Ronald Loewe, 2010-01-01 This multifaceted and beautifully written ethnography of Maxcanu a small Maya town in the Yucatan region of Mexico offers both an historical and a contemporary understanding of the way external pressures to modernize are often met with forms of resistance that are rooted in rituals and oral tradition The Maya of the Yucatan have long been drawn into the Mexican state s attempt to create modern Mexican citizens mestizos They have also been drawn into the North American and global economy through agriculture and more recently tourism and US based evangelical organizations Despite the many pressures to turn Mayas into mestizos the citizens of Maxcanu use subtle forms of resistance including humour satire and language to maintain aspects of their traditional identity Maya or Mestizo skilfully weaves the history of Mexico into a compelling tale of a community caught between tradition and modernity Indigenous Bodies, Maya Minds C.

James MacKenzie, 2016-04-07 Indigenous Bodies Maya Minds examines tension and conflict over ethnic and religious identity in the K'iche' Maya community of San Andrés Xecul in the Guatemalan Highlands and considers how religious and ethnic attachments are sustained and transformed through the transnational experiences of locals who have migrated to the United States. Author C. James MacKenzie explores the relationship among four coexisting religious communities within Highland Maya villages in contemporary Guatemala: costumbre (traditionalist) religion with a shamanic substrate, Enthusiastic Christianity, versions of Charismaticism and Pentecostalism, an inculturated and Mayanized version of Catholicism, and a purified and antisyncretic Maya Spirituality, with attention to the modern and nonmodern worldviews that sustain them. He introduces a sophisticated set of theories to interpret both traditional religion and its relationship to other contemporary religious options, analyzing the relation among these various worldviews in terms of the indigenization of modernity and the various ways modernity can be apprehended as an intellectual project or an embodied experience. Indigenous Bodies Maya Minds investigates the way an increasingly plural religious landscape intersects with ethnic and other identities. It will be of interest to Mesoamerican and Mayan ethnographers as well as students and scholars of cultural anthropology, indigenous cultures, globalization, and religion.

Mortuary Landscapes of the Classic Maya Andrew K. Scherer, 2015-11-15 From the tombs of the elite to the graves of commoners, mortuary remains offer rich insights into Classic Maya society. In Mortuary Landscapes of the Classic Maya: Rituals of Body and Soul, the anthropological archaeologist and bioarchaeologist Andrew K. Scherer explores the broad range of burial practices among the Maya of the Classic period (AD 250-900), integrating information gleaned from his own fieldwork with insights from the fields of iconography, epigraphy, and ethnography to illuminate this society's rich funerary traditions. Scherer's study of burials along the Usumacinta River at the Mexican-Guatemalan border and in the Central Petén region of Guatemala—areas that include Piedras Negras, El K'in, El Zotz, and Yaxha—reveals commonalities and differences among royal elite and commoner mortuary practices. By analyzing skeletons containing dental and cranial modifications as well as the adornments of interred bodies, Scherer probes Classic Maya conceptions of body, wellness, and the afterlife. Scherer also moves beyond the body to look at the spatial orientation of the burials and their integration into the architecture of Maya communities. Taking a unique interdisciplinary approach, the author examines how Classic Maya deathways can expand our understanding of this society's beliefs and traditions, making Mortuary Landscapes of the Classic Maya an important step forward in Mesoamerican archaeology.

Memory Traces Laura M. Amrhein, Cynthia Kristan-Graham, 2015-10-28 In Memory Traces, art historians and archaeologists come together to examine the nature of sacred space in Mesoamerica. Through five well-known and important centers of political power and artistic invention in Mesoamerica—Teotihuacan, Tula, Grande Tula, the Mound of the Building Columns at El Tajín, the House of the Phalli at Chichén Itz', and Tonina—contributors explore the process of recognizing and defining sacred space, how sacred spaces were viewed and used both physically and symbolically, and what theoretical approaches are most useful for art historians and archaeologists seeking to understand these places Memory Traces acknowledges that the creation use abandonment and reuse of sacred space has a strongly recursive relation to collective memory and meanings linked to the places in question and reconciles issues of continuity and discontinuity of memory in ancient Mesoamerican sacred spaces It will be of interest to students and scholars of Mesoamerican studies and material culture art historians architectural historians and cultural anthropologists
