Nationalisms Today Tomasz Kamusella, Krzysztof Jaskułowski, 2009 After the end of communism and the breakups of the studiously anational polities of the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia into successor nation states nationalism and ethnicity returned to the fore of international politics Earlier these forces had been relegated to the back burner of history when the Cold War struggle unfolded But even then the process of decolonization had been none other but the gradual globalization of the nation and nation state as the most legitimate forms of modern day peoplehood and statehood At present nationalism is the sole uncontested global ideology of statehood legitimization The ethnic variety of this ideology also forms the basis upon which stateless groups reinvent themselves as nations in order to be able to lay claim to territorial autonomy or separate statehood This volume inaugurates a new Peter Lang book series Nationalisms across the Globe devoted to these burning issues which shall influence the near future of the world From a geographical perspective this collection focuses mainly on Central and Eastern Europe and also Southern Africa Significantly it also proposes novel theoretical approaches to the phenomena of nationalism and ethnicity

Transnational Identities Richard K. Herrmann, Thomas Risse, Marilynn B. Brewer, 2004-05-17 This original work explores the increasingly important phenomenon of the formation of transnational identity Considering the ongoing relevance of the European Union the contributors ask a series of intriguing questions Is a European identity possible How are the various types of European identity formed and maintained How are these identities linked to the process of European integration Examining the psychological institutional and political mechanisms that encourage or impede identification with transnational groups the book considers these theoretical questions in light of new evidence drawn from a rich body of primary research including field experiments in depth interviews with elites and public opinion surveys Brought together for the first time social psychologists sociologists political scientists and ethnographers share their theoretical and methodological perspectives in tackling the common issues surrounding the emergence of European as a political identity Paying special attention to the role of the institutions of the EU the authors investigate the impact of neo functionalist strategies and find that the processes of identity formation are far more complicated than can be explained by material and institutional factors alone The authors engage in a fruitful dialogue about how much a European identity exists and how much it matters as they delve into the sources of disagreement and their implications
