Nicholas Montemarano These eleven stories show why Jayne Anne Phillips has called Montemarano an American stylist capable of redeeming our darkest dreams Redemption in these intense and sometimes violent stories is found in the lyrical prose in the act of storytelling itself A young man tries to rescue his sister from her abusive lover and in the process must revisit his own family's violent history Note to Future Self a home healthcare worker pops pills and takes two men with cerebral palsy to a strip club The Usual Human Disabilities a man has a breakdown years after witnessing a brutal murder and doing nothing to help the victim The Other Man In The November Fifteen a man is taken from his home and tortured though he has no idea why when he returns home he finds a different kind of torture awaiting him Two of the stories Shift and the Pushcart Prize winning The Worst Degree of Unforgivable are stylistic tours de force But style in this collection is always at the service of story Montemarano's fiction maintains that rare balance between traditional storytelling and experimentation his work is innovative without being flashy sincere without being sentimental In an age of hype If the Sky Falls truly is the real thing an original and important achievement in the short story form

Ghostly Parallels Randolph Runyon, 2006 America's most eminent man of letters in his later years and certainly one of the greatest Southern writers Robert Penn Warren has increasingly come to be known for his poetry Ghostly Parallels is a close examination of the heart of his poetic corpus the eight collections published between 1935 and 1976 Thirty Six Poems Eleven Poems on the Same Theme Promises You Emperors and Others Tale of Time Incarnations Or Else and Can I See Arcturus from Where I Stand Ghostly Parallels shows how Warren constructed collections of poems based on common subjects and contexts and also contends that while the poems are distinctive taken together they reveal intricate patterns of theme imagery and diction within explicit sequences Runyon demonstrates that Warren's collections are integrated well crafted wholes and each poem references its predecessor sometimes in intriguingly self-referential ways Runyon shows that despite the many changes in diction tone and subject that Warren underwent in his long career his concern for writing his poems in such a way that they could reach out beyond themselves to other poems remained remarkably constant In the arrangement Warren gave them his poems form ghostly parallels an expression that appears in The Return An Elegy where they refer to the railroad tracks that bring the poet home to his dying mother This return to the mother is a persistent leitmotif in the poems and forms the other major theme of this study Warren's personal poetic myth in which such images as golden light and mirror images are signs of the mother's presence as both Danae mother of Perseus and Medusa whom Perseus confronted Through pursuing sequential patterns as well as echoes and myth Ghostly Parallels brings a wealth of insights to the work of this prolific novelist critic and essayist An important guide for undergraduate and graduate students alike Ghostly Parallels will also appeal to anyone with an interest in Robert Penn Warren and southern literature
