The Women's Land Army in First World War Britain B. White, 2014-07-16 Between 1917 and 1919 women enlisted in the Women's Land Army a national organisation with the task of increasing domestic food production Behind the scenes organisers laboured to not only recruit an army of women workers but to also dispel public fears that Britain's Land Girls would be defeminized and devalued by their wartime experiences Women and Scottish Society, 1700-2000 W.W.J. Knox, 2021-05-03 This book attempts to cover all the important aspects of a woman's life in Scotland examining how and why it changed over the last 300 years It walks us through the day to day existence of Scottish women and in doing so covers areas such as family and household education work and politics religion and sexuality crime and punishment While sensitive to the differences among women regarding colour class and sexuality the book seeks to establish a close and reciprocal relationship between women's history and gender history the first delineating the struggles of women for parity with men in economic legal and political spheres the second as means of unravelling the continuing ways in which power is unequally distributed within the home the workplace and in institutions and in contesting the male centred narratives of the past

Refugees and Cultural Transfer to Britain Stefan Manz, Panikos Panayi, 2013-10-18 This book is the first to focus specifically upon the relationship between refugees and intercultural transfer over an extensive period of time Since circa 1830 a series of groups have made their way to Britain beginning with exiles from the failed European revolutions of the mid nineteenth century and ending with refugees who have increasingly come from beyond Europe The book addresses four specific questions First what roles have individuals or groups of refugees played in cultural and political transfers to Britain since 1830 Second can we identify a novel form of cultural production which differs from that in the homeland Third to what extent has dissemination within and transformation of the receiving culture occurred Fourth to what extent do refugee groups themselves undergo a process of cultural restructuring The coverage of the individual essays ranges from high culture through politics and everyday practices The volume moves away from general perceptions of refugees as problem groups and rather focuses on the way they have shaped and indeed enriched British cultural and political life This book was previously published as a special issue of Immigrants and Minorities

The Scottish State and European Migrants, 1885-1939 Terence McBride, 2024-02-29 This book examines the efforts of the government in Scotland to manage the increase of migrants travelling to Britain at the end of the nineteenth century Focussing on the period between 1885 and 1939 the book explores how the Scottish machinery of government handled the administration of foreigners The author uses a comparative thematic approach to analyse migrant experiences identities and relationships with state institutions Drawing from state records held by the National Records of Scotland in Edinburgh the book argues that Scottish officials in semi autonomous boards began to recognise describe and enumerate the presence of the foreigner in the early twentieth century framing their handling of foreignness in accordance with the Aliens Act of 1905 The author goes on to explain that institutions operating in Scotland developed a distinctly Scottish approach to alien matters which continued up until the Second World War Therefore an increasing number of important decisions affecting migrants were taken by a distinctly Scottish machinery of government impacting on how Scottish officials understood foreignness and how those identified as foreigners understood their identity in relation to Scottishness Contributing significantly to current heated debates on migration and identity amongst researchers and the general public in Europe and beyond this book provides essential insights into the ways in which a sub state began to develop practices processes and attitudes towards migration which were not always in line with that of the central government
