Service Industries in Regional Development William J. Coffey,James John McRae,1989 This document presents a broad empirical picture of the national regional and urban structure of the Canadian economy It identifies the factors which may be causing the relative shift towards employment in service industries and occupations and shows that the lack of actual data on interregional flows of service outputs effectively precludes the empirical testing of regional general equilibrium models involving service industries It concludes by bringing forth the regional policy implications embedded in the conceptual and empirical work on service industries

The Service Sector in Soviet Economic Growth Gur Ofer,1973 Comparison of the service sector in the USSR and abroad maintains that the small share of the service sector in the soviet economy is due chiefly to the socialist economic system and to its economic growth strategy covers theoretical aspects industrial aspects the industrial structure service labour force the service gap in commerce etc and relies primarily on data for the period up to 1968 Bibliography references and statistical tables

Service Industries and Regions Juan R. Cuadrado-Roura,2013-03-26 The service sector in most advanced economies accounts for up to seventy percent of employment and GDP and given its growing importance has received much research attention over the last two decades However not very much attention has been paid to the relationship between this sector and both its territorial impact and regional effects The main objective of this book is to offer a comprehensive approach to these aspects focusing particularly on the location factors of service industries and the importance of some specific services such as business services and knowledge and information services The contributions have been prepared by well known experts in the field from a wide number of countries The focus of all contributions is not only on theoretical aspects but also provides empirical analyses on specific countries and topics such as the geographical concentration globalization impacts foreign direct investments and innovation
