City, Climate, and Architecture Sascha Roesler, 2025-01-27 Second and revised edition

The publication rethinks climate control a key concern of the discipline of architecture through the lens of city climate phenomena over the course of the 20th century Based on a history of climate control on urban scales it promotes the integration of indoors and outdoors in order to reduce environmental and thermal loads in cities Just as heating and cooling practices inside the buildings are affecting the urban climate outdoors urban heat islands are influencing the energy requirements and thermal conditions inside the buildings While the first part of the book focuses on the interwar period in Europe the publication s second part considers examples from all over the globe tracing the growing significance of ecological thinking for the design of urban environments Main outcome of a six years research project on architecture and urban climate funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation New and revised edition KLIMA POLIS a series highlighting design driven approaches to urban climates across the globe Architecture & Sustainable Development (vol.2) Magali Bodart, Arnaud Evrard, 2011-07 This book of Proceedings presents the latest thinking and research in the rapidly evolving world of architecture and sustainable development through 255 selected papers by authors coming from over 60 countries

Climate Considerations in Building and Urban Design Baruch Givoni, 1998-01-20 Climate Considerations in Building and Urban Design Baruch Givoni Climate Considerations in Building and Urban Design is the most comprehensive up to date reference available on building and urban climatology Written in clear common sense language by Baruch Givoni the leading authority in the field this book is a far reaching look at a variety of climatic influences and their effects on individuals buildings and communities Aimed at architecture and urban planning professionals and students alike Climate Considerations in Building and Urban Design offers real life solutions to climatological site planning and design issues helping to settle disputes about site orientation site organization and the assembly of building materials Climate Considerations in Building and Urban Design is organized into three parts The first Building Climatology analyzes human thermal comfort and the effect of architectural and structural design features including layout window orientation and shading and ventilation conditions on the indoor climate Then Urban Climatology explores the ways in which the climate in densely built areas can differ from surrounding regional climatic conditions for example in temperature wind speed and humidity This part further explores the effects of urban design elements such as urban density and building height on a city s outdoor climate Finally Building and Urban Design Guidelines applies the body of available research on building climatology and the effects of physical planning on the urban and indoor climates to suggest design guidelines for different regions for example hot dry and hot humid climates Filled with lists tables and graphs for easy cross referencing as well as hundreds of visuals Climate Considerations in Building and Urban Design offers readers the ability to perform a quick check of a proposed scheme against authoritative criteria Mr Givoni's latest volume is a unique indispensable guide to the relationship between building design urban planning and climate An Urban Approach To Climate Sensitive Design Rohinton Emmanuel, 2012-08-06 The need to respond to the rapidly changing city climate is particularly urgent in the tropics where the urban transition is currently at its peak While the need is clearly felt by the tropical urban dwellers texts that provide an overview of the problem and indicate possible design solutions are rare This comprehensive reference will be welcomed by student and practising architects as well as other built environment professionals engaged with the environmental effects of building in worldwide warm and humid climates Energy Accounts Dan Willis, William Braham, Katsuhiko

Muramoto, Daniel Barber, 2016-06-23 How does one tell the story of energy production use or conservation in a manner sufficiently convincing to influence policy behavior and design Energy Accounts explores potential answers to this question through compelling images data visualizations narratives and other examples of accounting for energy Organized into a collection containing both examples of best practices and critiques this impressive array of projects and contributors combines text and graphic material to explore different representations of energy data Including work from Kieran Timberlake SHoP AMO Lateral Office WOHA and many more the book boasts a unique graphic design which supports and enhances its role as a valuable resource for professionals and students in architecture engineering and urban design

Drawing Climate Daniel Ryan, Jennifer Ferng, Erik L'Heureux, 2021-11-08 Ephemeral phenomena like fire precipitation shade and wind have emerged as important contemporary protagonists for environmental design due to their dynamic impact on buildings and cities The importance of including these forces in architecture has gained rapid momentum in the global quest for sustainability This book investigates the history theory and applications of climatic design in the built environment examining architecture and landscapes from various time periods Based on a collaboration between the University of Sydney and the National University of Singapore the book brings together contributing authors from Australia Singapore and the United States Dry Wet Cool and Hot divide the book into categories through which a wide array of representational topics are covered from dust storms and clouds to ice and bushfires A concluding section presents project examples for exploratory application in the design of architecture Muqarnas, Volume 27 Gülru Necipoğlu, 2010-11-11

Muqarnas An Annual on the Visual Cultures of the Islamic World is sponsored by the Aga Khan Program for Islamic Architecture at Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Cambridge Massachusetts The articles in Muqarnas 27 address topics such as spolia in medieval Islamic architecture Islamic coinage in the seventh century the architecture of the Alhambra from an environmental perspective and Ottoman Mamluk gift exchange in the fifteenth century The volume also features a new section entitled Notes and Sources with pieces highlighting primary sources such as Akbar's Kath sarits gara Contributors include Ebba Koch Elizabeth Lambourn Elias Muhanna Rina Avner Kathryn Moore Alicia Walker Todd Willmert Julia Gonnella

Zeynep Ertu Jere Bacharach Persis Berlekamp Heike Franke Vincenza Garofalo and Fabrizio Agnello Sustainable Vernacular Architecture Ali Sayigh, 2019-03-29 This book discusses applying vernacular strategies to modern architectural design to adhere to basic green principles of energy efficiency and materials utilization Written from an international perspective chapters present the perspectives and experiences of architects and engineers from across the globe Historically successful approaches are integrated with modern design concepts to create novel sustainable and resource conscious solutions The scope of topics covered include natural ventilation cooling and heating daylight and shading devices and green micro climate and functional facades making this a useful reference for a wide range of researchers and workers in the built environment Covers the most up to date research developments best practices and innovations from countries all over the globe Presents the latest research in vernacular architecture and sustainable building Contains case studies and examples to enhance practical application of the technologies presented Historic Indoor Microclimate of the Heritage Buildings Marco Pretelli, Kristian Fabbri, 2017-10-24 Offering readers essential insights into the relationship between ancient buildings their original and current indoor microclimates this book details how the generally virtuous relationship between buildings and their typical microclimate changed due to the introduction of new heating ventilation and air conditioning HVAC systems in historic buildings The new approach to the study of their Historic Indoor Microclimate HIM put forward in this book is an essential component to monitoring and evaluating building and artefact conservation Highlighting the advantages of adopting an indoor microclimatic approach to the preservation of existing historic materials by studying the original conditions of the buildings the book proposes a new methodology linking the preservation restoration of the historic indoor microclimate with diachronic analysis for the optimal preservation of historic buildings Further it discusses a number of frequently overlooked topics such as the simple and well coordinated opening and closing of windows an example extracted from a real case study In turn the authors elaborate the concept of an Historic Indoor Microclimate HIM based on Original Indoor Microclimate OIM which proves useful in identifying the optimal conditions for preserving the materials that make up historic buildings The book's main goal is to draw attention to the advantages of an indoor microclimatic approach to the preservation of existing historic materials manufacture by studying the original conditions of the buildings The introduction of new systems in historic buildings not only has a direct traumatic effect on the actual building and its components but also radically changes one of its vital immaterial elements the Indoor Microclimate Architects restorers and engineers will find that the book addresses the monitoring of the indoor microclimate in selected historic buildings that have managed to retain their original state due to the absence of new HVAC systems and reflects on the advantages of a renewed attention to these aspects Modern Architecture and Climate Daniel A. Barber, 2023-04-11 How climate influenced the design strategies of modernist architects Modern Architecture and Climate explores how leading architects of the twentieth century incorporated climate mediating strategies into their designs and shows how regional approaches to climate adaptability were essential to the development of modern architecture Focusing on the period surrounding World War II before fossil fuel powered air conditioning became widely available Daniel Barber brings to light a vibrant and dynamic architectural discussion involving design materials and shading systems as means of interior climate control He looks at projects by well known architects such as Richard Neutra Le Corbusier Lcio Costa Mies van der Rohe and Skidmore Owings and Merrill and the work of climate focused architects such as MMM Roberto Olgyay and Olgyay and Cliff May Drawing on the editorial projects of James Marston Fitch Elizabeth Gordon and others he demonstrates how images and diagrams produced by architects helped conceptualize climate knowledge alongside the work of meteorologists physicists engineers and social scientists Barber describes how this novel type of environmental media catalyzed new ways of thinking about climate and architectural design Extensively illustrated with archival material Modern Architecture and Climate provides global perspectives on modern architecture and its evolving relationship with a changing climate showcasing designs from Latin America Europe the United States the Middle East and Africa This timely and important book reconciles the cultural dynamism of architecture with the material realities of ever increasing carbon emissions from the mechanical cooling systems of buildings and offers a historical foundation for today s zero carbon design

Carbon-Neutral Architectural Design Pablo M. La Roche,2024-05-31 The energy used to build and operate buildings is a significant source of greenhouse gas emissions While it is possible to reduce emissions through low carbon design many architects are not trained to do this Filling an urgent need for a design reference in this emerging field this book describes how to reduce building related greenhouse gas emissions through appropriate design techniques It presents strategies to achieve CO2 reductions with an emphasis on control of energy flows through the building envelope and passive cooling and heating strategies This new revised edition is updated throughout and includes a new section on embodied carbon and new chapters on daylighting and nature based cooling Features Adds new chapters on daylighting and nature based cooling with numerous updates throughout the rest of the chapters Presents strategies illustrated with examples for new construction and existing buildings to reduce energy consumption and reduce emissions Explains the origins of CO2 emissions associated with the operation and fabrication of buildings supplying water disposing of waste from the building and proposes strategies to reduce them Covers carbon calculations thermal comfort indigenous technology climate responsive design passive cooling and heating solar design air flow analysis daylighting building simulation and microclimate design with abundant examples Examines siting location to design buildings that adapt and mitigate their effect on climate change

Architecture - Comfort and Energy M. Sala, C. Gallo, A. A. M. Sayigh, 1999-02-22 In this book we seek to approach the architecture energy combination and its relationship to human comfort and the environment There are chapters on thermal comfort low energy architecture dealing with various criterion for comfort in different parts of the World The book also seeks to understand how previous generations lived in harsh climates and without abundant sources of energy yet managed to design and build appropriate dwellings providing both comfort and harmony with the environment Other chapters deal with the bioclimatic concept in Vernacular Architecture the major role which climate plays at different locations and how this can dictate the shape and form of the buildings and save energy the importance of micro climate and its various elements and usage ventilation and its importance in buildings and the technology for modern architecture
