Nationalism And New States In Africa From About 1935 To The Present:

Nationalism and New States in Africa from about 1935 to the Present Ali Al'Amin Mazrui, Michael Tidy, 1984

Nationalism and New States in Africa, 1984      Nationalism and the State John Breuilly, 1994-02 Since its publication this important study has become established as a central work on the vast and contested subject of modern nationalism Placing historical evidence within a general theoretical framework John Breuilly argues that nationalism should be understood as a form of politics that arises in opposition to the modern state In this updated and revised edition he extends his analysis to the most recent developments in central Europe and the former Soviet Union He also addresses the current debates over the meaning of nationalism and their implications for his position Breuilly challenges the conventional view that nationalism emerges from a sense of cultural identity Rather he shows how elites social groups and foreign governments use nationalist appeals to mobilize popular support against the state Nationalism then is a means of creating a sense of identity This provocative argument is supported with a wide ranging analysis of pertinent examples national opposition in early modern Europe the unification movement in Germany Italy and Poland separatism under the Hapsburg and Ottoman empires fascism in Germany Italy and Romania post war anti colonialism and the nationalist resurgence following the breakdown of Soviet power Still the most comprehensive and systematic historical comparison of nationalist politics Nationalism and the State is an indispensable book for anyone seeking to understand modern politics

Nationalism John Hutchinson, Anthony D. Smith, 2000 A comprehensive collection of articles on the subject of nationalism It covers concepts and definitions forms of nationalism worldwide and nationalism and culture and feminism and politics      African Theology Emmanuel Martey, 2009-11-01 Two major strands of theology have developed in Africa inculturation and liberation each in response to different needs Emmanuel Martey's African Theology provides a clear scholarly examination of these two basic approaches solidly based on Martey's understanding of contemporary theology and his firsthand knowledge of Africa Martey first examines the historical background of each of these theological developments especially relating to cultural and political movements enveloping the continent in the 1970s In sub Saharan Africa struggles for independence from colonizers have resulted in inculturation theology The defining aspect of this theology is that it pushes its roots firmly in African culture and traditions In South Africa on the other hand Black Africans struggling against the oppressive systems of apartheid have turned to liberation theology Martey shows how the real hope for African theology lies in the dialectical encounter between these two approaches and in their potential for convergence The two foci of liberation and inculturation Martey says are not contradictory but complement each other African Theology concludes by challenging African theologians to weld together the praxis of inculturation with that of liberation in order to achieve an integrative vision for the continent      Fighting for the Enemy Brandon Palmer, 2013-07-15 Fighting for the Enemy explores the participation of Koreans in the Japanese military and supporting industries before and during World War II first through voluntary enlistment and eventually through conscription Contrary to popular belief among Korean nationalists this involvement was not entirely coerced Brandon Palmer examines this ambiguous situation in the context of Japan's long term colonial effort to assimilate Koreans into Japanese sociopolitical life and documents the many ways Koreans short of openly resisting avoided full cooperation with Japanese war efforts Much media attention has been given to Japan's exploitation of comfort women in Korea and elsewhere in East Asia during the colonial period but until now there has been no extended objective analysis of the exploitation of the thousands of young Korean men who served in Japan's military and auxiliary occupations

Colonial Ambivalence, Cultural Authenticity, and the Limitations of Mimicry in French-ruled West Africa, 1914-1956 James Eskridge Genova, 2004 Colonial Ambivalence Cultural Authenticity and the Limitations of Mimicry in French Ruled West Africa 1914 1956 offers an innovative and provocative reassessment of the history and legacies of French colonial rule in West Africa between the First World War and the late 1950s Making critical use of postcolonial and cultural theory James E Genova argues that the colonizers and the colonized were locked in a struggle for authority increasingly structured by competing notions of what it meant to be French or African This book breaks new ground by demonstrating the centrality of the cultural question in the imperial encounters between France and West Africa It maps the emergence of the French educated elite as a social class in French West Africa as a window into the complex relationship between agency and structural context in the making of history A disjunction developed between decolonization and liberation in the colonial liaison of France and West Africa that left colonizers and colonized trapped in a neocolonial cultural framework actualizing Frantz Fanon's deepest fears about the postcolony

Creole Language, Democracy, and the Illegible State in Cabo Verde Abel Djassi Amado, 2023-07-10 Creole Language Democracy and the Illegible State in Cabo Verde uses Cabo Verde as a case study to critically examine the language and politics nexus in a small Creole island state. The current sociolinguistic condition of the country is that of diglossia whereby Portuguese assumes the language of power, prestige and high culture at the expense of the mother tongue of its citizens, the Cabo Verdean language locally known as Kriolu. The postcolonial diglossic language policy stands on both domestic and international factors. Thus Abel Djassi Amado explores the country's language policy history since colonial times and discusses how Portugal's diplomacy grounded on language spread policy has significantly contributed to the secondarization of the mother tongue. The ultimate consequence of the current sociolinguistic situation is the development and crystallization of the illegible state as a large segment of the population cannot comprehend the processes, operations and procedures of power carried out in a language they do not understand. The illegible state has grave consequences on political participation and the overall quality of democracy.

The African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights Volume 1 Nat Rubner, 2023. Landmark study of the African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights that positions it within the African Lives Matter struggle to assert an African identity rather than as simply a human rights document.

Diplomacy and Borderlands Katharina Coleman, Markus Kornprobst, Annette Seegers, 2019-10-28. This book examines Africa's internal and external relations by focusing on three core concepts: orders, diplomacy and borderlands. The contributors examine traditional and non-traditional diplomatic actors and domestic, regional, continental and global orders. They argue that African diplomats profoundly shape these orders by situating themselves within in-between spaces of geographical and functional orders. It is in these borderlands that agency, despite all kinds of constraints, flourishes. Chapters in the book compare domestic orders to regional ones and then continental African orders to global ones. They deal with a range of functional orders including development, international trade, human rights, migration, nuclear arms control, peacekeeping, public administration and territorial change. By focusing on these topics, the volume contributes to a better understanding of African international relations, sharpens analyses of ordering processes in world politics and adds to our comprehension of how diplomacy shapes orders and vice versa. The studies collected here show a much more nuanced picture of African agency in African and international affairs and suggest that African diplomacy is far more extensive than is often assumed. This book will be of much interest to students of diplomacy studies, African politics and International Relations.

The Ties that Divide Stephen M. Saideman, 2001 Ethnic conflicts have created crises within NATO and between NATO and Russia produced massive flows of refugees destabilized neighboring countries and increased the risk of nuclear war between Pakistan and India Interventions have cost the United States the United Nations and other actors billions of dollars While scholars and policymakers have devoted considerable attention to this issue the question of why states take sides in other countries ethnic conflicts has largely been ignored Most attention has been directed at debating the value of particular techniques to manage ethnic conflict including partition prevention mediation intervention and the like However as the Kosovo dispute demonstrated one of the biggest obstacles to resolving ethnic conflicts is getting the outside actors to cooperate This book addresses this question Saideman argues that domestic political competition compels countries to support the side of an ethnic conflict with which constituents share ethnicities He applies this argument to the Congo Crisis the Nigerian Civil War and Yugoslavia's civil wars He then applies quantitative analyses to ethnic conflicts in the 1990s

Finally he discusses recent events in Kosovo and whether the findings of these case studies apply more broadly The Routledge Companion to Journalism in the Global South Bruce Mutsaers, Saba Bebaoui, Eddy Borges-Rey, 2023-11-21

Responding to mounting calls to decenter and decolonize journalism The Routledge Companion to Journalism in the Global South examines not only the deep seated challenges associated with the historical imposition of Western journalism standards on constituencies of the Global South but also the opportunities presented to journalists and journalism educators if they choose to partake in international collaboration and education This collection returns to fundamental questions around the meaning value and practices of journalism from alternative methodological theoretical and epistemological perspectives These questions include What really is journalism Who gets to and who is qualified to define it What role do ethics play What are the current trends challenges and opportunities for journalism in the Global South How is news covered reported written and edited in non Western settings What can journalism players living and working in industrialized markets learn from their non Western colleagues and counterparts and vice versa Contributors challenge accepted universal ethical standards while showing the relevance of customs traditions and cultures in defining and shaping local and regional journalism Showcasing some of the most important research on journalism in the Global South and by journalists based in the Global South this companion is key reading for anyone researching the principles and practices of journalism from a de-essentialized perspective The Spirit of the Laws in Mozambique Juan Obarrio, 2014-10-30 Mozambique has been hailed as a success story by the international community which has watched it evolve through a series of violent political upheavals from colonialism through socialism to its current democracy As Juan Obarrio shows however this view neglects a crucial element in Mozambique's transition to the rule of law the reestablishment of traditional chieftainship and customs entangled within a history of colonial violence and civil war Drawing on extensive historical records and ethnographic fieldwork he examines the role of customary law in Mozambique to ask a larger question what is the place of law in the neoliberal era in which the juridical and the economic are deeply intertwined in an ongoing state of structural adjustment Having made the transition from a people's republic to democratic rule in the 1990s Mozambique offers a fascinating case of postwar reconstruction economic opening and transitional justice one in which the customary has played a central role Obarrio shows how its sovereignty has met countless ambiguities within the entanglements of local community nation state and international structures The postcolonial nation state emerges as a maze of entangled jurisdictions Ultimately he looks toward local rituals and relations as producing an emergent kind of citizenship in Africa which he dubs customary citizenship forming not a vestige of the past but a yet ill defined political future
