Fighter Operations in Europe and North Africa, 1939-1945 David Wragg, 2012-02-29 Fighter Operations in Europe and North Africa 1939 1945 tells the story of Allied and German fighter pilots in Europe over the Mediterranean and in North Africa during the Second World War The book starts with the early skirmishes as each side tested the others defenses moves through the Battle of Britain and then the Blitz when the emphasis switched from single engined day fighters to twin engined night fighters while increasingly fighters were used to sweep over enemy air fields and lines of communication in occupied France This overlapped with the need to provide air cover for the besieged island fortress of Malta by day and by night as well as defensive operations against Axis forces in Crete and North Africa but as the balance of power changed in North Africa the Desert Air Force was formed incorporating elements from many Allied air forces and the emphasis moved to offensive operations in support of ground forces The invasions of Italy and the South of France also called for fighter cover initially by carrier based aircraft The lessons learnt in North Africa were put to good use by the 2nd Allied Tactical Air Force which accompanied the advancing allied armies towards and eventually into Germany achieving all important air supremacy which was a major factor in the Allied victory The book also covers Luftwaffe fighter pilots as they sought to stop the RAF by night and the USAAF by day against increasingly overwhelming odds Tony's war Britta von Zweigbergk, 2007 These British Isles of ours are populated by people who originate from throughout the world from North South East and West Individually or as family groups they will have come to start a new life to escape from persecution hunger or despair It is our strength because somehow we learn to adapt ourselves to meet our own and other s needs no matter how daunting they may be Tony and Nita Zweigbergk learned to do just that during their very different childhood and teenage years Then they met and fell in love Then along came World War II We are privileged to share these experiences plus by reading between the lines we are able to share the boredom depression comradeship fun fear and sorrow that became the life of those who lived on the edge of life and death to ensure our precious freedom RAF fighter units, Europe, April 1942-45 Bryan Philpott, 1978

Thorning, 2014-08-15 Operation

Oyster was carried out on the 6th December 1942 by 2 Group RAF. Considered to be a notable success for the allies, it cost the Germans an estimated six months of lost production time at a critical point in the conflict. It is arguable according to the authors that the operation was in fact rather more significant than Operation Chastise, the Dambuster raid, while accepting that was a remarkable feat of arms. Operation Oyster struck at the very heart of what Churchill termed the wizard war against German radio navigational technology by attacking a central hub of activity, the Philips Radio Works in Eindhoven, The Netherlands. The development of electronics in WWII was the most significant technical aspect of weaponry over the course of the conflict. On both sides, there were great advances in radar and communications, which at that time depended on the wide scale use of high frequency radio valves. Few companies had the technology to produce these, but the leading one in Europe was Philips in Eindhoven. Thus it was determined that Philips was the most important target. Ninety-three allied aircraft took part, and a total of fourteen were lost. But the result in terms of damages to the enemy was considerable, hindering the German war effort significantly and consequently aiding the allies. Despite these facts, however, the story of the raid has been underreported, and the efforts of the aircrew who took part have been little recognized. By comparison, the Dambuster raid, which came six months later, has entered into folklore. Here for the first time, the overlooked Oyster raid is afforded the attention it deserves.

Each squadron is traced from its beginning through 5 March 1963, the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the 1st Aero later Bombardment Squadron, the first Army unit to be equipped with aircraft for tactical operations. For each squadron, there is a statement of the official lineage and data on the unit's assignments, stations, aircraft, and missiles, operations, service streamers, campaign participation, decorations, and emblem.
