The Germans Erich Kahler, 2019-07-11 This book is intended as a characterological history of the Germans German history viewed as the formation of the German character It suggests some reasons why the term capitalism can be properly applied only to commercial development in Germany Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature Anna Lorraine Guthrie, 1915 An author subject index to selected general interest periodicals of reference value in libraries The Architect and Contract Reporter, 1902 The American Architect and Building News, 1884
