Lost In Familiar Places Creating New Connections Between The Individual And Society:

Lost in Familiar Places Edward R. Shapiro, A. Wesley Carr, 1993-07-01 We live in a world of accelerating change marked by the decline of traditional forms of family community and professional life Both within families and in work places individuals feel increasingly lost unsure of the roles required of them In this book a psychoanalyst and an Anglican priest using a combination of psychoanalysis and social systems theory offer tools that allow people to create meaningful connections with one another and with the institutions within which they work and live The authors begin by discussing how life in a family prefigures and prepares the individual to participate in groups offering detailed case studies of families in therapy as illustrations They then turn to organizations describing how their consultations with an academic conference a mental hospital a law firm and a church parish helped members of these institutions to relate to one another by becoming aware of wider contexts for their experiences All the people within a group have their own subjectively felt perceptions of the environment According to Shapiro and Carr when individuals can negotiate a shared interpretation of the experience and of the purposes for which the group exists they can further their own development and that of their organizations The authors suggest how this can be accomplished They conclude with some broad speculations about the continuing importance of institutions for connecting the individual and society

Love's Return Gail M. Boldt,Paula M. Salvio,2012-11-12 The idea that teachers love children is often taken for granted in education Rarely is the idea of love itself examined Bringing together the work of educators curriculum theorists and clinical psychoanalysts and drawing upon autobiographical and narrative case studies this groundbreaking collection examines the collision of love and learning including the ways in which such intersections are provoked repressed and denied Contributors turn to psychoanalysis to explore questions of love in all of its varying permutations ambivalence sexuality hatred desire projection and loss in order to demonstrate how the social ramifications of such work is critical to the ways teachers are currently being prepared for life in the classroom From Belief to Knowledge Neil Douglas, Terry Wykowski, 2010-10-18 Belief is not knowledge but we tend to hold our beliefs as if they represent knowledge selecting whatever evidence is required to justify them And because humans tend to cling to their beliefs as truths organizations often ignore the need for change no matter how urgent that need From Belief to Knowledge Achieving and Sustaining an Adaptive Culture in Organizations offers potential change agents an integrative analysis and treatment of the problem of organizational learning It demonstrates the importance of looking beneath beliefs and assumptions to find the roots and persistent influences that preserve them It gives us a much broader definition of organizational knowledge than that associated with information technology and the currently popular idea of knowledge as an asset Furthermore it provides an alternative view of culture and change one that is defined by the ability to continually align collective beliefs with reality Douglas and Wykowski answer the question that lingers in the minds of many managers What does organizational learning mean and how does it influence ongoing organizational success Lee Newick Shell Downstream Rather than offer simple recipes this book shows how good leaders can evolve and sustain an adaptive culture that develops knowledge through purposeful human interaction It explores key dynamics of learning considers the diversity of beliefs present in any group and demonstrates ways that those leaders can explore and encourage the potential of both the group and individuals within the group Although this book is geared to organizational change it has the potential to change all areas of human endeavor David Julian Hodges City University of New York The Basecamp Manifesto Terence C. Young, 2024-10-23 It is often said that it is lonely at the top But this loneliness can be dangerous not only to the leader but also to the led It turns out we hold our environments as we are held If we are not held in a caring and daring fashion it shows up in how we live and lead The Basecamp Manifesto is a formative work on developing and sustaining leadership skills Here Terence Young outlines the development of a changed narrative around leading organizations Rather than the often stereotyped perception of leadership as a solitary ascent to the top followed often by an equally solitary descent down the leadership peak Young has created a framework for leadership that relies on developing a basecamp of companions Like the familiar basecamps of extraordinary physical ascents of Mount Everest and other spectacular and spectacularly challenging peaks a leader's basecamp is a secure base of trusted and trusting peers that shape and nurture you during the ascent to leadership Young presents the gifts that current and future leaders should find in a secure base greater clarity in the sense making process enhancement of agility in navigating dynamic situations building endurance to face challenges and fostering generativity for greater productivity and innovation in one's life quest The Basecamp Manifesto is written for leaders of all organizations whether for profit or nonprofit Whether a business leader an educational leader a political leader a religious leader or other society facing leader all leaders face particular and specific challenges in leadership How do I lead and navigate with those in my circle through a world of increasing volatility uncertainty complexity and ambiguity For the sake of those you lead Young's groundbreaking work says to leaders find your people find your secure base find and shape and nurture the circle of trust that can make you a quality leader The Basecamp Manifesto can help you to become intentional about shaping relationships where clarity agility durability and generativity can be found and fostered

Unmasking Administrative Evil Danny L. Balfour, Guy B. Adams, Ashley E. Nickels, 2019-08-08 The relationship between evil and public affairs as well as other fields and professions in public life has come to the fore as institutions of government seek new ways to operate in an environment of extreme mistrust Unmasking Administrative Evil 5th Edition argues that the tendency toward administrative evil as manifested in acts of dehumanization and genocide is deeply woven into the identity of public affairs Indeed ordinary people may simply act appropriately in their organizational role in essence just doing what those around them would agree they should be doing and at the same time participate in what a critical and reasonable observer usually well after the fact would call evil Even worse under conditions of moral inversion ordinary people can all too easily engage in acts of administrative evil while believing that what they are doing is not only correct but in fact good This 5th edition offers important updates including A thorough discussion of contemporary virtue ethics as the field has evolved to offer an alternative to technical rational ethics An all new three part structure What is Administrative Evil History and Cases and The Future of Ethics in Praetorian Times designed to aid in course organization and instruction All new cases including an examination of the Flint water disaster to provide contemporary examples of how populations can be marginalized and harmed by administrative processes that are blind to their consequences until it is too late Laying the groundwork for a more ethical and democratic public life one that recognizes its potential for evil and avoids state sponsored dehumanization and destruction Unmasking Administrative Evil 5th Edition is required reading for all students of administrative ethics and public service ethics as well those in other administrative sciences

Taking the Transference, Reaching Toward Dreams M. Gerard Fromm, 2018-03-08 This book reports on clinical work in and at the boundaries of the intermediate space between patient and therapist perhaps the space between reaching toward dreams and taking the transference Though the clinical work to be described here was influenced quite deeply by the writing of Winnicott primarily and then of Lacan it is meant to stand for itself as the record of and a set of stories about one therapist's experiences and learning The chapters that follow take up a range of clinical conditions hopelessness self destructiveness psychosis clinical phenomena regression impasse trauma technical issues interpretation transference free association and related topics dreams creativity the analytic setting Most of this work took place at the Austen Riggs Center a small psychiatric hospital in Stockbridge Massachusetts in which quite troubled patients are offered intensive psychoanalytic psychotherapy in a completely open and voluntary therapeutic community setting

Finding a Place to Stand Edward R Shapiro, 2020-04-29 What stands between us and authoritarianism seems increasingly fragile Democratic practices are under attack by foreign intrusion into elections voter suppression restricts citizen participation

Nations are turning to autocratic leaders in the face of rapid social change Democratic values and open society can only be preserved if citizens can discover and claim their voices We access society through our organisations yet the collective voices and irrationalities of these organisations do not currently offer clear pathways for individuals to locate themselves How can we move through the mounting chaos of our social systems through our multiple roles in groups and institutions to find a voice that matters What kind of perspective will allow institutional leaders to facilitate the discovery of active citizenship and support engagement This book draws on psychodynamic systems thinking to offer a new understanding of the journey from being an individual to joining society as a citizen With detailed stories the steps and the conscious and unconscious linkages from being a family member to entering outside groups to taking up and making sense of institutional roles illuminate the process of claiming the citizen role With the help of leaders who recognise and utilise the dynamics of social systems there may be hope for us as citizens to use our institutional experiences to discover a place to stand Psychodynamic

Psychopharmacology David Mintz, M.D., 2022-02-10 The troubling increase in treatment resistance in psychiatry has many culprits the rise of biomedical psychiatry and corresponding sidelining of psychodynamic and psychosocial factors the increased emphasis on treating the symptoms rather than the person and a greater focus on the electronic medical record rather than the patient all of which point to a breakdown in the person centered prescriber patient relationship Psychodynamic Psychopharmacology illuminates a new path forward It examines the psychological and interpersonal mechanisms of pharmacological treatment resistance integrating research on evidence based prescribing processes with psychodynamic insights and skills to enhance treatment outcomes for patients who are difficult to treat The first part of the book explores the evidence base that guides how rather than simply what to prescribe It describes precisely what psychodynamic psychopharmacology is and why its emphasis on combining the often neglected psychosocial aspects of medication with biomedical considerations provides a more optimized approach to addressing treatment resistance Part II delves into the psychodynamics that contribute to pharmacological treatment resistance both when patients ambivalence about their illness the medication itself or their prescriber manifests in nonadherence and when medications support a negative identity or are used as replacements for healthy capacities Readers will gain basic skills for addressing the psychological and interpersonal dynamics that underpin both scenarios and will be better positioned to ameliorate interferences with the healthy use of medications The final section of the book offers detailed technical recommendations for addressing pharmacological treatment resistance It tackles issues that include countertransference driven irrational prescribing primitive dynamics such as splitting and projective identification and the overlap between psychopharmacological treatment resistance and the dynamics of treatment nonadherence and nonresponse in integrated and collaborative medical care settings By putting the individual patient back at the center of the therapeutic equation psychodynamic psychopharmacology as outlined in this book offers a model that moves beyond compliance and emphasizes instead the alliance between patient and prescriber In doing so it empowers patients to become more active contributors in their own recovery

Learning from Action R D Hinshelwood, Luca Mingarelli, 2022-07-28 Since the early 1990s Enrico Pedriali with R D Hinshelwood organised workshops in Italy known as the learning from action workshops This novel approach evolved from applying the principles of therapeutic communities to a group relations form of experiential conference The group relation tradition however does not focus particularly on mental health organisations and tends to focus on senior management issues of leadership and authority In contrast the learning from action workshops are tailored to the care workers engaged in the direct work in particular for those working with clients and patients with significant problems with verbal and symbolic communication The workshops also include an element of research into the unconscious messaging systems employed in making relations which contribute to therapeutic and other mental health care services There are also chapters on a related form of workshop the living and learning experience which was established primarily for learning about therapeutic communities which bring further insight to working practices The book brings together a community of 21 authors Giada Boletti Louisa Diana Brunner Davide Catullo Heather Churchill John Diamond Donna M Elmendorf Giovanni Foresti Rex Haigh R D Hinshelwood Yuko Kawai Eriko Koga Jan Lees Simona Masnata Luca Mingarelli Gilad Ovadia Mario Perini Barbara Rawlings Antonio Sama Edward R Shapiro Lili Valko and Zsolt Zalka It will be a must read for those working in mental health care The information within will be of use to those new to the profession for whom there is often very little preparation or reading material and also to more senior members to use not only for their own development but also in training and research activities in mental health
