Celibacy, Seminary Formation, and Catholic Clerical Sexual Abuse Vivencio O. Ballano, 2024-04-30 Does the current celibate semi monastic and all male seminary formation contribute to the persistence of clerical sexual abuse in the Roman Catholic Church Applying sociological theories on socialization total institutions and social resistance as the primary conceptual framework and drawing on secondary literature media reports the author's experience interviews and Church documents this book argues that the Catholic Church's institution of the celibate seminary formation as the only mode of clerical training for Catholic priests has resulted in negative unintended consequences to human formation such as the suspension of normal human socialization in society psychosexual immaturity and weak social control against clerical sexual abuse The author thus contends that celibate training while suitable for those who do live in religious or monastic communities is inappropriate for those who are obliged to live alone and work in parishes As such an alternative model for diocesan clerical formation is advanced A fresh look at the aptness and effects of celibate formation for diocesan clergy this volume is the first to relate the persistence of Catholic clerical sexual abuse to celibate seminary formation exploring the structural links between the two using sociological arguments and proposing an apprenticeship based model of formation which has numerous advantages as a form of clerical training It will therefore appeal to scholars and students of religion sociology and theology as well as those involved with seminary formation made in the name of so called Christian values and biblical views on sex and sexuality These are often given from moral ethical perspectives and seemingly very prescriptive who should have sex with whom when sex should take place which purposes sex should serve and especially when sex is wrong Moreover often there is little or no recognition of the complexities surrounding human sexuality resulting in what appears to be a blueprint for sexuality applicable to all persons This volume contains fourteen theological and ethical reflections by South African scholars on human sexuality with the aim of exploring what a sexual reformation within Christian dialogue might entail Presented in three sections namely systematic theological reflections biblical reflections and ethical reflections the essays represent a range of topics from a variety of perspectives Luther and marriage sexual abuse in the Catholic Church body theology and the sexual revolution reproductive technologies sexuality and reproduction reproductive loss hermeneutical choices and gender reformation in South Africa queer engagements with bra Joseph explorations on Paul and sex rape culture and violent deities the church s moral authority and sexual ethics practical theological considerations regarding infertility empirical research on masculinities in Zambia and the lived experience of transgender people in African Independent Churches
