Macfarlane, 2009 The World of the Fullo Miko Flohr, 2013-05-30 This volume takes a detailed look at the craftsmen who dealt with high quality garments in Roman Italy Using a qualitative analysis of material remains related to economic activities with a combined study of epigraphic and literary records it portrays an insightful view of the socio economic history of urban communities in the Roman world The Archaeology of Lucanian Cult Places Ilaria Battiloro, 2017-08-10 With the emergence and structuring of the Lucanian ethnos during the fourth century BC a network of cult places set apart from habitation spaces was created at the crossroads of the most important communication routes of ancient Lucania These sanctuaries became centers of social and political aggregation of the local communities a space in which the community united for all the social manifestations that in urban societies were usually performed within the city space With a detailed analysis of the archaeological record this study traces the historical and archaeological narrative of Lucanian cult places from their creation to the Late Republican Age which saw the incorporation of southern Italy into the Roman state By placing the sanctuaries within their territorial political social and cultural context Battiloro offers insight into the diachronic development of sacred architecture and ritual customs in ancient Lucania The author highlights the role of material evidence in constructing the significance of sanctuaries in the historical context in which they were used and crucial new evidence from the most recent archaeological investigations is explored in order to define dynamics of contact and interaction between Lucanians and Romans on the eve of the Roman conquest Landscapes and Cities John R. Patterson, 2006-10-19 The first two centuries AD are conventionally thought of as the golden age of the Roman Empire yet Italy in this period has often been seen as being in a state of decline and even crisis This book investigates the relationships between city and countryside in Italy in the early Empire using evidence from literary texts and inscriptions and the wealth of data derived from archaeological field surveys over recent years Looking at individual towns and regions as well as at the broader picture and stressing the diversity of situations across Italy John R Patterson examines how changing patterns of building and benefaction in the cities were related to developments in the country and underlines the resourcefulness of the cities both large and small in seeking to maintain and develop their civic traditions A Companion to the Archaeology of the Roman Republic Jane DeRose Evans, 2013-03-29 A Companion to the Archaeology of the Roman Republic offers a diversity of perspectives to explore how differing approaches and methodologies can contribute to a greater understanding of the formation of the Roman Republic Brings together the experiences and ideas of archaeologists from around the world with multiple backgrounds and areas of interest Offers a vibrant exploration of the ways in which archaeological methods can be used to explore different elements of the Roman Republican period Demonstrates that the Republic was not formed in a vacuum but was influenced by non Latin speaking cultures from throughout the Mediterranean region Enables archaeological thinking in this area to be made accessible both to a more general audience and as a valuable addition to existing discourse Investigates the archaeology of the Roman Republican period with reference to material culture landscape technology identity and empire From Asculum to Actium Edward Bispham, 2007-12-06 Rome's once independent Italian allies became communities of a new Roman territorial state after the Social War of 91-87 BC Edward Bispham examines how the transition from independence to subordination was managed and how between the opposing tensions of local particularism competing traditions and identities aspirations for integration cultural change and indifference from Roman central authorities something new and dynamic appeared in the jaded world of the late Republic Bispham charts the successes and failures of the attempts to make a new political community Roman Italy and new Roman citizens scattered across the peninsula a dramatic and important story in that while Italy was being built Rome was falling apart and while the Roman Republic fell the Italian municipal system endured and made possible the government and even the survival of the Roman empire in the West Innovazione tecnica e progresso economico nel mondo romano Elio Lo Cascio, 2006 People, Land, and Politics Luuk de Ligt, S. J. Northwood, 2008 Recent research has called into question the orthodox view that the last two centuries of the Roman Republic witnessed a decline of the free rural population Yet the implications of the alternative reconstructions of Italy's demographic history that have been proposed have never been explored systematically This volume offers a series of in depth discussions not only of the republican manpower and census figures but also of the abundant archaeological data It also explores the growth of cities especially Rome and the changing distribution of the population over the Italian landscape On the rural side it addresses the interplay between demographic economic and legal developments and the background to the Gracchan land reforms Finally it examines the political implications of demographic growth and large scale migration to the provinces The volume as a whole demonstrates that demography is the key to many aspects of Italy's economic social military and political history The Archaeology of South-East Italy in the First Millennium BC Douwe Yntema, 2025-10-01 Synthesizing some 30 years of archaeological research in south east Italy this book discusses a millennium that witnessed breathtaking changes the first millennium BC In nine to ten centuries the Mediterranean societies changed from a great variety of mostly small entities of predominantly tribal nature into the enormous state currently indicated as the Roman Empire This volume is a case study discussing the pathway to complexity of one of the regions that contributed to the formation of this large state south east Italy It highlights how initially small groups developed into complex societies how and why these adapted to increasingly wide horizons and how and why Italic groups and migrants from the eastern Mediterranean interacted and created entirely new social economic cultural and physical landscapes This synthesis is based on research carried out by many Italian archaeologists and by research groups from quite a variety of other countries
