The Living Temple Carl E. Braaten, LaVonne Braaten, 2016-10-19 It's time that the body reassumed its rightful place of importance in Christian life according to Carl and LaVonne Braaten in The Living Temple In this sourcebook for a healthier way to live the authors discuss the body the foods we put into it and how Christians are to regard it Although often slighted in Christian tradition the body was not regarded by Paul and the early Church as vile flesh to be transcended but as a living metaphor of Christ and his people and as the dwelling place of the Holy Spirit The body is thus to be cared for and revered Later thinkers including Luther upheld this view But today it is increasingly difficult to fulfill this biblical ideal Junk food and drink can ravage the temple Among the many practical aspects of the Braatens discussion are What vital nutrients are currently being processed out of our foods and how they can be replaced Natural medicine s to Christianity and the foods we eat Common myths about American nutrition and why they just aren t true The principal vitamins and minerals and the function of each in proper nutrition Select bibliographies for further reading and continuing discussion follow each chapter The Living Temple is a sensible Christian application of one of our most vital concerns

Jewish American Writing and World Literature Saul Noam Zaritt,2020-10-13 Jewish American Writing and World Literature Maybe to Millions Maybe to Nobody studies Jewish American writers relationships with the idea of world literature Writers such as Sholem Asch Jacob Glatstein Isaac Bashevis Singer Anna Margolin Saul Bellow and Grace Paley all responded to a demand to write beyond local Jewish and American audiences and toward the world as a global market and as a transnational ideal Beyond fame and global circulation world literature holds up the promise of legibility in which a threatened origin becomes the site for redemptive literary creativity But this promise inevitably remains unfulfilled as writers struggle to balance potential universal achievements with untranslatable realities rendering impossible any complete arrival in the US and in the world The work examined in this study was deeply informed by an intimate connection to Yiddish a Jewish vernacular with its own global network and institutional ambitions Jewish American Writing and World Literature tracks the attempts and failures through translation to find a home for Jewish vernacularity in the institution of world literature The exploration of the translational uncertainty of Jewish American writing joins postcolonial critiques of US and world literature and challenges Eurocentric and Anglo American paradigms of literary study In bringing into conversation the fields of Yiddish studies American Studies and world literature theory Jewish American Writing and World Literature Maybe to Millions Maybe to Nobody proposes a new approach to the study of modern Jewish literatures and their implication within global empires of culture

Dreams of Other Worlds Chris Impey,Holly Henry,2016-04-19 The story of unmanned space exploration from Viking to today Dreams of Other Worlds describes the unmanned space missions that have opened new windows on distant worlds Spanning four decades of dramatic advances in astronomy and planetary science this book tells the story of eleven iconic exploratory missions and how they have fundamentally transformed our scientific and cultural perspectives on the universe and our place in it The journey begins with the Viking and Mars Exploration Rover missions to Mars which paint a startling picture of a planet at the cusp of habitability It then moves into the realm of the gas giants with the Voyager probes and Cassini s ongoing exploration of the moons of Saturn The Stardust probe s dramatic round trip encounter with a comet is brought vividly to life as are the SOHO and Hipparcos missions to study the Sun and Milky Way This stunningly illustrated book also explores how our view of the universe has been brought into sharp focus by NASA s great observatories Spitzer Chandra and Hubble and how the WMAP mission has provided rare glimpses of the dawn of creation Dreams of Other Worlds reveals how these unmanned exploratory missions have redefined what it means to be the temporary tenants of a small planet in a vast cosmos

The Carbon

Boycott Samuel C. Avery, 2020-10-05 The science is clear by the mid 20th century human beings must stop burning coal oil and natural gas Reducing carbon emissions is not enough they must be eliminated Each individual doing their part is only a start We heat our homes light our rooms power our cars prepare our food and produce and distribute consumer goods with the help of fossil fuels A practical and visionary re imagining of the future is needed Calling for a technical and spiritual ground shift this book proposes carbon boycotts as collective action with groups and communities changing what products they consume and seeking new ways to work live and play to steer aggregate demand towards solar wind geothermal and renewable energy alternatives Industrial Transmission and Conveying, 1920 Meals to Come Warren James

Hothouse Earth Stephanie Sammartino McPherson, 2021-03-02 As hurricanes droughts floods and wildfires are increasing in regularity and intensity climate change can no longer be ignored Melting permafrost forest dieback ocean acidification and other processes are creating positive feedback loops which could if not aggressively and quickly addressed spiral out of control and take global warming past the point of no return Hothouse Earth examines how science politics and social justice must all be part of the equation to counteract climate change

The Saving Grace of America's Green Jeremiad John Gatta, 2022-04-01 American nature writing characteristically embodies an appreciative lyrical evocation of the natural world But often too green disposed authors have been moved to dramatize diverse anthropogenic perils to environmental health John Gatta freshly reveals how this dark yet graced and hopeful strain of environmental literature enlarges upon a jeremiad tradition of prophecy inherited from Puritan New England Across successive historical periods such expression has assumed a rich variety of American form as creative nonfiction poetry fiction or film documentary In the spirit of ancient Hebrew prophecy jeremiads unlike diatribes reach beyond effusions of doom and gloom toward the prospect of change through a conversion of heart Accordingly the new climate fiction and much other writing steeped in what Gatta terms this Green Jeremiad tradition not only warn of material threats to life s flourishing but may also look to stir spiritual understanding and renewal
