beginning of the Atlantic slave trade enslaved and free Africans in the Americas used Catholicism and Christian derived celebrations as spaces for autonomous cultural expression social organization and political empowerment Their appropriation of Catholic based celebrations calls into question the long held idea that Africans and their descendants in the diaspora either resignedly accepted Christianity or else transformed its religious rituals into syncretic objects of stealthy resistance In cities and on plantations throughout the Americas men and women of African birth or descent staged mock battles against heathens elected Christian queens and kings with great pageantry and gathered in festive rituals to express their devotion to saints Many of these traditions endure in the twenty first century The contributors to this volume draw connections between these Afro Catholic festivals observed from North America to South America and the Caribbean and their precedents in the early modern kingdom of Kongo one of the main regions of origin of men and women enslaved in the New World This transatlantic perspective offers a useful counterpoint to the Yoruba focus prevailing in studies of African diasporic religions and reveals how Kongo infused Catholicism constituted a site for the formation of black Atlantic tradition Afro Catholic Festivals in the Americas complicates the notion of Christianity as a European tool of domination and enhances our comprehension of the formation and trajectory of black religious culture on the American continent It will be of great interest to scholars of African diaspora religion Christianity and performance In addition to the editor the contributors include Kevin Dawson Jeroen Dewulf Junia Ferreira Furtado Michael Iyanaga Dianne M Stewart Miguel A Valerio and Lisa Voigt

Blackness Without Ethnicity L. Sansone, 2003-08-01 Blackness Without Ethnicity draws on fifteen years of his research in

Bahia Rio Suriname and Amsterdam Sansone uses his findings to explore the very different ways that race and ethnicity are constructed in Brazil and the rest of Latin America He compares these Latin American conceptions of race to dominate notions of race that are defined by a black white polarity and clearly identifiable ethnicities formulations he sees as highly influenced by the US and to a lesser degree Western Europe Sansone argues that understanding more complex and ambiguous notions of culture and identity will expand the international discourse on race and move it away from American dominated notions that are not adequate to describe racial difference in other countries and also in the countries where the notions originated He also explores the effects of globalization on constructions of race
