

The book cover features a textured, painterly background in shades of brown, gold, and blue. A central white rectangular label with a maroon border contains the title and authors' names. The title 'THE MYSTIC VISION' is written in a serif font, with 'THE' and 'VISION' in smaller letters than 'MYSTIC'. Between 'MYSTIC' and 'VISION' is a small, square, colorful mandala-like image. Below the title, the subtitle 'DAILY ENCOUNTERS WITH THE DIVINE' is written in a smaller, italicized serif font. At the bottom of the label, the authors' names 'ANDREW HARVEY AND ANNE BARING' are listed. The spine of the book, visible on the left, is maroon and has the title 'THE MYSTIC VISION' and the authors' names 'HARVEY AND BARING' printed vertically in white. There is also a small logo at the bottom of the spine.

The Making of a Mystic Evelyn Underhill, 2024-03-18 Evelyn Underhill 1875 1941 achieved international fame with the publication of her book Mysticism in 1911 Continuously in print since its original publication Mysticism remains Underhill's most famous work but in the course of her long career she published nearly forty books including three novels and three volumes of poetry as well as numerous poems in periodicals She was the religion editor for Spectator a friend of T S Eliot her influence is visible in his last masterpiece Four Quartets and the first woman invited to lecture on theology at Oxford University Her interest in religion extended beyond her Anglican upbringing to embrace the world's religions and their common spirituality. In time for the centennial celebration of her classic Mysticism, this volume of Underhill's letters will enable readers and researchers to follow her as she reconciled her beliefs with her daily life. The letters reveal her personal and theological development and clarify the relationships that influenced her life and work. Hardly aloof, she enjoyed the interests, mirth, and compassion of close friendships. Drawing from collections previously unknown to scholars, The Making of a Mystic shows the range of Evelyn Underhill's mind and interests as well as the immense network of her correspondents including Sir James Frazier and Nobel Prize laureate Rabindranath Tagore. This substantial selection of Underhill's correspondence demonstrates an exceptional scope beginning with her earliest letters from boarding school to her mother and extending to a letter written to T. S. Eliot from what was to be her deathbed in London in 1941 as the London Blitz raged around her.

Noticing God Richard Peace, 2012-04-13 Richard Peace unpacks what it means to make a conscious practice of noticing God in daily life. He explores the various ways people experience and recognize God's presence in mystical encounters, ordinary life, our hearts, through other people, through Scripture, nature, and the church. God is present in our world. You can encounter him. Here's how.

Divine Initiative and the Christology of the Damascus Road Encounter Timothy W. R. Churchill, 2010-04-28 The Damascus road encounter between Jesus and Paul is foundational to understanding the early development of Christology and indeed Christianity since it is the first appearance of the post-ascension Jesus contained in the earliest Christian literature. This study examines the encounter as it is described in Paul's epistles and the book of Acts. Since Paul interprets his experience within the Jewish tradition, this study begins with a survey of epiphany texts in the Old Testament and other ancient Jewish literature. This reveals two new categories for appearances of God: angels and other heavenly beings, Divine Initiative, and Divine Response. This survey also finds two distinct patterns of characterization for God and other heavenly beings. These findings are then applied to Paul's accounts of his Damascus road encounter. Paul depicts the encounter as a Divine Initiative epiphany. This conclusion is significant since it argues against the current view that the encounter was a merkabah vision. Paul's Christology in the Damascus road encounter is also significant since Jesus is characterized as divine. Such divine characterization is not typical for heavenly beings in first-century CE epiphany texts. Thus, a high Pauline Christology appears to be present at a very early point. The three accounts of the Damascus road encounter in Acts also fit the pattern of Divine Initiative, not merkabah, and exhibit the high Christology of Paul's accounts. In fact, the three accounts in Acts are shown to form an intentionally increasing sequence culminating in the revelation that Paul was called to be an apostle by Jesus himself on the Damascus road.

Re-visioning Sufism Jonas Atlas, 2019-10-28 Sufism is often described as the mystical branch of Islam. Giving some more attention to this underexposed spiritual side, it is often proposed could help us to ease certain contemporary societal tensions. One finger then points toward the rigorous religious aggression of fundamentalism as the problem, while another points toward the soft beauty of mysticism as the solution. Yet no matter how well intended the contemporary focus on Sufism might often be in the end it repeatedly portrays a lack of comprehension when it comes to Islamic mysticism The typical descriptions are full of mistakes and the conclusions they lead to need much nuance Those misunderstandings do not simply stem from innocent ignorance They are misunderstandings with more profound origins and implications They are closely tied to enormous blind spots in the contemporary view of religion and deeply entwined with pressing political issues In fact the way we deal with mysticism in general and with Sufism in particular actually kindles many contemporary conflicts This book thus seeks to add the necessary nuances correct the misunderstandings and unveil the contemporary politics of mysticism It seeks to clarify how the growing interest in what is called Sufism is connected to both the contemporary demonization of Islam and the modern destruction of profound spirituality in the East as well as the West
