Dubiel, Janet L. Brown, 1993 Five uranium exploration cores from Lisbon Valley in the Paradox Basin of southeastern Utah provide examples of sedimentary structures and lithofacies from the Lower Permian Cutler Formation and the overlying Moss Back Member of the Upper Triassic Chinle Formation The Cutler Formation consists of reddish brown to purple arkosic sandstone siltstone and mudstone of fluvial and floodplain origin interbedded with reddish orange sandstone and mud stone deposited in sabkha eolian dune and sand sheet settings The colors are indicative of the respective depositional settings An erosional nonconformity separates the top of the Cutler from the overlying Moss Back Member of the Chinle Formation The Moss Back consists of greenish to bluish gray limestone nodule conglomerate siliciclastic sandstone and siltstone deposited in high energy fluvial channels and crevasse splays and on adjacent levees and floodplains The drab colors of the Moss Back reflect the high organic carbon content of strata deposited and preserved below the water table These five cores record eolian and fluvial sedimentary structures and lithofacies sequences not well preserved in outcrops they provide the basis for interpretation and comparison of depositional environments from lithofacies analysis in core and outcrop studies and they establish the sedimentologic background for future petrographic and geochemical research on cores and outcrops from the Lisbon Valley area Science and Psychology Richard Wilton, Trevor Harley, 2017-07-14 Science and Psychology provides a comprehensive introduction to the structure and characteristics of scientific explanation using examples from a variety of sciences to illuminate the scientific approach taken in psychology In addition the authors discuss a range of conceptual issues particular to psychology They examine the concepts of free will consciousness and purposeful behaviour and consider the social implications of possible future changes in our understanding of these concepts and of ourselves The final chapters of the book provide an account of what psychology can tell us about the history and origins of science Assuming no previous understanding of either the philosophy of science or any science other than psychology Science and Psychology is an ideal resource for both final year undergraduates and postgraduates studying psychology Psychologists and other scientists who wish to further their understanding of the relationship between psychology and the natural sciences may also find the contents to be of interest New Scientist , 1989-11 Renewable Energy Resources John Twidell, Tony Weir, 2006-01-16 The second edition of this standard text reflects the experience gained as a result of the rapid developments in renewable energy technologies and will be of use to both students and professionals In the Shadow of the Wind Anne Hebert, 1994-01-01 On a hot summer night in 1936 Olivia and Nora Atkins go for a stroll along the beach in Gasp They never return When the body of one of them is washed ashore days later the tiny community of Griffin Creek is electrified The teenagers have been murdered But by whom Francophone Women Writers Eric Touya de Marenne, 2024-03-26 This
