(1758-1998) Victor Fet, Norman I. Platnick, W. David Sissom, 1997 This unique and timely publication is the first such Catalog to be produced in over 100 years The last full survey of the taxonomy of the world fauna of the Order Scorpiones was by Karl Kraepelin in 1899 Scorpiones und Pedipalpi Das Tierreich Herausgegeben von der Deutschen Zoologischen Gesellschaft Berlin Since then the sheer number of known species and subspecies has increased more than fourfold and the classification of scorpions has been greatly transformed at both the generic and familial levels This new Catalog brings together under one cover an enormous amount of difficult to locate information on scorpion nomenclature biogeography distribution and phylogeny published before and after Kraepelin's time It is of special interest because of the unique status that scorpions currently enjoy as models for the study of evolutionary biology ecology toxicology and physiology The Catalog is much more than a checklist it is an annotated organized compendium of the status of the entire field of Scorpion Taxonomy at the beginning of the New Millennium by authoritative and critical researchers working in the field The authors have coordinated and collaborated extensively to make this a fully integrated work The utility of the Catalog is enormously enhanced by the inclusion of much greater detail than other animal catalogs including type data tracing of full synonymies of all names clarification or critical discussion of known nomenclatural problems comprehensive cross index and notes on biogeography and phylogeny

African Biodiversity Bernhard A. Huber,Bradley J. Sinclair,Karl-Heinz Lampe,2007-04-29 In May 2004 the Alexander Koenig Zoological Research Museum hosted the Fifth International Symposium on Tropical Biology This series was established at the ZFMK in the early 1980s and has variably focused on systematics and ecology of tropical organisms with an emphasis on Africa Previous volumes are those edited by Schuchmann 1985 Peters and Hutterer 1990 Ulrich 1997 and Rheinwald 2000 The symposium in 2004 was organized by the Entomology Department under the direction of Michael Schmitt The intention was to focus on Africa rather than on a particular taxon and to highlight biodiversity at all levels ranging from molecules to ecosystems This focus was timely partly because of the currently running BIOTA Africa programmes BIOdiversity Monitoring Transect Analysis in Africa BIOTA is an interdisciplinary research project focusing on sustainable use and conservation of biodiversity in Africa <http://www.biotafrica.de> Session titles were Biogeography and Speciation Processes Phylogenetic Patterns and Systematics Diversity Declines and Conservation and Applied Biodiversity Informatics Each session was opened by an invited speaker and all together 77 lectures and 59 posters were presented There were over 200 participants and it was gratifying to us to meet colleagues from 26 nations including Russia Ukraine Japan USA and ten African countries We thank all participants for their valuable contributions

Arthropod Diversity and Conservation in the Tropics and Sub-tropics Akshay Kumar Chakravarthy,Shakunthala Sridhara,2016-11-23 Arthropods are invertebrates that constitute over 90% of the animal kingdom and their bio ecology is closely linked with global functioning and survival Arthropods play an important role in maintaining the health of ecosystems provide livelihoods and nutrition to human communities and are important indicators of environmental change Yet the population trends of several arthropods species show them to be in decline Arthropods constitute a dominant group with 1 2 million species influencing earth s biodiversity Among arthropods insects are predominant with ca 1 million species and having evolved some 350 million years ago Arthropods are closely associated with living and non living entities alike making the ecosystem services they provide crucially important In order to be effective plans for the conservation of arthropods and ecosystems should include a mixture of strategies like protecting key habitats and genomic studies to formulate relevant policies for in situ and ex situ conservation This two volume book focuses on capturing the essentials of arthropod inventories biology and conservation Further it seeks to identify the mechanisms by which arthropod populations can be sustained in terrestrial and aquatic ecosystems and by means of which certain problematic species be managed without producing harmful environmental side effects This edited compilation includes chapters contributed by over 80 biologists on a wide range of topics embracing the diversity distribution utility and conservation of arthropods and select groups of insect taxa More importantly it describes in detail the mechanisms of sustaining arthropod ecosystems services and populations It addresses the contribution of modern biological tools such as molecular and genetic techniques regulating gene expression as well as conventional indigenous practices in arthropod conservation The contributors reiterate the importance of documenting and understanding the biology of arthropods from a holistic perspective before addressing conservation issues at large This book offers a valuable resource for all zoologists entomologists ecologists conservation biologists policy makers teachers and students interested in the conservation of biological resources

Analysis of South Africa's Wildlife Policies and Laws Didi Wamukoya, Mira Dutschke, 2017-10-18 South Africa has a long history of regulation of wildlife conservation that dates as far back as 1656 when Jan van Riebeeck a Dutch colonial administrator and founder of Cape Town gave instructions to regulate hunting in the Cape From that time South Africa has had several wildlife and biodiversity conservation policies and laws After the fall of apartheid the new framework policies and laws on environment and wildlife conservation were enacted to further strengthen wildlife conservation in the country South Africa is also a party to various international agreements that commit the country to its conservation efforts at an international level This rapid independent assessment of the law and policy governing wildlife crimes in South Africa reviews the Constitution and the national framework laws focusing on those laws and policies that impose criminal liability for wildlife offences The assessment then turns to the provinces Provincial governments have a fairly large degree of legislative and executive jurisdiction over conservations and wildlife management issues including enforcing compliance of criminal wildlife laws The review sets out the offences and penalties that exist across the myriad of relevant environmental legislation and policy and looks at the power and mandate of the various enforcement bodies
