Romans and Barbarians Beyond the Frontiers Sergio Gonzalez Sanchez, Alexandra Gugliemi, 2017-03-31 This first thematic volume of the new series TRAC Themes in Roman Archaeology brings renowned international experts to discuss different aspects of interactions between Romans and barbarians in the northwestern regions of Europe Northern Europe has become an interesting arena of academic debate around the topics of Roman imperialism and Roman barbarian interactions as these areas comprised Roman provincial territories the northern frontier system of the Roman Empire limes the vorlimes or buffer zone and the distant barbaricum This area is today host to several modern European nations with very different historical and academic discourses on their Roman past a factor in the recent tendency towards the fragmentation of approaches and the application of postcolonial theories that have favored the advent of a varied range of theoretical alternatives Case studies presented here span across disciplines and territories from American anthropological studies on transcultural discourse and provincial organization in Gaul to historical approaches to the propagandistic use of the limes in the early 20th century German empire from Danish research on warrior identities and Roman Scandinavian relations to innovative ideas on culture contact in Roman Ireland and from new views on Romano Germanic relations in Central European Barbaricum to a British comparative exercise on frontier cultures The volume is framed by a brilliant theoretical introduction by Prof Richard Hingley and a comprehensive concluding discussion by Prof David Mattingly Beyond the Romans Irene Selsvold, Lewis Webb, 2020-04-09 This latest volume in the TRAC Themes in Theoretical Roman Archaeology series takes up posthuman theoretical perspectives to interpret Roman material culture These perspectives provide novel and compelling ways of grappling with theoretical problems in Roman archaeology producing new knowledge and questions about the complex relationships and interactions between humans and non humans in Roman culture and society Posthumanism constitutes a multitude of theoretical positions characterised by common critiques of anthropocentrism and human exceptionalism In part they react to the dominance of the linguistic turn in humanistic sciences These positions do not exclude the human but instead stress the mutual relationship between matter and discourse Moreover they consider the agency of non humans e g animals material culture landscapes climate and ideas their entanglement with humans and the situated nature of research Posthumanism has had substantial impacts in several fields including critical studies archaeology

A Critical History of Early Rome Gary Forsythe, 2005 A remarkable book in which Forsythe uses his thorough knowledge of the ancient evidence to reconstruct a coherent and eminently plausible picture which in turn illuminates early Roman society more immediately than any other category of evidence is able to do Forsythe displays his impressive ability to demonstrate to what extent and why the tradition that dominates the extant historical narratives is not credible Kurt Raaflaub author of The Discovery of Freedom in Ancient Greece An excellent synthetic treatment of early Roman history found in both modern literary and archaeological materials Richard Mitchell author of Patricians and Plebeians

Indo-European Sacred Space Roger D. Woodard, 2010-10-01 In Indo European Sacred Space Roger D Woodard provides a careful examination of the sacred spaces of ancient Rome finding them remarkably consistent with older Indo European religious practices as described in the Vedas of ancient India Employing and expanding on the fundamental methods of mile Benveniste as well as Georges Dumézil's tripartite analysis of Proto Indo European society Woodard clarifies not only the spatial dynamics of the archaic Roman cult but stemming from that an unexpected clarification of several obscure issues in the study of Roman religion Looking closely at the organization of Roman religious activity especially as regards sacrifices festivals and the hierarchy of priests Woodard sheds new light on issues including the presence of the god Terminus in Jupiter's Capitoline temple the nature of the Roman suovetaurilia the Ambarvalia and its relationship to the rites of the Fratres Arvales and the identification of the Sabine god Semo Sancus Perhaps most significantly this work also presents a novel and persuasive resolution to the long standing problem of agrarian Mars

The Idea of a Town Joseph Rykwert, 2013-07-04 Roman towns and their history are generally regarded as being the preserve of the archaeologist or the economic historian In this famous unusual and radical book which touches on such disparate themes as psychology and urban architecture Joseph Rykwert has considered them as works of art His starting point is the mythical historical and ritual texts in which their foundation is recounted rather than the excavated remains such texts having parallels not merely in ancient Greece but also further afield Mesopotamia India and China To achieve his reading of the Roman town he has invoked the comparative method of the anthropologists and he examines first of all the Etruscan rite a group of ceremonies by which all or practically all Roman towns were founded The basic institutions of the town its walls and gates its central shrines and its forum are all of them part of a pattern to which the rituals and the myths that accompanied them provide clues Like in other closed societies these rituals and myths served to create a secure home for the citizen of Rome and to make him feel part of his city and place it firmly in a knowable universe It is refreshing to look at standard themes of the history of urban design from a nonrational point of view to see surveyors as quasi priests and orthogonal planning as a sophisticated technique touched by divine mystery Rykwert's lasting worth will be to wrench us away from rationalist simplicities and to make us face the fundamental disquiet of the human spirit in its claim to a permanent place on the land

Spiro Kostoff Journal of the Society Architectural Historians Ancient Greece and Rome Keith Hopwood, 1995 Sir Thomas Fairfax not Oliver Cromwell was creator and commander of Parliament's New Model Army from 1645 to 1650 Although Fairfax emerged as England's most successful commander of the 1640s this book challenges the orthodoxy that he was purely a military figure showing how he was not apolitical or disinterested in politics The book combines narrative and thematic approaches to explore the wider issues of popular allegiance puritan religion concepts of honour image reputation memory gender literature and Fairfax's relationship with Cromwell Black Tom delivers a groundbreaking examination of the transformative experience of the English revolution from the viewpoint of one of its leading yet most neglected participants It is the first modern academic study of Fairfax making it essential reading for university students as well as historians of the seventeenth century Its accessible style will appeal to a wider audience of those interested in the civil wars and interregnum more generally Harvard Studies in Classical Philology, 1890 a_historical_lie_the_stone_age , The Latin Dialect of the Ager Faliscus Gabriël C. L. M. Bakker, 2009 Annotation Although the Ager Faliscus lay between the areas where Etruscan Latin and Sabellic languages were spoken the inscriptions from the area from before c 150 bce show that it used a speech of its own known as Faliscan Most scholars agree that Faliscan is linguistically very close to Latin but the hypothesis that it is in fact a Latin dialect has not been the subject of a major publication until now In this work the linguistic data on Faliscan provided by the inscriptions are analyzed and compared to the languages of the surrounding areas Sociolinguistic aspects such as language contact and local identity are discussed as well The main conclusion is that Faliscan can indeed be regarded as a dialect of Latin The work includes a re edition of all inscriptions in many cases based on autopsy This title can be previewed in Google Books <http://books.google.com/books/vid/ISBN9789056295622> Archaic Roman Religion Georges Dumézil, 1996 By exhaustive study of texts inscriptions and sacred places Georges Dumézil traces the formation of archaic Roman religion from Indo European sources through the development of the rites of the Roman republic He describes a system of beliefs that not only was influenced by other religions with which it came into contact but that influenced them as well The Classical Weekly ,1926
