Faiths on Display Tim Oakes, Donald S. Sutton, 2010-10-16 By providing a unique perspective on China's changing relationship with religion this groundbreaking book explores the role the Chinese state continues to play in religious revival today Over the past several decades China has experienced a rapid expansion of religious spaces and activities More recently a growing middle class urban society has fueled an upsurge in Chinese domestic tourism Faiths on Display challenges the common separation of religious and tourist activities showing how these practices overlap and blend together A group of leading scholars explores the unlikely interaction between these exuberant phenomena finding a surprisingly clear lens through which to view a rapidly transforming society Even the most casual observer is struck by the Chinese rediscovery of traditional culture particularly at revived religious festivals and pilgrimages in suburbs rural areas and at China's margins where religious practices of ethnic minorities attract particular tourist attention A set of fascinating case studies shows how state organizations are helping revive sacred spaces as exploitable sites for tourism development and revenue generation While this may appear to be a straightforward collision of Chinese tradition with modernization the contributors argue that the results of combining religion and tourism offer important insights not only into the practice of religion and the rise of leisure culture in contemporary China but also into the changing and contested nature of state governance The policies of an authoritarian modernizing state obviously influence both religion and tourism but religious practices the book clearly illustrates tend to slip out of state control and tourist tastes push development into directions not anticipated or welcomed by the state Contributions by Kenneth Dean Brian R Dott Xiaofei Kang Charlene Makley Susan K McCarthy Charles F McKhann Tim Oakes Yu Luo Rioux Donald S Sutton Marina Svensson and Rubie Watson      How Wars End Dan Reiter, 2009-08-17 Why do some countries choose to end wars short of total victory while others fight on sometimes in the face of appalling odds How Wars End argues that two central factors shape war termination decision making information about the balance of power and the resolve of one's enemy and fears that the other side's commitment to abide by a war ending peace settlement may not be credible Dan Reiter explains how information about combat outcomes and other factors may persuade a warring nation to demand more or less in peace negotiations and why a country might refuse to negotiate limited terms and instead tenaciously pursue absolute victory if it fears that its enemy might renege on a peace deal He fully lays out the theory and then tests it on more than twenty cases of war termination behavior including decisions during the American Civil War the two world wars and the Korean War Reiter helps solve some of the most enduring puzzles in military history such as why Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation why Germany in 1918 renewed its attack in the West after securing peace with Russia in the East and why Britain refused to seek peace terms with Germany after France fell in 1940 How Wars End concludes with a timely discussion of twentieth century American foreign policy framing the Bush Doctrine's emphasis on preventive war in the context of the theory      Towards a Sociology of the Cinema (ILS 92) Ian Charles Jarvie, 2014-05-12 First published in 1998 This is Volume IX of nine in the Sociology of Culture series and looks at the a comparative essay on the structure and functioning of a major entertainment industry the cinema      Union List of Serials of the California State University California State University, 1991      Secrets on Display Mark Stout, Sarah-Jane Corke, 2025-06-24 Secrets on Display takes readers on a tour of the thrilling real life history of intelligence and espionage from around the world With tales of spies codebreakers moles terrorist hunters spy chiefs propagandists and secret agents these new histories uncover a world that many of us only see in the movies Bringing together stories and artifacts from the International Spy Museum in Washington DC this book makes the world's largest museum devoted to intelligence history accessible to everyone Secrets on Display brings this hidden history to life with over 200 photographs including over 100 color images of artifacts among them James Bond's Aston Martin DB5 the axe used to assassinate Leon Trotsky a portion of the secret MI6 and CIA tunnel beneath East Berlin and a precursor to the Predator drone as well as concealment devices secret cameras disguise kits cipher machines and a host of other rare objects seldom seen by the public These stories told by historians intelligence officers and museum professionals will fascinate scholars intrigue practitioners and entice those interested in a world of secrecy that most of us can scarcely imagine      Serials and Series Buck Rainey, 2015-06-08 While many fans remember

Jones, 2017-06-01 Global biennials have proliferated in the contemporary art world but artists engagement with large scale international exhibitions has a much longer history that has influenced the present in important ways Going back to the earliest world's fairs in the nineteenth century this book argues that globalism was incubated in a century of international art contests and today constitutes an important tactic for artists As world's fairs brought millions of attendees into contact with foreign cultures products and processes artworks became juxtaposed in a theater of nations which challenged artists and critics to think outside their local academies From Gustave Courbet's rebel pavilion near the official art exhibit at the 1855 French World's Fair to curator Beryl Madra's choice of London based Cypriot Hussein Chalayan for the off site Turkish pavilion at the 2006 Venice Biennale artists have used these exhibitions to reflect on contemporary art speak to their own governments back home and challenge the wider geopolitical realm changing art and art history along the way Ultimately Caroline A Jones argues the modern appetite for experience and event structures which were cultivated around the art at these earlier expositions have now come to constitute contemporary art itself producing encounters that transform the public and force us to reflect critically on the global condition Film Clowns of the Depression Wes D.
