Middeke,Christina Wald,2011-11-18 This collection analyzes philosophical psycho analytic and aesthetic contexts of the discourse of melancholia in British and postcolonial literature and culture and seeks to trace the multi faceted phenomenon of melancholia from the early modern period to the present Texts discussed range from Shakespeare and Milton to Coetzee and Barker Our Catholic Heritage in English Literature Emily Hickey,2020-07-17 Reproduction of the original Our Catholic Heritage in English Literature by Emily Hickey Our Catholic Heritage in English Literature of Pre-Conquest Days Emily Henrietta Hickey,2022-09-16 In Our Catholic Heritage in English Literature of Pre Conquest Days Emily Henrietta Hickey delves into the rich tapestry of early English literature examining the profound influence of Catholicism on its narratives and themes This meticulously researched work framed within a scholarly yet accessible literary style offers a thorough analysis of texts that predate the Norman Conquest exploring how religious beliefs shaped the identity and expression of early English writers Hickey s exploration uncovers the symbiotic relationship between faith and literature revealing how theological motifs are interwoven into the epic tales and lyrical verses of the time Emily Henrietta Hickey was a notable figure in the late 19th and early 20th centuries recognized for her deep commitment to Catholic education and literature Her extensive background in theology coupled with her passion for English literature uniquely positioned her to investigate the interconnections between faith and the literary canon Hickey's scholarship reflects not only her intellectual rigor but also her dedication to restoring the often overlooked contributions of Catholic writers in shaping the English literary heritage This book is essential for readers interested in the intersection of literature and religion as well as those seeking to understand the historical foundations of English literary tradition Hickey's insightful analysis and comprehensive survey make this work an invaluable resource for scholars theologians and literature enthusiasts alike

Decolonizing Literature Anna Bernard, 2023-08-15 Recent efforts to diversify and decentre the literary canon taught at universities have been moderately successful Yet this expansion of our reading lists is only the start of a broader decolonization of literary studies as a discipline there is much left to be done How can students and educators best participate in this urgent intellectual and political project Anna Bernard argues that the decolonization of literary studies requires a change to not only what but how we read In lively prose she explores work that has already been done both within and beyond the academy and challenges readers to think about where we go from here She suggests ways to recognize and respond to the political work that texts do considering questions of language and translation comparative reading ideological argument and genre in relation to the history of anticolonial struggle Above all Bernard shows that although we still have far to go the work of decolonizing literary studies is already under way Decolonizing Literature is a must have resource for all those concerned by the development and future of the field
