Seven Little Billabongs Brenda Niall, 1979 The writers The world of the novels and Domestic Fiction in Colonial Australia and New Zealand Tamara S Wagner, 2015-10-06 Colonial domestic literature has been largely overlooked and is due for a reassessment This essay collection explores attitudes to colonialism imperialism and race as well as important developments in girlhood and the concept of the New Woman My Accidental Career Brenda Niall, 2022-03-01 Australia's leading biographer Brenda Niall now in her nineties turns the spotlight on her own story in this fascinating memoir of a remarkable life and career Joan Lindsay Brenda Niall, 2025-02-04 One of Australia's foremost biographers examines the life of Joan Lindsay the author of one of Australia's most enduring novels Picnic at Hanging Rock A History of the Book in Australia, 1891-1945 Martyn Lyons, John Arnold, 2001 Collection of essays and case studies outlining Australian book production and consumption from the 1880s to the end of World War II Explores all aspects of print culture including authorship editing design and printing publication distribution bookselling libraries and reading habits Includes photos contributor notes bibliography and index Two further books in the A History of the Book in Australia project are planned Lyons is Professor of History at the University of New South Wales He has previously written with Lucy Taksa Australian Readers Remember Arnold is Deputy Director of the National Centre for Australian Studies Monash University He has previously co-edited the Biography of Australian Literature A-E Victorian Narratives of Failed Emigration Tamara S Wagner, 2016-05-26 In her study of the unsuccessful nineteenth century emigrant Tamara S Wagner argues that failed emigration and return drive nineteenth century writing in English in unexpected culturally revealing ways Wagner highlights the hitherto unexplored subgenre of anti emigration writing that emerged as an important counter current to a pervasive emigration propaganda machine that was pressing popular fiction into its service The exportation of characters at the end of a novel indisputably formed a convenient narrative solution that at once mirrored and exaggerated public policies about so called superfluous or redundant parts of society Yet the very convenience of such pat endings was increasingly called into question New starts overseas might not be so easily realizable emigration destinations failed to live up to the inflated promises of pro emigration rhetoric the unwanted might make a surprising reappearance Wagner juxtaposes representations of emigration in the works of Charles Dickens Wilkie Collins Frances Trollope and Charlotte Yonge with Australian New Zealand and Canadian settler fiction by Elizabeth Murray Clara Cheeseman and Susanna Moodie offering a new literary history not just of nineteenth century migration but also of transoceanic exchanges and genre formation White Vanishing Elspeth Tilley, 2012-01-01 The story of the vulnerable white person vanishing without trace into the harsh Australian landscape is a potent and compelling element in multiple genres of mainstream Australian culture It has been sung in Little Boy Lost brought to life on the big screen in Picnic at Hanging Rock immortalized in Henry Lawson's poems of lost tramps and preserved in the history books tales of Leichhardt or Burke and Wills wandering in mad circles A world wide audience has also witnessed the many layered and oddly strident nature of Australian disappearance symbolism in media coverage of contemporary disappearances such as those of Azaria Chamberlain and Peter Falconio White Vanishing offers a revealing and challenging re examination of Australian disappearance mythology exposing the political utility at its core Drawing on wide ranging examples of the white vanishing myth the book provides evidence that disappearance mythology encapsulates some of the most dominant and durable categories at the heart of white Australian culture and that many of those ideas have their origin in colonial mechanisms of inequality and oppression White Vanishing deliberately and perhaps controversially reminds readers that while power is never absolute or irresistible some narrative threads carry a particularly authoritative inheritance of ideas and power relations through time Narrator's Voice Barbara Wall,2016-01-07

Young People and the Shaping of Public Space in Melbourne, 1870-1914 Simon Sleight,2016-02-11 Baby booms have a long history In 1870 colonial Melbourne was perspiring juvenile humanity with an astonishing 42 per cent of the city's inhabitants aged 14 and under a demographic anomaly resulting from the gold rushes of the 1850s Within this context Simon Sleight enters the heated debate concerning the future prospects of Young Australia and the place of the colonial child within the incipient Australian nation Looking beyond those institutional sites so often assessed by historians of childhood he ranges across the outdoor city to chart the relationship between a discourse about youth youthful experience and the shaping of new urban spaces Play street work consumerism courtship gang related activities and public parades are examined using a plethora of historical sources to reveal a hitherto hidden layer of city life Capturing the voices of young people as well as those of their parents Sleight alerts us to the ways in which young people shaped the emergent metropolis by appropriating space and attempting to impress upon the city their own desires Here a dynamic youth culture flourished well before the discovery of the teenager in the mid twentieth century here young people and the city grew up together The Cambridge History of Australian Literature Peter Pierce,2009-09-17 Draws on scholarship from leading figures in the field and spans Australian literary history from colonial origins indigenous and migrant literatures as well as representations of Asia and the Pacific and the role of literary culture in modern Australian society The Cambridge Companion to Australian Literature Elizabeth Webby,2000-08-21 This book introduces in a lively and succinct way the major writers literary movements styles and genres that at the beginning of a new century are seen as constituting the field of Australian literature The book consciously takes a perspective that sees literary works not as aesthetic objects created in isolation by unique individuals but as cultural products influenced and constrained by the social political and economic circumstances of their times as well as by geographical and environmental factors It covers indigenous texts colonial writing and reading poetry fiction and theatre throughout two centuries biography and autobiography and literary criticism in Australia Other features of the companion are a chronology listing significant historical and literary events and suggestions for further reading James Smith Lurline Stuart,2023-05-03 James Smith 1989 is study of this hitherto neglected maker of colonial culture and traces the rise and decline of the transplanted ideas and values that Smith and many of his fellow immigrants to Australia upheld. It reveals the remarkable vigour with which Smith set about making a new society out of the legacy of the old and which saw the transformation of Melbourne from gold rush town to Australia's largest and most influential city in the new Federation.

Friends and Rivals Brenda Niall, 2020-03-31 The story of four remarkable women traversing the literary landscape of the late 19th and early 20th centuries in Australia from one of our nation's most eminent historians 'The Right Thing to Read' Bronwyn Lowe, 2018-03-09 The Right Thing to Read A History of Australian Girl Readers 1910-1960 explores the reading habits, identity and construction of femininity of Australian girls aged between ten and fourteen from 1910 to 1960. It investigates changing notions of Australian girlhood across the period and explores the ways that parents, teachers, educators, journalists and politicians attempted to mitigate concerns about girls' development through the promotion of healthy literature. The book also addresses the influence of British publishers to Australian girl readers and the growing importance of Australian publishers throughout the period. It considers the rise of Australian literary nationalism in the global context and the increasing prominence of Australian literature in the period after the Second World War. It also shows how access to reading material improved for girls over the first half of the last century. Can You Hear the Sea? Brenda Niall, 2017-10-30 An affectionate tribute to someone who quietly but firmly shaped her own place in the world. Books Publishing. Brenda Niall has turned her biographer's eye to a personal subject: her grandmother Aggie. She tells the story of a fiercely independent and intelligent woman who braved a new country as a single woman, teaching in a country school before marrying a Riverina grazier whose large, powerful family was wary of the newcomer with ideas of her own. Aggie dealt with hardships and loneliness after the early and drawn-out death of her husband and brought up her seven children to be happy all with a calm determination. But it was the memory box and her longing for the sea that captured the imagination of her granddaughter. Brenda Niall is one of Australia's foremost biographers. She is the author of five award-winning biographies, including her acclaimed accounts of the Boyd family. In 2016 she won the Australian Literature Society's Gold Medal and the National Biography Award for Mannix. Brenda has degrees from the University of Melbourne, the Australian National University and Monash University. In 2004 she was awarded the Order of Australia for services to Australian literature as an academic biographer and literary critic. She frequently reviews for the Age, Sydney Morning Herald and Australian Book Review. Can You Hear the Sea? creates a portrait from other kinds of evidence of a woman whose silence sealed her most intimate moments. With a light touch, Niall looks at her grandmother's life through the prism of the imaginative world in which she was immersed. Aggie's is a story of independence and grit, understated, necessary, uncelebrated. Australian Aggie's gift of the shell and the empty box put two questions to Brenda Niall. They also addressed her craft and her desire: Could she recreate the sounds and feel of the past out of unpromising materials, and could she fill the empty box while recognising that it remained empty? This book answers both questions with assurance. One might hope that among the next generation of Aggie's descendants another young person will hear in it the sea that flows into story telling Eureka Street Niall's beautifully told tale will have echoes in thousands of other Australian families SA Weekend Gentle and engaging biography Aggie was undoubtedly a remarkable and intelligent woman and this book is a lovely testament to her life Good Reading Insightful Yours Niall is clear about her process asking questions noting gaps offering her own memories with an easy blend of intimacy and distance in an authoritative yet conversational voice Niall writes with respect for a woman who built a dynasty across centuries was adventurous and stable traditional and ahead of her time English and embodied the best of Australia Australian Book Review Agnes's story charts the changing role of women in the colonies the impact of the world wars and the rise and fall of family fortunes Niall's beautifully told tale will have echoes in thousands of other Australian families SA Weekend Niall's skill is to listen with a discerning ear to acknowledge the views and to seek always the social political and historical context and influences Her craft as a skilled biographer gives her grandmother a fresh life one that will resonate with many in families of similar background but wider than that provide another piece in the picture of the European settlement of Australasia Otago Daily Times A fascinating subject Hopefully people still find ways to write biographies that so adeptly capture the particularity of lived experience Saturday Paper

Reading Race Clare Bradford, 2013-05-09 How do children's books relate to the cultures that produce them and how do they influence those cultures In Reading Race Clare Bradford looks at representations of Australia's indigenous peoples in texts for children She shows how these varying representations have helped to colour the attitudes beliefs and assumptions of different generations of Australians To what extent have children's books enabled readers to understand Aboriginal culture relations between Aboriginal and non Aboriginal people and relationships between Aboriginality and national identity Bradford draws on examples from popular and literary children's books of all genres fiction non fiction picture books and school texts She reveals that many children's books display the tensions and uncertainties inherent in relations between Aboriginal and non Aboriginal people Bradford also uncovers the different ideologies of race that have informed Australian children's texts from the nineteenth century to currently popular writers demonstrating cultural shifts in the representation of Aboriginality over time The result is a ground breaking and intelligent picture of how Australian children's books by both white and Aboriginal writers have negotiated the matter of race Reading Race will enhance the ways in which we come to read and understand the complex and delicate issues around Aboriginal white relations It will be an invaluable resource in the fields of post colonial studies Indigenous and Aboriginal studies literary and cultural studies and children's literature
