Scraps Of The Untainted Sky Tom

Moylan, 2000-12-22 Moylan media and cultural studies Liverpool John Moores U England examines the history aesthetics and politics of dystopia focusing on the methodological paradigm that developed within the fields of science fiction studies and utopian studies as they grew out of the oppositional political culture of the 1960s and 1970s He then describes the textual structure and formal operations of the dystopian text and discusses those that emerged in the context of the conservatism and corporate restructuring of the 1980s and 1990s Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Parasocial Politics Jason Zenor, 2014-10-21 The popularity of cable news satire documentaries and political blogs suggest that people are often absorbing and dissecting direct political messages from informational media But entertainment media also discusses the important political issues of our time though not as overtly Nonetheless consumers still learn debate and form opinions on important political issues through their relationship with entertainment media While many scholarly books examine these political messages found in popular culture very few examine how actual audiences read these messages Parasocial Politics explores how consumers form complex relationships with media texts and characters and how these readings exist in the nexus between real and fictional worlds This collection of empirical studies uses various methodologies including surveys experiments focus groups and mixed methods to analyze how actual consumers interpret the texts and the overt and covert political messages encoded in popular culture The Cambridge Companion to American Utopian Literature and Culture since 1945 Sherryl Vint, 2024-05-16 Provides an overview of ways that utopian thinking has shaped American culture focusing on the need to remake imperial USA Utopia Method Vision Tom Moylan, Raffaella Baccolini, 2007 This collection addresses the ways in which the contributors approach their study of the objects and practices of utopianism understood as social anticipations and visions produced through texts and social experiments and of how in turn those objects and practices have shaped their intellectual work and research perspectives Contemporary Anarchist Studies Randall Amster, Abraham DeLeon, Luis Fernandez, Anthony J. Nocella, II, Deric Shannon, 2009-02-10 This book highlights the recent rise in interest in anarchist theory and practice attempting to bridge the gap between anarchist activism on the streets and anarchist studies in the academia Bringing together some of the most prominent voices in contemporary anarchism in the academy it includes pieces written on anarchist theory pedagogy methodologies praxis and the future Invoking Hope Phillip E. Wegner, 2020-06-30 An appeal for the importance of theory utopia and close consideration of our contemporary dark times What does any particular theory allow us to do What is the value of doing so And who benefits In Invoking Hope Phillip E Wegner argues for the undiminished importance of the practices of theory utopia and a deep and critical reading of our current situation of what Bertolt Brecht refers to as finsternen Zeiten or dark times Invoking Hope was written in response to three events that occurred in 2016 the five hundredth anniversary of the publication of Thomas More's Utopia the one hundredth anniversary of the founding text in theory Ferdinand de Saussure's Course in General Linguistics and the rise of the right wing populism that culminated in the election of Donald Trump Wegner offers original readings of major interventions in theory alongside dazzling utopian imaginaries developed from classical Greece to our global present from Theodor Adorno Ernst Bloch Alain Badiou Jacques Derrida Fredric Jameson Sarah Ahmed Susan Buck-Morss and Jacques Lacan to such works as Plato's Republic W. E. B. Du Bois's John Brown Isak Dinesen's Babette's Feast Kim Stanley Robinson's 2312 and more Wegner comments on an expansive array of modernist and contemporary literature film theory and popular culture With Invoking Hope Wegner provides an innovative lens for considering the rise of right wing populism and the current crisis in democracy He discusses challenges in the humanities and higher education and develops strategies of creative critical reading and hope against the grain of current trends in scholarship

Utopias in Nonfiction Film Simon Spiegel, 2022-01-11 Comprehensive and thorough Utopias in Nonfiction Film takes a new direction in its surprise application to documentary that has the potential to shake up the field Jane Gaines Columbia University USA Spiegel has introduced a new sub-genre to utopian studies the documentary film The book covers an impressive range of films making the book one of the few truly international and comparative works in utopian studies Lyman Tower Sargent University of Missouri St. Louis USA Simon Spiegel's magisterial overview of utopian documentaries and nonfiction films is a treasure trove of information and unearths many forgotten and half forgotten films providing perceptive discussions of sidelined movies that deserve his and our critical scrutiny Eckart Voigt's University of Braunschweig Institute of Technology Germany This book is the first major study on utopias in nonfiction film Since the publication of Thomas More's Utopia more than 500 years ago countless books have been written which describe a better world But in film positive utopias seem to be nonexistent So far research has focused almost exclusively on dystopias since positive outlooks seem to run contrary to the media's requirement Utopias in Nonfiction Film takes a new approach starting from the insight that literary utopias are first and foremost meant as a reaction to the ills of the present and not as entertaining stories it looks at documentary and propaganda films an area which so far has been completely ignored by research Combining insights from documentary research and utopian studies a vast and very diverse corpus of films is analysed Among them are Zionist propaganda films cinematic city utopias socialist films of the future as well as web videos produced by the Islamist terrorist group ISIS

The (Un)Certain Future of Empathy in Posthumanism, Cyberculture and Science Fiction Elsa Bouet, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Interdisciplinary Press in 2015 This volume investigates the future of empathy as contemplated by posthumanism cyberculture and science fiction As humanity increasingly networks and communicates online the reconfiguration of human communities through the removal and immediacy of the body challenges traditional notions of humanity and human capacity for empathy The impact of cyberculture and posthumanism on humanity and its capacity for empathy is here assessed through research in literature films neuroscience anthropology and philosophy

This volume addresses the centrality of the body to human interactions and assesses how intrinsic it is to the defining of the human. The exploration of posthuman narratives which display futuristic bodily modifications also engages with the anxieties and hopes for the future of human empathy. Research in dystopian narratives shows that these anxieties are also expressed without the tropes of bodily modifications and that ideological distancing creates the conditions necessary for a lack of empathy towards otherness.

Girls on Fire Sarah Hentges, 2018-04-04 Under the threat of climate change, corruption, inequality, and injustice, Americans may feel they are living in a dystopian novel come to life. Like many American narratives, dystopian stories often focus on males as the agents of social change. With a focus on the intersections of race, gender, class, sexuality, and power, the author analyzes the themes, issues, and characters in young adult YA dystopian fiction featuring female protagonists: the Girls on Fire who inspire progressive transformation for the future.

Utopia and Terror in Contemporary American Fiction Judie Newman, 2014-07-17 This book examines the quest for failure of Utopia across a range of contemporary American transnational fictions in relation to terror and globalization through authors such as Susan Choi, Andr Dubus, Dalia Sofer, and John Updike. While recent critical thinkers have reengaged with Utopia, the possibility of terror, whether state or non-state, external or homegrown, shadows Utopian imaginings. Terror and Utopia are linked in fiction through the exploration of the commodification of affect, a phenomenon of a globalized world in which feelings are managed, homogenized across cultures, exaggerated or expunged according to a dominant model. Narrative approaches to the terrorist offer a means to investigate the ways in which fiction can resist commodification of affect and maintain a reasoned but imaginative vision of possibilities for human community. Newman explores topics such as the first American bestseller with a Muslim protagonist, the links between writer and terrorist, the work of Iranian Jewish Americans, and the relation of race and religion to Utopian thought.

The Cambridge Companion to American Fiction after 1945 John N. Duvall, 2011-12-08 Each generation revises literary history, and this is nowhere more evident than in the post-Second World War period. This 2011 Companion offers a comprehensive, authoritative, and accessible overview of the diversity of American fiction since the Second World War. Essays by nineteen distinguished scholars provide critical insights into the significant genres, historical contexts, cultural diversity, and major authors during a period of enormous American global political and cultural power. This power is overshadowed nevertheless by national anxieties growing out of events ranging from the Civil Rights Movement to the rise of feminism, from the Cold War and its fear of Communism and nuclear warfare to the Age of Terror and its different yet related fears of the Other. American fiction since 1945 has faithfully chronicled these anxieties. An essential reference guide, this Companion provides a chronology of the period as well as guides to further reading.

Utopias and the Environment Geoffrey Berry, 2017-10-02 Utopias and the Environment explores the way in which the kind of dreaming or re-visioning known as the utopian imaginary takes environmental concerns into account. This kind of creative intervention is increasingly important in an era of ecological crisis as we witness the failure of governments worldwide to significantly change industrial civilization from a path of business as usual In this context it is up to the artists in this case authors to imagine new ways of being that respond to this imperative and immediate global issue Concurrently it is also up to critics readers and thinkers everywhere to appraise these narratives of possibility for their complexities and internal conflicts as well as for their promise as we enter this new era of rapid change and adaptation Because creative and critical thinkers must work together towards this goal the idea of the critical utopia coined by Tom Moylan in response to the fiction of the 1970s is now ingrained in the common argot and is one of the key ideas discussed in this book This development in the genre which combines self reflexivity and multiple perspectives within its dreaming represents the postmodern spirit in its most regenerative aspect This book is testament to such hopes and potential realities This book was originally published as a special issue of Green Letters

Handmaids, Tributes, and Carers Myrna Santos, 2018-12-21 This book is a multi disciplinary anthology about the role of female figures in dystopian narratives Such female figures from all stages of life are often critical to these narratives positing females as particularly powerful heroines or catalysts to action especially in young adult manifestations such as The Hunger Games and Divergent trilogies among others This book explores the totality of these rich and varied roles from fiction to television to film This collection will capture the interest of scholars and students in popular culture literature gender studies and media as well as fan readers and followers of genre fiction television and film

Becoming Utopian Tom Moylan, 2020-11-26 A dream of a better world is a powerful human force that inspires activists artists and citizens alike In this book Tom Moylan one of the pioneering scholars of contemporary utopian studies explores the utopian process in its individual and collective trajectory from dream to realization Drawing on theorists such as Fredric Jameson Donna Haraway and Alain Badiou and science fiction writers such as Kim Stanley Robinson and China Mi ville Becoming Utopian develops its argument for sociopolitical action through studies that range from liberation theology ecological activism and radical pedagogy to the radical movements of 1968 Throughout Moylan speaks to the urgent need to confront and transform the global environmental economic political and cultural crises of our time

New World Orders in Contemporary Children's Literature C. Bradford, K. Mallan, J. Stephens, R. McCallum, 2008-03-13 This book demonstrates how contemporary children's texts draw on utopian and dystopian tropes in their projections of possible futures The authors explore the ways in which children's texts respond to social change and global politics The book argues that children's texts are crucially implicated in shaping the values of their readers

The Cambridge Companion to Utopian Literature Gregory Claeys, 2010-08-05 Since the publication of Thomas More's genre defining work Utopia in 1516 the field of utopian literature has evolved into an ever expanding domain This Companion presents an extensive historical survey of the development of utopianism from the publication of Utopia to today's dark and despairing tendency towards dystopian pessimism epitomised by works such as George Orwell's Nineteen Eighty Four and Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale Chapters address the difficult definition of the concept of utopia and consider its relation to science fiction and other literary genres The volume takes an innovative approach to the major themes predominating within the utopian and dystopian literary tradition including feminism romance and ecology and explores in detail the vexed question of the purportedly western nature of the concept of utopia The reader is provided with a balanced overview of the evolution and current state of a long standing rich tradition of historical political and literary scholarship Utopia Ltd. Matthew Beaumont, 2005-03-01 This book uncovers the historical preconditions for the explosive revival of utopian literature at the nineteenth century fin de siècle and excavates its ideological content It marks a contribution not only to the literary and cultural history of the late Victorian period and to the expanding field of utopian studies but to the development of a Marxist critique of utopianism The book is particularly concerned with three kinds of political utopia or anti utopia those of state socialism feminism and anti communism the characteristic expression of this last example being the cacotopia After an extensive contextual account of the politics of utopia in late nineteenth century England it devotes a chapter to each of these topics before developing an original reinterpretation of William Morris's seminal Marxist utopia News from Nowhere Storytelling for Sustainability in Higher Education Petra Molthan-Hill, Heather Luna, Tony Wall, Helen Puntha, Denise Baden, 2020-03-25 To be a storyteller is an incredible position from which to influence hearts and minds and each one of us has the capacity to utilise storytelling for a sustainable future This book offers unique and powerful insights into how stories and storytelling can be utilised within higher education to support sustainability literacy Stories can shape our perspective of the world around us and how we interact with it and this is where storytelling becomes a useful tool for facilitating understanding of sustainability concepts which tend to be complex and multifaceted The craft of storytelling is as old as time and has influenced human experience throughout the ages The conscious use of storytelling in higher education is likewise not new although less prevalent in certain academic disciplines what this book offers is the opportunity to delve into the concept of storytelling as an educational tool regardless of and beyond the boundaries of subject area Written by academics and storytellers the book is based on the authors own experiences of using stories within teaching from a story of the Ecology of Law to the exploration of sustainability in accounting and finance via contemporary cinema Practical advice in each chapter ensures that ideas may be put into practice with ease In addition to examples from the classroom the book also explores wider uses of storytelling for communication and sense making and ways of assessing student storytelling work It also offers fascinating research insights for example in addressing the question of whether positive utopian stories relating to climate change will have a stronger impact on changing the behaviour of readers than will dystopian stories Everyone working as an educator should find some inspiration here for their own practice on using storytelling and stories to co design positive futures together with our students The Bioregional Imagination Tom Lynch, Cheryll Glotfelty, Karla Armbruster, 2012 Bioregionalism is an innovative way of thinking about place and planet from an ecological perspective Although bioregional ideas occur regularly in ecocritical writing until now no systematic effort has been made to outline the principles of bioregional literary criticism and to use it as a way to read write understand and teach literature The twenty four original essays here are written by an outstanding selection of international scholars The range of bioregions covered is global and includes such diverse places as British Columbia s Meldrum Creek and Italy s Po River Valley the Arctic and the Outback There are even forays into cyberspace and outer space In their comprehensive introduction the editors map the terrain of the bioregional movement including its history and potential to inspire and invigorate place based and environmental literary criticism Responding to bioregional tenets this volume is divided into four sections The essays in the Reinhabiting section narrate experiments in living in place and restoring damaged environments The Rereading essays practice bioregional literary criticism both by examining texts with strong ties to bioregional paradigms and by opening other less obvious texts to bioregional analysis In Reimagining the essays push bioregionalism to evolve by expanding its corpus of texts coupling its perspectives with other approaches or challenging its core constructs Essays in the Renewal section address bioregional pedagogy beginning with local habitat studies and concluding with musings about the Internet In response to the environmental crisis we must reimagine our relationship to the places we inhabit This volume shows how literature and literary studies are fundamental tools to such a reimagining
