Greek and Roman Textiles and Dress Mary Harlow, Marie-Louise Nosch, 2014-09-30 Twenty chapters present the range of current research into the study of textiles and dress in classical antiquity stressing the need for cross and inter disciplinary study in order to gain the fullest picture of surviving material Issues addressed include the importance of studying textiles to understand economy and landscape in the past different types of embellishments of dress from weaving techniques to the late introduction of embroidery the close links between the language of ancient mathematics and weaving the relationships of iconography to the realities of clothed bodies including a paper on the ground breaking research on the polychromy of ancient statuary dye recipes and methods of analysis case studies of garments in Spanish Viennese and Greek collections which discuss methods of analysis and conservation analyses of textile tools from across the Mediterranean discussions of trade and ethnicity to the workshop relations in Roman fulleries Multiple aspects of the production of textiles and the social meaning of dress are included here to offer the reader an up to date account of the state of current research The volume opens up the range of questions that can now be answered when looking at fragments of textiles and examining written and iconographic images of dressed individuals in a range of media The volume is part of a pair together with Prehistoric Ancient Near Eastern and Aegean Textiles and Dress an interdisciplinary anthology edited by Mary Harlow Cile Michel and Marie Louise Nosch Collection Care/Sammlungspflege Gabriela Krist,2015-05-21 Prevention is an attempt to look into the future and have a positive influence on it therefore it is one of the most important aspects in the area of collection care the central current field of applied research in conservation and restoration With sustainability damage and loss are avoided dangers averted and research conducted Collection care is only successful if the theory is appropriately implemented in museum practice

Heritage Wood Austin Nevin,Malgorzata Sawicki,2019-10-12 This volume highlights recent research efforts in the conservation and investigation of works of art on wood Through eleven case studies it showcases different experimental methods ranging from X ray analysis of objects to the study of cross sections made from micro samples New research focusing on the technical study treatment and assessment of works of art on wood in its many forms is featured in this edited volume Technical studies include the attribution and investigations of a triptych by Hans Memling and a sculpture from workshop of Michel and Gregor Erhart decorated Syrian rooms and investigations of finely carved Gothic wooden objects Synchrotron based methods are presented for studying the alteration of 19th c verdigris in Norway and multi analytical methods are employed for the investigations of 16th to 19th c East Asian lacquer from the Kunsthistorisches Museum in Vienna Novel methods for the cleaning of gilded surfaces using gels and emulsions are shown as are innovative strategies for the consolidation for waterlogged wood providing key data for the assessment of risks and benefits of new methods and the short and long term effects on gilding layers and archaeological wood The book clearly shows how collaboration between engineers physicists biologists and chemists and conservators of different types of materials can lead to new research in conservation science This book is crucial reading for conservators and conservation scientists as well as for technical art historians providing key methodological case studies of polychromy from different temporal and geographical contexts

The Creation of Eve and Renaissance Naturalism Jack M. Greenstein,2016-08-23 Depicting the Creation of Woman presented a special problem for Renaissance artists The medieval iconography of Eve rising half formed from Adam s side was hardly compatible with their commitment to the naturalistic representation of the human figure At the same time the story of God constructing the first woman from a rib did not offer the kind of dignified affective pictorial narrative that artists patrons and the public prized Jack M Greenstein takes this artistic problem as the point of departure for an iconographic study of this central theme of Christian culture His book shows how the meaning changed along with the form when Lorenzo

Ghiberti Andrea Pisano and other Italian sculptors of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries revised the traditional composition to accommodate a naturalistically depicted Eve At stake Greenstein argues is the role of the artist and the power of image making in reshaping Renaissance culture and religious thought Judaism and Christian Art Herbert L. Kessler, David Nirenberg, 2012-10-08 Christian cultures across the centuries have invoked Judaism in order to debate represent and contain the dangers presented by the sensual nature of art By engaging Judaism both real and imagined they explored and expanded the perils and possibilities for Christian representation of the material world The thirteen essays in Judaism and Christian Art reveal that Christian art has always defined itself through the figures of Judaism that it produces From its beginnings Christianity confronted a host of questions about visual representation Should Christians make art or does attention to the beautiful works of human hands constitute a misplaced emphasis on the things of this world or worse a form of idolatry Thou shalt make no graven image And if art is allowed upon what styles motifs and symbols should it draw Christian artists theologians and philosophers answered these questions and many others by thinking about and representing the relationship of Christianity to Judaism This volume is the first dedicated to the long history from the catacombs to colonialism but with special emphasis on the Middle Ages and the Renaissance of the ways in which Christian art deployed cohorts of Jews more figurative than real in order to conquer defend and explore its own territory A Cultural History of Theatre in the Middle Ages Jody Enders, 2019-08-08 Historically and broadly defined as the period between the fall of the Roman Empire and the rise of the Renaissance the Middle Ages encompass a millennium of cultural conflicts and developments A large body of mystery passion miracle and morality plays cohabited with song dance farces and other public spectacles frequently sharing ecclesiastical and secular inspiration A Cultural History of Theatre in the Middle Ages provides a comprehensive and interdisciplinary overview of the cultural history of theatre between 500 and 1500 and imaginatively pieces together the puzzle of medieval theatre by foregrounding the study of performance Each of the ten chapters of this richly illustrated volume takes a different theme as its focus institutional frameworks social functions sexuality and gender the environment of theatre circulation interpretations communities of production repertoire and genres technologies of performance and knowledge transmission War and Worship Susan Möller-Wiering, 2011-08-30 War and Worship concerns textile deposits from the bog sites of Thorsberg in Germany and Nydam Vimose and Illerup dal in Denmark All four sites are well known for containing a substantial amount of archaeological materials particularly weapons but they also contain as integral parts of the weapon deposits a smaller number of preserved textiles which nevertheless constitute outstanding assemblages With the exception of Thorsberg publications dealing particularly with textiles from weapon deposits are almost non-existent The textiles from each site are analysed then compared to one another and described as a unit characterising the particular site Comparisons are then made between the four sites with emphasis on the overall context A final chapter by Lise R der Knudsen analyses tablet woven textiles in the deposits a textile technique used to make bands edges and borders

Although the state of preservation of the textiles at the different locations varies hugely the research has extracted a large amount of information allowing conclusions on status origin function and role in the deposits to be drawn The fabrics presented here were unquestionably consecrated textiles They had been worn by the defeated foreign warriors during the battle and were considered worthy as sacrificial offerings to the gods Some individual high status textiles were perceived to have a value comparable to certain metal items Others probably the majority were used for covering and wrapping other offerings for the subsequent sacrifice All were committed to the lakes in a sacred act of remembrance to celebrate victorious battles

Images of the Mother of God Maria Vassilaki, 2017-03-02 Fully illustrated in colour and black and white Images of the Mother of God complements the successful exhibition catalogue of the Mother of God exhibition at the Benaki Museum in Athens It brings together the work of leading international authorities and younger scholars to provide a wide ranging survey of how the Theotokos was perceived in the Byzantine world It embraces the disciplines of art historians archaeologists traditional and feminist historians as well as theologians philologists and social anthropologists Images of the Mother of God will appeal not just to those interested in Byzantine art and culture but also to scholars of Western Europe in the Middle Ages who are looking for comparative materials in their own work
