Scottish Birds:

Scottish Birds Robin Hull, 2001 A book exploring the wealth of tradition history and lore about birds in Scotland A companion to Mercat's bestselling Scots Herbal this book explores the wealth of tradition history and lore about birds in Scotland Encyclopaedic in its detail it describes each species using references from folktales and ballads Statistical Accounts and eye witness reports All the commonly occurring birds in Scotland are listed and described Anyone with the slightest interest in wildlife or Scottish folk culture will find endless fascination in these pages Illustrated throughout Birds in Scotland Valerie M. Thom, 2010-11-30 The most important work on the birds of Scotland ever published British Birds This comprehensive study and review of the birds in Scotland follows on from where the celebrated two volumes of The Birds of Scotland 1953 by Dr Baxter and Miss Rintoul left off It does more than that however since not only has there been a profound increase in ornithological coverage and data as reflected in the species accounts there have also been great changes in habitat and environment since the days of Baxter there are also brief summaries of earlier data based on the researches of Baxter Rintoul In all 497 species are dealt with The texts of major species accounts are complemented by 173 distribution maps and many tables of relevant data and there are 129 species drawings by a team of artists under the editorship of Donald Watson who also contributes chapter head pieces and other drawings A section of photographs illustrates the varied habitats typical of Scotland today There are further appendices and an extensive bibliography The book will be of great interest to all birdwatchers in Scotland but of special value too to the many thousands of birdwatching visitors from elsewhere in these islands and from countries abroad The Scottish Ornithologists Club for whom the book is published and all whose records and researches made the author's work possible have reason to be proud of Valerie Thom's achievement

Birds in North-East Scotland Then and Now Adam Watson, Ian Francis, 2012 Field observations mainly in the 1940s and comparison with recent records Adam Watson as a schoolboy made field observations on birds in north east Scotland during the 1940s and early 1950s These are of special interest because hardly any local ornithologists lived there and his main set of observations is published here for the first time As well as accounts for all species seen there is detailed information on several species whose status has changed greatly since declines of breeding greenshanks and ring ouzels and rapid increases in the proportions of feral doves and carrion crows These and other observations form a useful baseline for comparison with what is now being seen and recorded by hundreds of ornithologists living in and visiting the area Ian Francis came to north east Scotland in the early 1990s and has taken part in many aspects of local ornithology He was first editor of a major book The Breeding Birds of North East Scotland published in 2011 which documents the current breeding distributions of birds and assesses changes over 40 years allowing a modern perspective on Adam Watson's observations from the mid 1900s The current book by Adam Watson and Ian Francis Birds in north east Scotland then and now also includes a previously unpublished account of long term research by Adam Watson Rik Smith and Mick Marquiss on Birds In Counties: An Ornithological Bibliography Of The Counties Of England, Wales, Scotland And The Isle Of Man David K Ballance, 2000-05-05 This is an ornithological bibliography for the counties of England, Wales and Scotland and for the Isle of Man. It includes all known books, pamphlets and papers which contain substantial studies of the birds of local areas from a county down to a back garden or a gravel pit. Each county has an introduction on its boundaries and the history of its ornithology. There has been no comprehensive national publication of this kind since Mullens, Swann and Jourdain's Geographical Bibliography in 1920. The volume also provides a detailed record of the many county and local bird reports and of the ever increasing number of area surveys produced by statutory and voluntary bodies. The material is arranged by the pre 1974 counties and takes the record up to 1995. There are maps to show the many changes in county boundaries since 1800. The book will be a standard reference work for libraries and collectors and for anyone interested in the rich and diverse development of local ornithology in its homeland.

Birds of the British Isles and Their Eggs Thomas Alfred Coward, 1920

Hill Birds in north-east Highlands Adam Watson, 2013-05 The author documents hatch dates of ptarmigan and red grouse in relation to blaeberry growth and climate. He collates field observations on golden plover involving proportions of dark plumaged summering birds breeding, success, population density within and amongst areas and declines since the late 1970s. Another chapter reviews evidence on dotterel abundance. The last chapter presents counts of the spring numbers of birds on many moorland and alpine study areas.

The Atlas of Wintering Birds in Britain and Ireland Peter Lack, 2010-11-30 This companion volume to The Atlas of Breeding Birds of Britain and Ireland is derived from surveys of birds present in Britain and Ireland during the three winters 1981-82, 1982-83 and 1983-84. The surveys were organised by the British Trust for Ornithology and the Irish Wildbird Conservancy as were the earlier breeding birds surveys. The Winter Atlas maps 200 species, 192 of which have full page two colour maps faced by a page of text. The texts written by over 100 specialists comment on the survey results, the species generally and the distribution and abundance as mapped. In addition there are introductory chapters on the maps, the weather in the three winters, bird patterns and movements and appendices describing the planning, organisation, field methods and processing of the survey data from record cards to computer output and maps. A team of 23 artists led by Robert Gillmor has provided the line drawings which head the species accounts.

Birds in England Edward Max Nicholson, 1926

Birds in England Andy Brown, Phil Grice, 2010-06-30 The Poyser avifaunas Birds in Scotland, Birds in Ireland and Birds in Wales are all now regarded as classic works. The series is now completed with Birds in England, an avifauna for England's diverse birdlife past and present. England marks the northwestern limit for many Palearctic breeding birds and is close to the southwestern limit for several others, in particular several seabird species whose English colonies are of international significance. It is the first point of arrival for new colonists from the south. Little Egret and Yellow legged Gull are two recent arrivals and it is also of international importance for wintering and passage populations of various species which breed in the far north of the Palearctic A diverse and fascinating avifauna is augmented by visits from an impressive range of rarities from as far afield as Siberia and Canada Nearctic vagrants in particular are well represented on the English list This important new avifauna looks in detail at England and its birds analysing present and historical data to present a complete picture of the status range and abundance of every bird on the English list

The Water Birds of North America Spencer F. Baird, 1884

Estuary Birds of Britain and Ireland A.J. Prater, 2010-11-30 Estuaries are rightly of great interest and concern to the birdwatcher Most teem with thousands of waders geese ducks gulls and other species that use them at times throughout the year they are also among the last of the wild places left in Britain and Europe The Birds of Estuaries Enquiry sponsored by the Nature Conservancy Council and organised by the BTO RSPB and the Wildfowl Trust spanned six years and Tony Prater's report now provides a detailed insight into the birds which use and in many cases depend on this special habitat Of great interest to birdwatchers the book also will be essential reading for professional conservationists and all involved in the planning and use of estuaries It assesses the importance of each estuary and the distribution and numbers of all species generally present and by setting this in an international framework demonstrates the remarkable importance of the estuaries around these islands Threats to the fabric of the landscape and its wildlife abound and estuaries are not exempt Barrage schemes industrial and agricultural reclamations and many other pressures exist and are the subject of chapters which survey the situation now and in the future The text is graced by John Busby's accomplished and evocative drawings and there are numerous maps and diagrams as well as photographs of typical estuaries Jacket illustration by John Busby

Scottish Bird News, 1996

Scottish Birds Valerie Thom, 2005-02 A reissue of the bestselling guide to over 180 species of birds to be found throughout Scotland An ideal pocket guide to over 180 species of bird found throughout Scotland Each species is illustrated in full colour with a comprehensive description plus the bird's English Latin and new this edition Gaelic names For ease of use the birds are grouped together by the type of habitat in which they can be found including gardens farmland woodland freshwater heath and hills and coasts A places to visit section details over 70 of the best sites for bird watching complete with directions to them and what to expect to see when you get there

Birds and Forestry Mark Avery, Roderick Leslie, 2010-10-30 In this book an ornithologist and a forester have combined their skills to try and tease out the real facts behind the various arguments on forestry The conflict between forestry and nature conservation has become a major environmental issue in Britain in the 1980s The planting of large tracts of land with exotic conifers and the resulting disturbance of existing plant and animal communities has polarized the debate each camp believing that it has the most rational view But the interactions involved are complex Which bird species are really threatened How can we judge the relative value of bird species ousted by plantations and the new species which colonize them How can the need for forest products be reconciled with the demands of conservationists This fascinating book tackles these issues in a forthright manner It represents a significant step towards achieving the sort of prudent land planning that will really improve our beleaguered countryside Jacket painting by Philip Snow Foreword by David Bellamy

The Birds of Nottinghamshire Nick Crouch, Jason Reece, Bernie Ellis, Chris du Feu, David Parkin, 2019-11-29 The last comprehensive review of Nottinghamshire's birds was produced more than four decades ago Much has changed since then and a new avifauna is long overdue This book draws together historic reports from the nineteenth century records from the files of the county bird club Nottinghamshire Birdwatchers and data from national and regional surveys and monitoring programmes The resulting account presents an overview of the present state of the county's birdlife set against a context of environmental and climatic change The gravel pits in the Trent and Idle Valleys form major corridors for birds moving across Britain and Nottinghamshire has attracted more than its share of national rarities These include Britain's first Egyptian Nightjar and Lesser Yellowlegs in the nineteenth century Bufflehead Redhead Cedar Waxwing and breeding Black-winged Stilts in the twentieth century and a memorable nesting attempt by European Bee-eaters in 2017 The woods and heaths of Sherwood lying in the middle of the county also provide a haven for an array of iconic species including European Nightjar Eurasian Woodcock Honeybuzzard and Hawfinch This book describes the past and present status of the 334 species that have been recorded in Nottinghamshire up to 2018 Lavishly illustrated with photographs taken within the county and sketches from the internationally recognised artist Michael Warren it is intended to be an authoritative reference to the birds of Nottinghamshire

Bird Observatories of Britain and Ireland Bird Observatories Council, 2010-08-18 A comprehensive survey of the valuable work undertaken by Britain's network of bird observatories with summaries and tables of noteworthy events and much historical background Bird observatories are research stations established mainly for the study of migration particularly by means of ringing There are now 18 scattered around the Britain and Ireland at key points on migration routes on coastal promontories or small islands Part of their attraction is the regular occurrence of rarities that are found each year at these observatories Written by wardens and ringers from each location Bird Observatories of Britain and Ireland is a timely new edition of one of the earliest Poyser titles It includes detailed coverage of the history location habitats and ornithological interest of each observatory including summaries and tables of noteworthy events
