Screen World 1975:

Screen World 1975 John Willis, 1975-01-01 Book Description from Amazon Annual edition of films released that year

Lee Marvin Robert J. Lentz, 2006-01-30 Lee Marvin did not receive his first starring film role until he was 40 but in three short years following the successes of Cat Ballou for which he won the Academy Award as Best Actor The Professionals and especially The Dirty Dozen he was the most popular film actor in America Marvin was a fascinating man a loving husband and father and one of the most natural effective actors of his time This is a comprehensive reference of the Oscar winning actor's work It includes biographical information on Marvin an analysis of each of his 64 movies chapters on his two television shows M Squad and Lawbreaker a listing of his television appearances and a complete filmography which includes video availability The work is supplemented with dozens of photographs and film stills American International

Pictures Rob Craig, 2019-03-05 American International Pictures was in many ways the missing link between big budget Hollywood studios poverty row B movie factories and low rent exploitation movie distributors AIP first targeted teen audiences with science fiction horror and fantasy but soon grew to encompass many genres and demographics at times it was indistinguishable from many of the major studios From Abby Cadabby to Zontar this filmography lists more than 800 feature films television series and TV specials by AIP and its partners and subsidiaries Special attention is given to American International Television the TV arm of AIP and an appendix lists the complete AITV catalog The author also discusses films produced by founders James H Nicholson and Samuel Z Arkoff after they left the company Screen World 1975 John Willis, 1975

The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1981 Uneasy Dreams Gary A. Smith, 2015-09-03 There has been a tremendous amount of renewed interest in the output of Britain's Hammer Films But there remain a great number of worthwhile British horror films made at the same time by other companies that have received little attention The author provides a comprehensive listing of British horror films including science fiction fantasy and suspense films containing horror genre elements that were released between 1956 and 1976 the Golden Age of British horror Entries are listed alphabetically by original British title from Vincent Price in The Abominable Dr Phibes 1971 to Zeta One 1969 Entries also include American title release information a critique of the film and the film's video availability The book is filled with photographs and contains interviews with four key figures Max J Rosenberg cofounder of Amicus Productions one of the period's major studios Louis M Heyward former writer film executive and producer Aida Young film and television producer and Gordon Hessler director of such films as The Oblong Box and Murders in the Rue Morgue The Moving Picture World, 1916 Focus on

Looking-Glass Wars: Spies on British Screens since 1960

Alan Burton, 2018-01-31 Looking Glass Wars Spies on British Screens since 1960 is a detailed historical and critical overview of espionage in British film and television in the important period since 1960 From that date the British spy screen was transformed under the influence of the tremendous success of James Bond in the cinema the spy thriller and of the new style spy writing of John le Carr and Len Deighton the espionage story In the 1960s there developed a popular cycle of spy thrillers in the cinema and on television The new study looks in detail at the cycle which in previous work has been largely neglected in favour of the James Bond films The study also brings new attention to espionage on British television and popular secret agent series such as Spy Trap Quiller and The Sandbaggers It also gives attention to the more realistic representation of spying in the film and television adaptations of le Carr and Deighton and other dramas with a more serious intent In addition there is wholly original attention given to nostalgic spy fictions on screen adaptations of classic stories of espionage which were popular in the late 1970s and through the 1980s and to historical spy fiction dramas which treated real cases of espionage and their characters most notably the notorious Cambridge Spies Detailed attention is also given to the secret state thriller a cycle of paranoid screen dramas in the 1980s which portrayed the intelligence services in a conspiratorial light best understood as a reaction to excessive official secrecy and anxieties about an unregulated security service The study is brought up to date with an examination of screen espionage in Britain since the end of the Cold War The approach is empirical and historical The study examines the production and reception literary and historical contexts of the films and dramas It is the first detailed overview of the British spy screen in its crucial period since the 1960s and provides fresh attention to spy films series and serials never previously considered

, 1916 The Adaptation Industry Simone Murray, 2012-03-12 Adaptation constitutes the driving force of contemporary culture with stories adapted across an array of media formats However adaptation studies has been concerned almost exclusively with textual analysis in particular with compare and contrast studies of individual novel and film pairings This has left almost completely unexamined crucial questions of how adaptations come to be made what are the industries with the greatest stake in making them and who the decision makers are in the adaptation process The Adaptation Industry reimagines adaptation not as an abstract process but as a material industry It presents the adaptation industry as a cultural economy of six interlocking institutions stakeholders and decision makers all engaged in the actual business of adapting texts authors agents publishers book prize committees scriptwriters and screen producers and distributors Through trading in intellectual property rights to cultural works these six nodal points in the adaptation network are tightly interlinked with success for one party potentially auguring for success in other spheres But marked rivalries between these institutional forces also exist with competition characterizing every aspect of the adaptation process This book constructs an overdue sociology of contemporary literary adaptation never losing sight of the material and institutional dimensions of this powerful process
