Daryl E Chubin We live in an information age Technology abounds information tech nology communication technology learning technology As a once popular song went Something s happening here but it s just not exactly clear The world appears to be a smaller less remote place We live in it but we are not necessarily closely tied to it We lack a satisfactory understanding of it So we are left with a paradox In an information age information alone will neither inform nor improve us as citizens nor our democracy society or in stitutions No improvement will take some effort It is a heavy burden to be reflective indeed analytical and disciplined but only constructively constrained by different perspectives The science based technology that makes for the complexity contro versy and uncertainty of life sows the seeds of understanding in Science Technology and Society STS as it is known encompasses a hybrid area of scholarship now nearly three decades old As D R Sarewitz a former geologist now congressional staffer and an author put it After all the important and often controversial policy dilemmas posed by issues such as nuclear energy toxic waste disposal global climate change or biotech nology cannot be resolved by authoritative scientific knowledge instead they must involve a balancing of technical considerations with other criteria that are explicitly nonscientific ethics esthetics equity ideology Trade offs must be made in light of inevitable uncertainties Sarewitz 1996 p 182 SciencePlus Charles P. Science Plus Technology and Society (Level Red) Charles P. McFadden, Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Robert Eugene Yager, 2004-08 SciencePlus Teaching Resource Holt Rinehart & Winston, 1997-01-01 Science/Technology/Society as Reform in Science Education Robert E. Yager, 1996-01-04 Science Technology Society S T S is a reform effort to broaden science as a discipline in schools and colleges to relate science to other facets of the curriculum and to relate science specifically to technology and to the society that supports and produces new conceptualizations of both S T S is also defined as the teaching and learning of science technology in the context of human experience It focuses on a method of teaching that recognizes the importance that experience in the real world has on the learning process And it recognizes that real learning can occur only when the learner is engaged and able to construct her or his own meaning Science Technology Society as Reform in Science Education is rich with examples of such teaching and learning It includes impressive research evidence that illustrates that progress has been made and goals have been met For teachers and administrators alike this book provides and validates new visions for science education Ecology in Education Monica Hale,1995-09-28 Ecological and environmental education in schools and institutes of further and higher education has gained increasing importance in recent years both as an area of study in its own right and as a component of other disciplines There is now a requirement in many countries to include the environment in both formal and informal curricula This volume presents a long overdue account of the status progress and underlying concepts of ecological education It explores areas of recent development and debate in ecological and environmental education describes the evolution and development of environmental education in different countries and examines the importance and provision for fieldwork Case studies illustrate how ecological studies are undertaken in several culturally different settings This book will interest teachers and research workers in ecology environmental science and education GAS, Global Awareness for Students ,1994 Aligning and Balancing the Standards-Based Curriculum David A. Squires,2004-09-22 Full of field tested implementation tools this comprehensive handbook shows how schools and districts can use the Balanced Curriculum process to put their schools on the track to success
