The wildlife garden , Cultivating Sacred Space Elizabeth Murray,1997 Linda Greenlaw hadn t been blue water fishing for ten years since the great events chronicled in The Perfect Storm and The Hungry Ocean when an old friend offered her the captaincy on his boat Seahawk for a season of swordfishing She took the bait of course and thus opened a new chapter in a life that had already seen enough adventure for three lifetimes The Seahawk turns out to be the rustiest of buckets with sprung busted and ancient equipment guaranteed to fail at any critical moment Life is never dull out on the Grand Banks and no one is better at capturing the flavor and details of the wild ride that is swordfishing from the technical complexities of longline fishing and the nuances of reading the weather and waves to the sheer beauty of the open water The trip is full of surprises a bit harder and saltier than I had hoped for but none more unexpected than when the boat s lines inadvertently drift across the Canadian border and she lands in jail Seaworthy is about nature human and other about learning what you can control and what you do when fate takes matters out of your control It s about how a middle aged woman who sets a high bar for herself copes with challenge and change and frustration about the struggle to succeed or fail on your own terms and above all about learning how to find your true self when you re caught between land and sea A Philosopher Looks at the Natural World Daniel C. Fouke,2021-08-10 This book interweaves the author s personal story and observations of nature with scientific research and philosophical reflection It tells the story of nearly three decades of labor to ecologically restore twenty one acres of ruined land near Dayton Ohio This story and what the author has observed motivate reflection on the human relationship to soil the inner lives of animals the intelligence of plants and human psychology The book advances the case for the intelligence and kinship of all living things an ethic of respect for life and the need to radically rethink how human societies live on Earth Restoring the Tallgrass Prairie Shirley Shirley,1994-09 Iowa is the only state that lies entirely within the natural region of the tallgrass prairie Early documents indicate that 95 percent of the state close to 30 million acres was covered by prairie vegetation at the time of Euro American settlement By 1930 the prairie sod had been almost totally converted to cropland only about 30 000 acres of the original great green sea remained Now in this gracefully illustrated manual Shirley Shirley has created a step by step guide to reconstructing the natural landscape of Iowa and the Upper Midwest Chapters on planning obtaining and selecting plants and seeds starting seeds indoors preparing the site planting and maintenance set the stage for comprehensive species accounts Shirley gives firsthand information on soil moisture sun and pH requirements location size and structure blooming time and color and propagation germination and harvesting for more than a hundred wildflowers and grasses Shirley's sketches all drawn from native plants and from seedlings that she grew herself will be valuable for even the most experienced gardener While other books typically feature only the flowering plant her careful drawings show the three stages of the seedlings the flower and the seedhead with seeds as well as the entire plant This practical and attractive volume will help anyone dedicated to reconstructing the lost emerald growth of the historic tallgrass prairie

The Culture of Wilderness Frieda Knobloch, 2000-11-09 In this innovative work of cultural and technological history Frieda Knobloch describes how agriculture functioned as a colonizing force in the American West between 1862 and 1945 Using agricultural textbooks USDA documents and historical accounts of western settlement she explores the implications of the premise that civilization progresses by bringing agriculture to wilderness Her analysis is the first to place the trans Mississippi West in the broad context of European and classical Roman agricultural history Knobloch shows how western land plants animals and people were subjugated in the name of cultivation and improvement Illuminating the cultural significance of plows livestock trees grasses and even weeds she demonstrates that discourse about agriculture portrays civilization as the emergence of a colonial socially stratified and bureaucratic culture from a primitive feminine and unruly wilderness Specifically Knobloch highlights the displacement of women from their historical role as food gatherers and producers and reveals how Native American land use patterns functioned as a form of cultural resistance Describing the professionalization of knowledge Knobloch concludes that both social and biological diversity have suffered as a result of agricultural progress
