The Preparation of the Novel Roland Barthes,2010-11-23 Completed just weeks before his death these lectures mark a critical juncture in the career of Roland Barthes declaring the intention deeply felt to compose a novel through an entirely untested method of writing Unfolding over the course of two years Barthes engaged in a unique pedagogical experiment he would combine teaching and writing to simulate the creation of a novel exploring every step of the collaborative process along the way Barthes s lectures move from the inception of an idea and the need to write something to the actual decision making planning and material act of producing a book He meets the difficulty of transitioning from short concise expressions exemplified by his favorite literary form haiku to longer uninterrupted flows of narrative and he encounters a number of trials and setbacks Barthes takes solace in a diverse group of writers including Dante whose own opus was similarly inspired by the death of a loved one He also turns to classical philosophy and Taoism and the works of Chateaubriand Flaubert Kafka and Proust This volume includes eight elliptical plans for Barthes s unwritten novel which he titled Vita Nova and notes that shed light on the critic s view of photography Along with Columbia University Press s The Neutral Lecture Course at the College de France 1977 1978 and a third forthcoming collection of Barthes lectures this volume completes a profound exploration into the labor and love of writing The Crisis of French Symbolism Laurence M.
