The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History Bonnie G. Smith, 2008 The Encyclopedia of Women in World History captures the experiences of women throughout world history in a comprehensive 4 volume work Although there has been extensive research on women in history by region no text or reference work has comprehensively covered the role women have played throughout world history The past thirty years have seen an explosion of research and effort to present the experiences and contributions of women not only in the Western world but across the globe Historians have investigated women's daily lives in virtually every region and have researched the leadership roles women have filled across time and region They have found and demonstrated that there is virtually no historical social or demographic change in which women have not been involved and by which their lives have not been affected The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History benefits greatly from these efforts and experiences and illuminates how women worldwide have influenced and been influenced by these historical social and demographic changes The Encyclopedia contains over 1 250 signed articles arranged in an A Z format for ease of use The entries cover six main areas biographies geography and history comparative culture and society including adoption abortion performing arts organizations and movements such as the Egyptian Uprising

Americans in Global Affairs Michael L. Clemons,2010-07-13 A long overdue introduction to the multifaceted nature of African American participation in global affairs American Girls in Red Russia Julia L. Mickenberg,2017-04-25 If you were an independent adventurous liberated American woman in the 1920s or 1930s where might you have sought escape from the constraints and compromises of bourgeois living Paris and the Left Bank quickly come to mind But would you have ever thought of Russia and the wilds of Siberia This choice was not as unusual as it seems now As Julia L Mickenberg uncovers in American Girls in Red Russia there is a forgotten counterpoint to the story of the Lost Generation beginning in the late nineteenth century Russian revolutionary ideology attracted many women including suffragists reformers educators journalists and artists as well as curious travelers Some were famous like Isadora Duncan or Lillian Hellman some were committed radicals though more were just intrigued by the Soviet experiment But all came to Russia in search of social arrangements that would be more equitable just and satisfying And most in the end were disillusioned some by the mundane realities others by horrifying truths Mickenberg reveals the complex motives that drew American women to Russia as they sought models for a revolutionary new era in which women would be not merely independent of men but also equal builders of a new society Soviet women after all earned the right to vote in 1917 and they also had abortion rights property rights the right to divorce maternity benefits and state supported childcare Even women from Soviet national minorities many recently unveiled became public figures as African American and Jewish women noted Yet as Mickenberg s collective biography shows Russia turned out to be as much a grim commune as a utopia of freedom replete with economic social and sexual inequities American Girls in Red Russia recounts the experiences of women who saved starving children from the Russian famine worked on rural communes in Siberia wrote for Moscow or New York newspapers or performed on Soviet stages Mickenberg finally tells these forgotten stories full of hope and grave disappointments A Great Restlessness Faith

Johnston,2006-10-30 Dorise Nielsen was a pioneering feminist a radical politician the first Communist elected to Canada s House of Commons and the only woman elected in 1940 But despite her remarkable career until now little has been known about her From her youth in London during World War I to her burial in 1980 in a hero s cemetery in China Nielsen lived through tumultuous times Struggling through the Great Depression as a homesteader s wife in rural Saskatchewan Nielsen rebelled against the poverty and injustice that surrounded her and found like minded activists in the CCF and the Communist Party of Canada In 1940 when leaders of the Communist Party were either interned or underground Nielsen became their voice in Parliament But her activism came at a high price As a single mother in Ottawa she sacrificed a close relationship with her family for her career As a woman in an emerging political organisation her authority was increasingly usurped by younger male party members As a committed communist she moved to Mao s China in 1957 and dedicated her life s work to a cause that went seriously awry Faith Johnston illuminates the life of a woman who paved the way for a generation of women in politics who tried to be both a good mother and a good revolutionary and who refused to give up on either

Beyond Document Charles Warren, 1996-05-31. Critics and writers consider nonfiction film both as document and as creative work with strong artistic, political, and moral implications. In essays by eleven of America's foremost writers, critics, and filmmakers, Beyond Document explores the full spectrum of nonfiction film and its creative possibilities. In addition to Charles Warren's broad introductory history of the genre, the book takes a close look at ethnographic films, cinema verité, memoir, and autobiography, docudramas, essay films, and newsreels, from classics like Night and Fog and Nanook of the North to more recent important work like Film about a Woman Who Harlan County U.S.A., Sans Soleil, and Forest of Bliss. Representations of reality are increasingly contested in courtrooms and in Congress as well as in art. Asking what the art of film can achieve, Helene Keyssar considers the history of nonfiction films by women; Jay Cantor discusses film investigations of the Holocaust; Patricia Hampl looks at how autobiographical films render experience into narrative; Robert Gardner questions the filmmaker's impulse to preserve; and poet Susan Howe explores structures of mourning in several filmmakers. All the book's essays provide deeply felt understanding of documentary film and of how we live with and within images.
